It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

BANKRUPTCY ACT, 1869.

GENERAL REPORT

BY THE

COMPTROLLER IN BANKRUPTCY,

For the Year ending 31st December 1873.

82, Basinghall-street, London,

24 March 1874.

My Lord,

I HAVE the honour to submit my Fourth Annual Report, in pursuance of Section 115 of "The Bankruptcy Act, 1869."

The results of the year 1873 are so generally similar to those of the preceding year, that I venture to repeat some of the observations made in my last Report.

The total number of estates administered under the several provisions of the Act continues to increase, the increase being, as in former years, in the number of liquidations by arrangement and of compositions, on debtors' petitions, under Sections 125 and 126, as shown in the following Table :—

YEARS.	Bankruptcies.	Liquidations by Arrangement.	Compositions.	TOTAL.	Total Liabilities.
1870 - - -	1,351	2,035	1,616	5,002	17,456,429
1871 - - -	1,238	2,872	2,170	6,260	14,158,859
1872 - - -	933	3,684	2,203	6,835	14,287,418
1873 - - -	915	4,152	2,422	7,489	19,184,812
TOTAL - - -	4,437	12,753	8,416	25,606	65,087,518

The comparatively large amount of liabilities in 1870 is accounted for by several heavy bankruptcies that year, in four of which the aggregate liabilities were 3,326,834 £.

The decrease in bankruptcies appears to be accounted for to some extent by the preference of debtors for arrangements or compositions.

In the year 1870, 511 bankrupts were adjudicated on their own "declarations of inability" to pay their debts, as against 148 in 1873.

Of 4,437 bankruptcies adjudicated as above, 2,819 were pending on 1st January 1874, of which,—

634	were adjudications of the year -	-	-	-	1870
687	"	"	-	-	1871
653	"	"	-	-	1872
845	"	"	-	-	1873

Of 1,618 bankruptcies disposed of in the four years, 509 were annulled, and 1,109 declared closed.

In the majority of cases annulled, creditors accepted a composition or scheme of arrangement under Section 28.

In such cases the costs incurred under the bankruptcy cannot be stated, the bankrupts being usually satisfied to pay them without taxation.

Dividends were paid in 612 of the cases closed. In 347, chiefly very small estates, the whole assets were absorbed by costs, and in 150 no assets were realised.

Since the commencement of the Act 203 bankrupts have applied for orders of discharge, which have been granted to 200.

To 23 of these, their estates having paid 10s. in the pound.

To

To 177, on special resolution of creditors, that the bankruptcy or non-payment of 10s. in the pound arose from circumstances for which the bankrupt could not justly be held responsible.

Five hundred Trustees were summoned before the Courts last year, at my instance, for neglect of duty, chiefly in regard to audit of accounts.

About 200 of these, complying before the hearing of the summons, no orders were made against them.

The majority of the remaining 300 were ordered to furnish the required accounts, and to pay the costs occasioned by their default.

Except in 45 cases, the orders of the Courts have been complied with.

Since the commencement of the Act, 10 Trustees have been removed from their office, 16 have become bankrupt, 10 have been ordered to be committed for contempt of Court, and 41 are not to be found.

Several Trustees have been charged 20 per cent. interest, under section 30, for retaining in their hands moneys belonging to the estates.

The aggregate costs of realising and distributing the bankrupt estates that were closed in the year 1873 amounted to 30·33 per cent. of aggregate assets realised, as against 30·75 per cent. in the preceding year.

Such comparison of aggregates, though usually adopted, is of little value as a test of the merits of administration, which can only be arrived at, even approximately, by careful comparison of the results of estates of equal magnitudes administered under fairly average circumstances.

In the present case the nearly equal per-centage of costs in the two years indicates little more than that the proportion of large to small estates closed in each year was nearly equal.

As a rule, estates with larger assets should be administered at a lower rate of cost than smaller estates.

Costs amounting to 10 per cent. on estates of 10,000 l. assets would, generally speaking, indicate worse management than 50 per cent. on estates of 100 l. assets.

In the latter class the 5 l. stamp duty on the petition, a moderate solicitor's bill to choice of Trustee, and reasonable remuneration for the collection and distribution of assets, would necessarily amount to a considerable per-centage.

An analysis of the 522 estates closed in 1873 (Table 7, Appendix) shows that in 85 estates no assets were realised; that the rate of 30 per cent. costs, as above stated on the remaining 437, is arrived at by combining the results of seven large estates, whose assets, from 4,000 l. to 20,000 l., were realised at about 8 per cent. cost, with the results of 430 smaller estates administered at an aggregate cost of 40 per cent.; that of these 430 estates, the costs on 135 were 100 per cent., on 146 more between 50 per cent. and 100 per cent., averaging about 71 per cent., and on the remaining 149 between 5 per cent. and 50 per cent., averaging about 39 per cent.; and that the general average cost of the whole 437 estates, if so calculated, viz., by the number of estates at several rates of cost, would be over 68 per cent., instead of 30 per cent., as deduced from a comparison of aggregate costs and assets.

This high rate of cost, resulting from the large number of estates, the assets of which were wholly or nearly absorbed, indicates a very large proportion of small estates.

In 178, or 40 per cent. of the 437 estates, the assets realised did not in any case exceed 100 l., averaging little more than 50 l.; but dividends paid in rather more than one-fourth of these small cases, prove that, as in all classes of estates, the heavy rate of costs, imposed on the majority, is not a necessity of administration, but the result either of special difficulties or, as is probably the more frequent cause, of expenses improperly incurred.

The inferiority of the class of estates wound up in bankruptcy, arises, no doubt, from the facilities offered to debtors who may prefer liquidation by arrangement or composition with creditors, under sections 125 and 126 of "The Bankruptcy Act, 1869."

The results of administration under liquidation by arrangement cannot be stated, no returns being required of Trustees.

So far as regards the realisation and distribution of assets, the procedure under liquidation by arrangement is precisely the same as under bankruptcy, except that in bankruptcy, copies of the accounts of Trustees are periodically transmitted transmitted to the Comptroller, in order to secure (inter alia) that the bills of costs of professional agents are not paid without taxation, and that the resolutions of creditors are carried out, especially as to the disposal of moneys received by the Trustee, and the amount charged by him for remuneration.

From the resolutions registered it appears that the system of proxies prevails in liquidation as in bankruptcy.

One professional agent (sometimes the debtor's attorney or accountant) frequently represents the whole or the majority of creditors nominally voting at meetings, and so, the other agents and the committee of inspection being his nominees, has, practically, uncontrolled disposal of the estate.

There can be no objection to such an arrangement when the creditors are represented by a person who conscientiously studies their interests.

But it cannot be doubted that in many of the 21,169 resolutions already registered under the liquidation clauses, the creditors were not so represented, and it is needless to suggest what would result in such cases, from the secrecy of liquidation proceedings.

The advantages that an unscrupulous debtor may derive from initiating proceedings, are obviously the same in liquidation as in composition.

In my last Report I called attention to the continued and regular decrease of rate in the compositions allowed by debtors to their creditors, in each year since the commencement of the Act.

In 1871, there was a great falling off from the preceding year in the proportionate number of compositions at all rates above 5 s. in the pound.

In 1872, a further decrease in those classes, and extending to all rates above 2 s. 6 d. in the pound.

In 1873 (excepting a trifling increase on the preceding year in the two highest classes), the decrease extended to all rates but the lowest: viz., not exceeding 1 s. in the pound, as follows (calculating, for convenience of comparison, per 2,000 compositions in each year):—

Number of Compositions.	1870.	1871.	1872.	1873.
Not exceeding 1 s. - - - - -	94	172	202	352
Exceeding 1 s., and not exceeding 2 s. 6 d. -	255	428	490	484
" 2 s. 6 d. " 5 s. -	606	647	536	580
" 5 s. " 7 s. 6 d. -	345	298	292	263
" 7 s. 6 d. " 10 s. -	482	288	242	205
" 10 s. " 15 s. -	144	107	83	77

At no fixed rate - - - - -	3	—	—	1
	2,000	2,000	2,000	2,000

The result of this continued decrease in rate, and increase in number, may be shown by comparing the numbers of compositions at rates exceeding, and not exceeding, 7 s. 6 d. in the pound, actually registered in the years 1870 and 1873.

Number of Compositions Registered.	1870.	1873.
Exceeding 7 s. 6 d. in the pound - - - - -	565	413
Not exceeding " " - - - - -	1,051	2,009
Total Compositions - - -	1,616	2,422

I append Tables showing the business done during the year ending 31st December 1873.

To the Right Hon.
The Lord High Chancellor.

I have, &c.

S. Parkinson.

I hereby certify that the boxes, deeds, &c., enumerated in this and the foregoing sheets, Nos. 1 to 5, were in the custody of the Bank of England on account of the Paymaster General for the time being, on behalf of the Court of Chancery, on the 31st August 1873.

19 February 1874.

F. May,
For the Governor and Company of the Bank of England.

REPORT of the COMPTROLLER and AUDITOR GENERAL upon the ACCOUNTS of the Transactions of the PAYMASTER GENERAL on behalf of the COURT OF CHANCERY, and upon the BALANCE SHEET of RECEIPTS and EXPENDITURE prepared by the Paymaster General, for the Period from 7th January to 31st August 1873, pursuant to the Act 35 & 36 Vict. c. 44, s. 20.

I. THIS is the first Account prepared in pursuance of the Court of Chancery Funds Act.

It embraces the period commencing on the day when the Act came into operation, and terminating on the last day of August 1873, it having been found more convenient to close the Account on that day than on the last day of September, which has been heretofore the closing day of the Chancery year. Period of Account.

II. The following Account and Statements have been transmitted to me for my Report:—

1. "An Account of the Receipts and Expenditure of the Paymaster General on behalf of the Court of Chancery during the period from 7th January to 31st August 1873 (exclusive of securities expressed in foreign currencies)."

2. "A general Statement of the securities and money in the Court of Chancery at the end of the month of August 1873."

3. "A Statement of the boxes and other miscellaneous effects appearing by the books at the Chancery Pay Office to be remaining in the Bank of England at the end of the month of August 1873 to the Account of the Paymaster General for the time being on behalf of the Court of Chancery."

III. Before submitting, for the information of Parliament, such observations upon these Statements as may appear to me to be desirable, it may be convenient to state that the audit which has been hitherto carried on under the superintendence of this department has been confined, since the abandonment of the system of check before payment, to an examination (with reference to the Accounts of the Suitors) of the several certificates and drafts of the Assistant Paymaster General after they have been acted upon, and to the daily entry of all the transactions in the duplicate books (formerly kept at the Bank of England) pari passu with the entry of the same transactions in the books of the Paymaster General. Present Audit.

IV. It is manifest that this limited system of audit does not fulfil the objects contemplated by the Lords of the Treasury, as shown by their Secretary's letter of 16th December 1871, viz., the establishment of "a complete check on Chancery expenditure," for that would involve the examination not only of the documents prepared in the office of the Assistant Paymaster General, but also of the orders of the Court, and of all the subsidiary authorising documents, with the view of ascertaining that the intentions of the Court had been duly and faithfully carried out. Proposed Audit. Parliamentary Paper, No. 111, 1872.

V. In my Report to the Lords of the Treasury of 17th February 1872, written before the passing of the Chancery Funds Act, I dwelt upon the importance of giving effect to the plan suggested by one of the members of the Royal Commission of 1861, to be found at page 52 of their Report of 1864, for simplifying the orders of the Court; and this question, as well as others connected with the working of the Act, was referred by the Treasury to a Committee presided over by the Right Honourable Hugh C. E. Childers. The Report of that Committee was sent to me in a letter from the Treasury, dated 11th November 1873; and the correspondence which has passed between the Treasury and this department upon the subject will be found in the Appendix. Reference to Correspondence. Parliamentary Paper, No. 111, 1872.

VI. As regards the Account and Statements now under consideration, I have to state as follows: Nos. 1 to 5.
Account and Statements.

ACCOUNT of RECEIPTS and EXPENDITURE.

VII. It will be observed that this Account includes securities as well as cash, and it is necessary to explain that the sterling amount represented under the former head, is not the cash value of the securities, but the amount of stock which has been brought into Court or purchased, on the one side, and of stock which has been transferred out of Court, or sold, on the other. Cash and securities.

It appears to me that this mode of exhibiting the transactions, though the amounts are correct according to the above interpretation, has a tendency to mislead; and that the addition of the cash and stock into one total is erroneous in principle. I would suggest that, in future Accounts, the cash received and paid, and the stock brought on and taken off, should be exhibited in separate columns.

VIII. For every purchase and sale of securities, there is one entry on the Stock Account and another on the Cash Account, thus swelling the amount both of cash and stock, though on opposite sides. Purchases and sales.

IX. Under Section 16 of the Act, and Chancery Fund Rules, Nos. 28, 52 and 53, however, whenever a specific amount of Government securities in Court, consisting of not less than 1,000 l., is required to be realised, the order, instead of directing the sale of such securities, now directs them to be "converted into cash," so far as the Suit is concerned, that is to say the Account is debited with the amount of stock transferred to the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt, and credited with an equivalent amount of cash. These transactions also are necessarily included on both sides of the Paymaster General's Account No. 1, viz. : on the Dr. side as so much cash added to the Suitor's credit, and on the Cr. side as so much stock transferred to the National Debt Commissioners.

Money placed on deposit.

X. There is also included, in the amount of cash brought into court, the interest on money placed upon deposit under the 14th Section of the Act. This interest is carried, under Rule No. 51, to the credit of the Account kept by the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt, of moneys placed in their hands by the Paymaster General on behalf of the Court of Chancery.

Rule 51.

The amount of money on deposit on the 31st August last was 595,586 l. 16 s., and the amount of interest certified by the Comptroller of the National Debt to have been credited, as directed by the Act, up to that date, was 2,272 l. 12 s. 4 d.

Amounts overdrawn.

XI. Between the 7th January and 31st August 1873, there were 14 cases of sums overdrawn, of which 10 were on interest drafts.

In three out of the four cases of capital overdrawn, the errors were occasioned by the drafts being presented a few days before a sufficient amount of stock had been sold to meet them, and in every case, the amount overdrawn has been adjusted. There were, however, two sums overdrawn before the 31st August, amounting to 200 l. 2 s. 7 d., which were not adjusted until after that date; consequently, the cash shown in the Account as "paid" is larger, and the "Cash Balance" on 31st August is smaller, than it ought to have been, to that extent.

Drafts signed by late Accountant General.

XII. Among the drafts which have been paid during the period of this Account, three drafts have been discovered to bear the signature of Mr. Russell, the late Accountant General of the Court of Chancery. Two of these are dated 30th April 1873, and one is dated 12th May 1873.

As the office of Accountant General was abolished on the 7th of January 1873, it is manifest that these drafts must have been signed long previously to their date, and my attention has been directed by this circumstance to the practice of signing drafts by anticipation.

It will be seen by reference to the Report of the Chancery Funds Commission of 1864 (page 53), that the attention of the Royal Commissioners was also directed to this practice, who stated their opinion that the practice now adopted in the Accountant General's Office, in preparing drafts drawn on the Bank of England, should be amended; that no draft should be signed until applied for by the person entitled to it; that every draft should be passed to account as soon as it is drawn and issued, and that the Accountant General should be relieved from the duty of signing drafts, and be authorised to grant deputations to officers of his department to sign drafts under regulations to be approved by the Lord Chancellor.

I observe that in the Report of the Treasury Committee above alluded to, it is recommended that in some respects "the practice of the Chancery Pay Office be assimilated to that of the Paymaster General's Office in Whitehall," and I presume that the signing of drafts was one of the matters which the Committee had in view.

Fees paid to Exchequer.

XIII. It is to be observed that the following sums are included in the Total of Cash paid out of Court, &c., viz. :

For Taxation Account Fees - - - - -	15,673	14	8
For Lunacy per-centage Fees - - - - -	5,731	-	-

32 & 33 Vict. c. 91.

By Section 19 of "The Courts of Justice (Salaries and Funds) Act, 1869," these fees are made payable to the Exchequer, and upon reference to the Finance Accounts for 1872-73, page 21, it will be seen that they formed part of the Miscellaneous Revenue of that year.

I am of opinion that these sums should have been separately stated in the Account.

Foreign securities.

XIV. I am not aware upon what ground this Account has been rendered, "exclusive of securities expressed in foreign currencies," for these securities are just as much a part of the Paymaster General's balance as any others.

I have already suggested that the Account No. 1 should be drawn up in two columns, separating the Securities from the Cash. I am further of opinion that any foreign securities which may be received into or delivered out of Court should be exhibited in this Account, either in the same column with the other securities, or, if necessary, in a third column, and that the balance held in foreign securities should also be introduced.

Value of securities to be stated.

XV. It appears to me, moreover, that the actual value of the securities in hand should be ascertained, and that the amount, as certified by the Chancery Broker, should be stated, either in a note appended to the Account, or at the foot of the Statement (No. 2,) of securities in hand at its termination.

XV. It

XVI. It will be seen that the Balance of Cash on 31st August is stated to have been Balance of cash.
3,948,384 l. 4s. 1 d. This is made up as follows:—

Debt due from Consolidated Fund - - - -	2,423,340	15	6
Cash Balance at Bank of England - - - -	329,939	7	-
Cash Liability of National Debt Commissioners for Stock and Cash transferred to them pursuant to Rules 28 and 52, 49 and 51 (including Interest on Deposits) - - - - -	1,195,104	1	7
TOTAL - - - £.	3,948,384	4	1

The first sum represents the "Book Debt," due in cash from the Court of Chancery to Fund A.
Suitors, which is referred to in the first schedule to the Act 32 & 33 Vict. c. 91, Parts 2,764,744 l. 1s. 10d.
I. and II.

The difference between the amount of this Debt, as shown in that Schedule, and its present amount, is thus explained:—

Amount per Act - - - - -	2,764,744	1	10
Add,—Cash since borrowed from General Balance to meet a claim - - - - -	231	17	2
£.	2,764,975	19	-
Deduct,—Amount issued from the Consolidated Fund in 1870–71, in aid of the Cash Balance of the Court of Chancery, per 32 & 33 Vict. c. 91, s. 6 - - - - -	341,635	3	6
Amount as above - - - £.	2,423,340	15	6

GENERAL STATEMENT OF SECURITIES, &c.

XVII. The "General Statement of Securities and Money in Court" was forwarded by me to the Bank of England, for corroboration as to the securities, and so far as the Bank have the means of certifying to its correctness, they have done so, with two exceptions.
In the following securities the Bank books differ from those of the Chancery Pay Office, viz.:—

Great India Peninsular Railway Stock :	£.
Per Paymaster General - - - - -	135,360
Per Bank - - - - -	134,910
Difference - - - £.	450

This arises from the fact that a transfer was made in August last, the certificate for which did not reach the Paymaster General's Office until the early part of September.

Atlantic and Great Western Railway, second mortgage, 122,000 dollars.

The Bank certify to 122,763 dollars 75 cents, but it appears that the persons who deposited the bonds for the smaller amount, under the Paymaster General's direction, pursuant to an order of the Court, induced the Bank of England to receive additional securities for 763 dollars 75 cents, without any authority from the Paymaster General to do so. The Assistant Paymaster General informs me that he is in correspondence with the Bank upon this subject.

XVIII. There are also certain Securities included in this Statement, to which the Bank have not certified, viz.:—

Mortgages - - - - -	4,732	11	8
Notes and Bills - - - - -	27,188	2	10
Exchequer Orders - - - - -	5 l. per annum.

Securities not certified.

In reference to the two first items, I beg to refer to a Return and a letter of the late Accountant General of the Court of Chancery, dated 16th July 1862, which will be found in the Appendix. It will be observed that no alteration has taken place in the amount of these securities since that date.

The item of "Exchequer Orders, 5 l. per annum," refers to a security so described, dated 30th December 1757, and deposited in the Bank on the 9th July 1783.

No. 6.

XIX. The Bank of England have no official knowledge moreover of the following securities:—

Other Securities not certified.

- London and St. Katharine Docks Stock, 90,214 l. 10 s. 4 d.
- East and West India Docks Stock, 26,812 l. 5 s. 9 d.
- Royal Exchange Assurance Stock, 5,620 l. 4 s. 2 d.
- London Assurance Company, 400 shares.

It is found, however, upon reference to the duplicate books formerly kept in the Bank of England, but now in the charge of this department, that dividends have been paid, since the 31st August last, upon each of these securities, affording presumptive evidence that those amounts of stock or shares were in court at that date.

STATEMENT OF BOXES, &c.

Statement of Miscellaneous Effects.

XX. The "Statement of Boxes and other Miscellaneous Effects," &c., has, as will be seen upon the face of it, been certified to by the Bank of England.

I may observe that six articles only remain out of those which were in the custody of the Bank on 1st October 1863, as shown at page 141 of the Appendix to the Report of the Commission of 1864 above alluded to.

STATISTICS.

Statistics.

XXI. The following Statistics may, perhaps, be interesting, as giving some idea of the amount of work involved in keeping this check upon the Chancery books.

Causes and matters.

XXII. The number of Causes and Matters on 31st August 1873, was 31,146, being a net increase of 619 in the 11 months from 30th September 1872.

New undertakings.

XXIII. The deposits on account of New Undertakings have been as follows:—

	£.	s.	d.
Cash - - - - -	234,375	7	8
Government Stock - - - - -	469,866	17	2
Exchequer Bills - - - - -	10,500	-	-

Drafts paid.

XXIV. The number of Drafts paid in the 11 months was 43,477, against 48,311 paid in the 12 months ending 30th September 1872. The decrease is in the number of purchase drafts, and is caused by the cash being placed on deposit instead of being invested.

Deposit accounts.

XXV. The number of transactions in the books, occasioned by the establishment of the Deposit Accounts, has amounted to 10,662; and this, it is to be observed, does not represent the transactions of a year, but those of eight months only.

Securities.

XXVI. The number of different Securities was, up to 31st August last, 143, being an increase of 55. This appears to be occasioned by the new practice of depositing at the Bank, in many instances, individual securities, instead of boxes which often contained different descriptions of effects; but notwithstanding this change, the number of "Effects Lettered," or "Boxes," has increased from 56 to 61.

XXVII. There are two matters in connection with the Court of Chancery Funds Account which appear to me to call for observation.

1. Dormant Accounts.

Dormant Accounts.

XXVIII. It is provided by Rule No. 54, that "as soon as conveniently may be after the 1st of October 1873, a list shall be prepared by the Paymaster General, and filed in the Report Office, and a copy thereof inserted in the 'London Gazette,' of the titles of causes or matters whereon money or securities may be standing which have not been dealt with for 15 years; and by Rule No. 55, it is directed that, "as soon as conveniently may be after the 1st of October 1873, the Paymaster General shall carry over to an Account, entitled 'Account of Suitors' Balances under 5 L.," the money and securities standing in his books, not together amounting to that sum; and that such money and securities shall be transferred to the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt, by whom all such money shall be applied as if it were a surplus of annual revenue.

XXIX. The first of these regulations has not appeared to me to call for any interference on my part, and I have merely to observe that, so far as I am aware, the direction has not yet been complied with.

As regards Rule No. 55, however, I have thought it my duty to inquire under what circumstances the proceedings directed by the rule have not been taken, up to the present time; and a letter from the Assistant Paymaster General upon this subject will be found in the Appendix.

No. 7.

2. Number of Words in Titles of Accounts.

Number of words in an Account.

XXX. In Rule No. 59, a limit is placed to the number of words in the title of any Account thereafter "directed or requested to be raised in the books of the Chancery Pay Office." As in some cases this rule appeared to have been disregarded, I called the attention of the Assistant Paymaster General to the Regulation, in a letter from this department, dated 7th August 1873. In reply to this, I was informed by the Assistant Paymaster General that memorials had been sent to the Lord Chancellor and the Treasury, complaining of the operation of the rule in question, and that it had been intimated to him by the chief Registrar of the court, that it would be expedient, until some further decision were come to, that a discretion should be exercised upon the subject, so as to prevent any serious inconvenience from the operation of the rule. Mr. Parkinson's letter was communicated by me to the Treasury, and their Lordship's reply, dated 19th November 1873, will be found in the Appendix.

No. 8.

Up

Up to the end of January last, there had been five cases of new Accounts whose titles exceeded 36 words.

XXXI. In conclusion, I have to state, with reference to section 20 of the Act, that the attention of the Lords of the Treasury has been called by me, upon several occasions, to the circumstance that other Accounts besides those of the Paymaster General are directed to be kept, viz., Accounts of the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt, and of the Liability of the Consolidated Fund under this Act. The only Account of the said Commissioners in respect of Chancery transactions which is rendered to my department, is a simple cash Account, and I have pointed out to the Lords of the Treasury, as will be seen by a letter which will be found in the Appendix, that the National Debt Commissioners should, as it appears to me, be required to render to this Department an Account comprising the whole of their transactions in relation to the Court of Chancery, whether in stock or cash. It appears by a letter recently received by me that, on the 31st March last, the amount of Stock in the hands of the Commissioners on this Account was 1,129,622*l.* 9*s.* 8*d.*; as yet, however, I have received no information from their Lordships in regard to the Accounts either of the National Debt Commissioners or of the liability of the Consolidated Fund.

CORRESPONDENCE referred to in the foregoing REPORT.

No. 1.

(16,884.)

Sir,

Treasury Chambers, 11 November 1873.

I AM directed by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to transmit to you herewith, for your consideration and observations, copy of a Report of the Right Honourable H. C. E. Childers after an inquiry into the working of the Chancery Funds Act of 1872, together with the Appendix thereto.

The Comptroller and Auditor General.

I am, &c.
(signed) William Law.

No. 2.

(402.)

My Lords,

Exchequer and Audit Department,
5 March 1874.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from Mr. Law, dated the 11th November last, No. 16,884, transmitting for my consideration and observations, a copy of a Report of the Right Honourable Hugh C. E. Childers, dated 20th May last (together with the Appendix thereto), after an inquiry into the working of the Chancery Funds Act (1872). I presume that I shall correctly interpret your Lordships' intentions in forwarding that report, to be that it should be considered with special reference to the Treasury Minute of 19th November 1872, which implied that your Lordships would expect to receive from me, ere long, a report recommending the changes which might be necessary for the establishment of a complete system of audit. With this object in view, I propose to confine my observations upon the papers in question to the suggestions they contain in relation to the audit of the Chancery Pay Office Accounts, which will be found on the second page of Mr. Childers's Report; and under Heads V. and VI. in the memorandum of the gentlemen who assisted him in the inquiry. It will be obvious to your Lordships, with reference to the observations in the 4th paragraph of the report, and under the 5th head of the memorandum, that any recommendation which I may have to offer in regard either to the nature or the strength of the staff to be employed upon the audit of these Accounts, must depend, in great measure, upon the mode in which the Orders of the Court shall in future be framed; and, as some time had elapsed between the date of the conference with the Registrars of the Court of Chancery, alluded to by Mr. Childers, and the date of Mr. Law's letter, I ventured, upon the receipt of the latter, to cause a communication to be addressed to the Secretary to the Lord Chancellor, a copy of which I enclose. The reply which I received was to the effect that your Lordships had forwarded the report of Mr. Childers to the Lord Chancellor, and that his Lordship was of opinion that it would be more proper that all communications from my department on this subject should be made to the Treasury and not to his Lordship. I consequently remain without any information as to the probability of the early adoption of the changes in the form of procedure, with reference to the Orders of the Court of Chancery, upon which the greater or less facility of applying an audit of authority depends. Mr. Childers expresses a strong opinion to the effect that "one of the senior clerks in the Chancery Audit Office should be a person practically conversant with the legal documents issued from the Chancery Registrars' Office." This opinion is more or less confirmed by an opinion expressed by the other members of the Committee in paragraph 51. Sir William Anderson also states, in detail, his views upon the same point in a separate memorandum.

It is further recommended by the Committee that some clerks from the Bank of England and from the Chancery Pay Office, should be transferred to the Chancery Audit Branch; an arrangement which, in their opinion, would "facilitate the audit, and add to its efficiency."

While anxious to give full weight to the opinion so entertained, I felt that I could arrive at no conclusion in the matter which I could with any confidence submit for your Lordships' consideration, without obtaining some insight into the practical difficulties which are to be met with in the interpretation of these orders. I therefore appointed a Committee consisting of two gentlemen employed in the Chancery Audit Office, but who had no previous acquaintance with the orders of the Court, and of one intelligent Examiner in this department who had not been before employed upon any Chancery business, for the purpose of examining a portion of one day's transactions with reference to the authorities. It appears from the report of those gentlemen, which is before me, that out of 74 drafts paid under orders, some of them very long and intricate, there were only two cases which presented a difficulty which they found to be insuperable. The impression which this experiment, though by no means conclusive, has left upon my mind is, that the duties connected with this branch of the business may be undertaken by my Establishment without the appointment of a person of legal attainments, unless and until further experience shall demonstrate the necessity for such an appointment. It will be obvious, however, that a very great saving of labour would result from the adoption of the recommendation, that two or three experienced officers from the Chancery Pay Office should be temporarily attached to the Audit Branch.

The experience gained by the working of the present system during the past year has not led me to alter the opinion expressed in my letter to your Lordships of 17th February 1872, that the Auditor should keep duplicate ledgers containing the accounts of cash and stock opened for every cause or matter in the Chancery books; and I observe that Mr. Childers and his colleagues entirely concur in this view.

The question of the locality of the audit has also engaged my attention. I am confirmed by increasing experience in the opinion that an audit conducted at a distance from this office is attended with decided disadvantages.

The two main grounds which have been adduced in support of a local audit are,—

1st. The difficulty of parting with documents in daily use in the Department whose accounts are being audited, and,—

2nd. The saving of labour caused by an Audit upon the Departmental Books, instead of requiring a transcript of them to be transmitted to the Audit Office.

Neither of these considerations affects to any serious extent the Chancery Audit, inasmuch as it is proposed to keep duplicate books, and reference is seldom required to a draft once paid. It is also to be observed that, by continuing the audit in the same locality, there would be the risk of the destruction by fire of the two only records of the enormous sums held by the Court of Chancery, though it would appear upon inquiry that special precautions have been adopted to provide against such a contingency. On the other hand, Mr. Childers and his Committee express a decided opinion that, for the present, the audit should be conducted locally; and I am led to believe, from personal conference with the Chancery Paymaster, that the removal of the Audit Branch to Somerset House would, especially when the interpretation of the orders becomes a part of the audit, be attended with considerable inconvenience and delay. I am therefore inclined to recommend, upon the whole, that the new system of audit should be commenced in the present locality, provided the necessary accommodation can be found for the requisite staff, which will be nearly double the present number.

It remains for me to speak of the permanent staff which may be required for the performance of these duties.

As your Lordships are aware, the Chancery Audit has been hitherto conducted by a staff of Bank of England clerks, under the superintendence of an Inspector in this Department.

I am happy to be able to speak in the highest terms of the industry and ability which have been displayed by Mr. Fenn, the senior Bank clerk, and by the gentlemen under his direction. In addition to a large increase in the number of Accounts and Securities during the past year, the working of the Act of 1872 has presented many new features which have necessitated careful provision and arrangement. In reporting upon the Account of the Chancery Paymaster, pursuant to the 20th section of the Act, I shall have occasion to speak more fully of these new elements in the business, but I may mention, in this place, that the establishment of a Sutors' Deposit Account under Sections 14 to 17, has in itself occasioned a good deal of additional labour. Several of the gentlemen who have been thus employed possess so much experience in this business, that I feel very strongly the importance of retaining the services of some, if not all of them, provided satisfactory arrangements with this view can be come to with the Bank of England.

It appears to me that there can be no question that the large staff to be employed on this new and most important duty must be superintended by a gentleman in the position, and with, at least, the rank and salary of principal clerk or inspector, who should have the assistance of a gentleman of the rank of a first class clerk or assistant inspector, as in the other divisions of this office.

The number of clerks who would be required to conduct the business under this superintendence would depend in great measure, as stated above, upon the extent to which the orders of the Court may be simplified, and any number which I may now name must be received as an estimate only; but it appears to me that, with reference to the double duty of keeping the books in the four divisions, and of interpreting the orders of the Court, a staff of 10 directing clerks would not be too large for the requirements of the work.

I have already expressed the opinion that it would be highly desirable if the suggestion contained in the printed memorandum, that two or three experienced clerks might be transferred from the Chancery Pay Office, could be acted upon, as a temporary measure, merely for the purpose of training the examining officers of this department in the interpretation of the orders.

The number of examiners which would be required would, I think, be about 20. The establishment would then be as follows:—

- 1 Principal Clerk, or Inspector.
- 1 First-class Clerk, or Assistant Inspector.
- 10 Directing Clerks.
- 20 Examining Clerks.

Total - 32, being 11 less than the staff of the Chancery Pay Office, exclusive of the Assistant Paymaster General for Chancery business.

I feel that some explanation is needed of the large difference between this estimate and the number of clerks lent by the Bank of England who have hitherto performed the duty of audit. This is, of course, principally to be accounted for by the staff which will be required for the new duty of audit in connection with authorities; but after making allowance for that business there is still a considerable addition proposed to the strength of the department. This is rendered necessary partly from the circumstance that in the present staff no provision is made either for holidays or sickness, the Bank undertaking to supply this number of 16 all the year round without intermission,* and partly with reference to the continually increasing work, and the fact that the present staff is barely adequate to keep abreast of it.

In conclusion, I would venture to represent to your Lordships that the postponement of a settled establishment for this Chancery business bears with some hardship upon the gentlemen who have been withdrawn from their ordinary employment for the duty in question, inasmuch as in their absence on this special duty they lose certain advantages and chances of preferment, which would naturally fall to their lot if they were retained at the Bank of England. Your Lordships will probably agree with me that it is very desirable that such of these gentlemen as shall not be retained for permanent employment, should be relieved as soon as possible from their present temporary duty.

There

* Here there is a slight inaccuracy. The arrangement referred to applies to 9 only out of the 16 clerks.

There is only one other point to which I have not adverted, and which I must for the present reserve for further consideration, namely, whether the Chancery Audit Office should be organised as a distinct establishment, under the supervision of the Comptroller and Auditor General, with a scale of salaries specially adapted to the business, or whether it should be incorporated as an integral part of this department. From the peculiar nature of the duties, and in the event of the retention of the services of the Bank clerks, the former might be the more advisable organisation, especially as, numerically there would be sufficient scope for promotions by merit in an establishment composed of at least 32 employés. On the other hand, should it be determined to entirely supersede the Bank staff by clerks from this department, the more expedient arrangement would probably be to include the officers employed in Chancery business in the general establishment of this office. Your Lordships will, therefore, perceive that it would be premature for me to offer a final opinion, until the question of the division of duties in the Chancery Audit Office, and of the persons by whom those duties are to be performed, shall have been determined.

Sir,

I AM directed to request that you will represent to the Lord Chancellor that the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury have forwarded to the Comptroller and Auditor General, for his consideration and observations, copy of a Report of the Right Honourable Hugh Childers, after an inquiry into the working of the Chancery Funds Act of 1872, together with a Memorandum prepared by the gentlemen who assisted Mr. Childers in that inquiry.

One of the most important subjects in connection with the audit of the Chancery Funds Accounts, to which allusion is made in the Report and Memorandum in question is, as to the simplification of the orders of the Court. Mr. Childers observes that, as the result of a lengthened interview with some of the Registrars of the Court, he is "satisfied that there will be no difficulty in hereafter framing these orders in such a form as to admit of audit by the Department of the Comptroller and Auditor General;" and in the Memorandum prepared by the other gentlemen it is suggested, as one of the results of the conference held with the Registrars, that "directions required to be inserted in orders, to be acted upon by the Chancery Paymaster, and dated on or after the 1st of January 1874, be embodied in such orders in a tabular form."

In a Treasury Minute of 19th November 1872, which has been laid before Parliament (P. P. 401—1873), their Lordships state, after proposing that the present system of examination should be continued for a while, that "they have little doubt that no very long time will suffice for this period of probation, during which the Comptroller and Auditor General would be collecting the information on which to base a Report, recommending the changes necessary for the establishment of a complete system of audit."

It appears to the Comptroller and Auditor General that the time has now come for him to prepare such a Report, and as his recommendations must in great measure depend upon the nature of the documentary authority upon which the orders of the Court are carried out, it is very desirable that he should be informed, as soon as may be convenient, whether any proposal for the simplification of the orders in question has been submitted to the Lord Chancellor, and whether his Lordship is prepared to give his sanction to such an alteration in the form of the orders as may fulfil the expectations held out by Mr. Childers and his colleagues.

Sir,

Treasury Chambers, 7 April 1874.

I AM directed by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to state, with reference to your Report of the 5th ultimo, respecting the working of the Chancery Funds Act, 1872, and the staff which will be required for audit purposes, that my Lords are waiting to receive the reply of the Lord Chancellor upon the recommendations of Mr. Childers' Committee, and that upon receiving it they will lose no time in communicating it to the Audit Office.

In the meantime, my Lords would be glad to know how many of the Bank clerks you wish to retain upon the branch of your establishment to be employed on the audit of Chancery Accounts, their rank and scale of pay.

My Lords observe that you contemplate a considerable increase of staff as possible. It would be premature to discuss this point before the new rules are issued; but they desire me to ask you in the meantime to consider whether it will be necessary to add permanently to the establishment the whole of the number for whom you think you will have work, and whether it would not be possible to proceed tentatively at first, employing to a certain extent temporary labour, until the real requirements of the department are ascertained.

The Comptroller and Auditor General.

Sir,

Exchequer and Audit Department,
9 April 1874.

I AM directed by the Comptroller and Auditor General to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from Mr. Law, dated the 7th instant, No. 4049, having reference to his Report of the 5th ultimo upon the audit of the Chancery Funds Accounts.

There are two questions in this letter upon which the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury desire information:—

1. As to the number, rank, and scale of pay of the Bank clerks which the Comptroller and Auditor General would wish to retain.
2. As to the necessity of adding permanently to the establishment the whole staff which the work would probably require, and as to the possibility, on the other hand, of employing at first temporary labour to some extent.

In his Report above mentioned the Comptroller and Auditor General dwelt in strong terms upon the value of retaining the services of a certain number at least of the Bank clerks; but he pointed out, in the last paragraph of that Report, that, until the question of the division of duties in the Chancery Audit Office, and of the persons by whom those duties are to be performed, shall have been determined, it would be premature for him to offer a final opinion as to the most desirable mode of organising the establishment of this branch of his department.

The number and position of the Bank clerks which it may be desirable to retain appears to the Comptroller and Auditor General so materially to depend upon the settlement of this question, viz., whether the Chancery Audit Branch is to be formed as a separate establishment or to be incorporated into this office, that, with every desire to assist their Lordships in arriving at a decision, he does not feel it in his power to add at present any further observations upon this point to those contained in his Report.

As regards the second inquiry contained in Mr. Law's letter, I am to state that the Comptroller and Auditor General was to a great extent guided, in arriving at his estimate of the numbers which would probably be required for the proposed audit, by the numbers which experience has shown to be necessary for keeping the ledgers, including the new deposit account, as well as with especial reference to the number of persons employed in the office of the Assistant Paymaster General, whose duties will be to a great extent the same as those of the auditors.

Their Lordships will have observed that the estimated number of 32 falls short by 11 of the staff employed in the Pay Department, and this deduction was made to meet the case of those clerks who are in communication with the public, and are not exclusively occupied upon work common to both departments. The Comptroller and Auditor General will take into careful consideration the suggestion made by their Lordships, but it appears to him that, having regard to the increasing number of transactions, to the large addition of superior work which will be involved in an audit of authorities, and to the confidential character of the entries, it will not be found expedient to employ, upon this duty, much of temporary labour, and that it will be desirable to appoint, at the beginning, a permanent staff of clerks not falling very far short of the estimate contained in his Report.

The Comptroller and Auditor General has thought it desirable not to delay offering the foregoing observations in reply to Mr. Law's letter, but he quite concurs with their Lordships in the opinion that no definite conclusions can be arrived at until the new rules are issued.

Accountant General's Office, Chancery-lane,
16 July 1863.

Sir,

In answer to the inquiry directed by the Chancery Funds Commissioners in the terms of your letter of yesterday's date, I transmit a list more in detail of the items to which that inquiry refers.

It is possible, and indeed probable, that these items are of no real value, but as they are held by the Accountant General in trust to attend the orders of the court, I apprehend that the full and due investigation of them would necessarily be a matter of judicial inquiry as to each item, which would, however, probably lead to a consumption of the time of the court for no adequate purpose. So long as they remain in the custody of the Bank, they must, I apprehend, be the subject of some notice in its return, and the present terms in which that notice is framed would seem to be as brief as possible.

E. Macnaghten, Esq.,
Secretary, Chancery Funds Commission.

I am, &c.

Sir,

IN answer to a letter from your Department, dated the 10th instant (No. 618), I have to state that pressure of business upon this office has hitherto prevented that preliminary examination of accounts being made which was mentioned in my letter of the 11th December last, as necessary before the carrying over, directed by the 55th and 56th of the Chancery Funds Rules, 1872, can be effected.

Arrangements have now been made for immediately proceeding with that examination. It will be prosecuted as speedily as a due regard to transacting the general business of the office will permit. A considerable time must, however, necessarily be occupied in it; as, from a Return contained in the Report of the Chancery Funds Commission, it appears that, in October 1861, the number of accounts open in the Accountant General's books, on which the funds then standing did not exceed 5 l., was 1,182.

Treasury Chambers, 19 November 1873.

Sir,

I AM directed by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to inform you, in reply to your letter of the 20th ultimo, on the subject of the non-observance on certain occasions of the 59th Chancery Funds Rule, that representations have been made to this Board against the rule in question, to the effect that it is often impossible to restrict the words in which an Account is opened to the number prescribed. My Lords have referred the point for the consideration of the Lord Chancellor, and they have asked an early reply. It appears to them that it would not be desirable, in the interval before his Lordship's opinion is obtained, to insist too strongly upon the precise observance of the rule. They have, therefore, approved the course pursued by Mr. Parkinson, instructing him to endeavour in all cases to obtain a compliance with the rule, and only to waive objection when satisfied that there is good reason for departure from it.

As soon as the opinion of the Lord Chancellor is received, my Lords either enforce the rule as it stands, or, in concert with his Lordship, they will repeal it, substituting for it the modification which may seem desirable.

The Comptroller and Auditor General.

I am, &c.

Exchequer and Audit Department,
8 April 1874.

Sir,

I AM directed by the Comptroller and Auditor General to request that you will call the attention of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to the under-mentioned letters of this Department, relative to the funds of the Court of Chancery, viz.:—

1. A letter, dated 30th June 1873, suggesting that the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt might be asked to render monthly Accounts, showing the whole of their Chancery transactions.

2. A letter, dated 28th July 1873, submitting the importance of arriving at an early decision as to the particular Accounts upon which the Comptroller and Auditor General should report.

3. A letter, dated 13th November 1873, suggesting that the monthly Accounts of the National Debt Commissioners should not only contain, as they do at present, the cash received or transferred, but also the "Conversions into Cash," under Rules 28 and 52, and also again requesting information as to the Accounts upon which the Comptroller and Auditor General is to report.

4. A letter, dated 30th January 1874, reporting some further entries in the National Debt Accounts, and requesting their Lordships' early decision upon the questions submitted to them in the previous correspondence. As their Lordships' decision upon these questions has not yet been communicated to the Comptroller and Auditor General, I am to inform you that he does not consider himself justified in any longer delaying his report upon the Chancery Funds' Accounts, and that he therefore proposes shortly to submit a report, to be laid before Parliament, upon the Account of the Paymaster General for Chancery business, in which, should he not receive an early reply to the questions raised in the above-mentioned letters, he must necessarily explain that this is the only Account which has been rendered to him under the 20th section of the Act 35 & 36 Vict. c. 44.

FACTORY ACTS, 1871 (RELAXATION OF STATUTORY LIMITS).

RETURN to an Address of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 15 April 1874 ;—for,

“ RETURN, for the Year 1873, of each Instance in which, in accordance with the FACTORY ACTS, 1871, Relaxation of the Statutory Limitation of Hours of Labour has been Granted in FACTORIES and WORKSHOPS coming under the WORKSHOPS ACTS; the Date of Granting such Relaxation; the Reason in each Case why such Relaxation has been Granted; a Description of the Manufactures in which such Relaxation has been Granted; the Duration of each Relaxation; and whether and how often such Relaxation has been RENEWED.”

DISTRICT OF MR. REDGRAVE.

BY Order of the Secretary of State, dated 28th December 1871, young persons, of at least 14 years of age, and women, were allowed to be employed as follows, in certain occupations dependent upon the seasons of the year, to wit:—

Tailors.
Dress, mantle, and paletôt makers.
Milliners.
Hat, cap, and bonnet makers.
Shirt-collar makers.
Boot and shoe makers.
Braid, fringe, and fancy trimming makers.
Artificial flower makers.
Bonbon and Christmas present makers.
Valentine makers.
Fancy-box makers.
Almanack makers and finishers.
Firewood cutters.

By such Order they might be employed for one hour and a-half beyond the ordinary hours of work, for not more than five days in a week, nor more than one month at a time, and for not more than 96 days in the year.

By Modification No. 2 of Factory Act, 1871, it is enacted that an Order shall be in force for such time, and during such periods only, as may be specified in such Order.

Upon the issue of the Order authority was given under it, to certain establishments, to work overtime for one month. (See Return, House of Commons Papers, 1872, No. 121.)

But an experience soon showed that it was not desired generally to work overtime for five days a week, consecutively, for one month, therefore the same number of days were authorised to be spread over a longer period; and as it appeared that it would be sufficient for overtime to be authorised on not more than two days in a week, the Order has been so limited; thus, instead of working overtime five days a week for one month, i. e., 24 days, overtime is granted for two days a week for three months, i. e., 24 days. (See Reports of Inspectors of Factories, April 1872, p. 16; October 1872, p. 37.)

As the seasons vary in different places, different arrangements had to be made. For instance, in London the season begins about or after Easter, and lasts for three months; consequently that is the time most desired by the London establishments.

In Lancashire and Yorkshire Whitsuntide is generally the brisk season.

In other places there is a necessity only to work overtime for wedding or funeral orders, and thus the 24 days may be spread over the whole year.

In some trades the brisk seasons vary considerably; as, for instance, Christmas presents, almanacks, valentines, &c., and the Orders are confined to the special seasons in each case, as the dates of granting the Orders will show.

† This is a trade carried on chiefly in Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire. The habits of the people are peculiar, rarely commencing work before 9 or 9.30 a.m. In the large factories work must be taken between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.; in the smaller, or workshops, it is usually between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. As the hands will not commence at the earlier hour in the factories, they would lose an hour a day. Consequently, in the busy season, it has been permitted to the factories to work until 9 p.m., provided work do not commence before 9 a.m. This has not increased the hours of work, but has placed all the works upon precisely the same conditions. CIRCULAR TO COLONIES.

SIR,

Downing Street, August 31, 1872.

My attention has been directed to the 19th clause of the accompanying Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Letters Patent, and, in accordance with the request expressed therein, that Her Majesty's Government would inquire how far the Colonial Governments are ready to concur in international arrangements for an assimilation in the law and practice in regard to inventions, I shall be glad to receive any suggestions which the Legislature of the Colony under your government may have to offer on the subject, and, at the same time, to be informed how far they would think it practicable to adopt the recommendation of the Report as a basis for legislation in the event of such legislation being adopted by Her Majesty's Government.

The EARL OF DUFFERIN to The EARL OF KIMBERLEY.

MY LORD,

Ottawa, December 5, 1872.

WITH reference to your Lordship's Circular Despatch of the 31st August, inquiring how far Colonial Governments are ready to concur in international arrangements for an assimilation in the law and practice in regard to inventions, I have the honour to transmit herewith a Minute of Council on the subject, accompanied by a Report from the Minister of Agriculture.

The Earl of Kimberley,
&c. &c. &c.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) DUFFERIN.

COPY of a REPORT of a COMMITTEE of the HONOURABLE the PRIVY COUNCIL, approved by His Excellency the GOVERNOR-GENERAL on the 4th December, 1872.

The Committee have had under consideration a Despatch from the Right Hon. Her Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonies on the subject of Letters Patent of Invention, and covering a Report of a Select Committee of the Imperial House of Commons on the question of international arrangements for an assimilation in regard to law and practice with reference to inventions.

They have also had before them the annexed Report from the Hon. the Minister of Agriculture, to whom the said Despatch and Enclosure were referred, and they respectfully report their concurrence in the views expressed in the said Report, and advise that a copy thereof and of the present Minute be transmitted by your Excellency to the Earl of Kimberley.

Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, November 30, 1872.

The undersigned has the honour to report upon a reference to him by the Hon. the Privy Council of a Despatch dated August 31st last, from the Right Hon. the Secretary of State for the Colonies to his Excellency on the subject of Letters Patent of Invention covering a Report of a Select Committee of the Imperial House of Commons on the question of international arrangements for an assimilation in regard to law and practice with regard to inventions, that :—

The present Canadian law and practice with regard to inventions embody the greater part of the conclusions which have been arrived at in the Resolutions adopted by the Select Committee of the Imperial House of Commons, and they differ only in minor points.

The privileges conferred by patents granted under the Canadian Patent Law afford encouragement to manufactures.

They further lead to the introduction and publication of improved processes and machinery which greatly stimulate the progress of manufacturing industry.

It has not been thought that the principle of granting pecuniary rewards to inventors could with advantage be substituted for the privilege which is conferred by patents.

The Canadian Patent Act, passed during the last Session of Parliament, appears on the whole to operate very satisfactorily in the interest of inventors, of manufacturers, and of the public generally.

The preliminary examination which is provided for by the Canadian Act has been generally found to work satisfactorily; and, while it does not go so far as to adjudicate upon a class of questions which it is believed cannot be decided without liability to frequent errors by the administrators of the Patent Office, such examination has yet been found sufficient to prevent the granting of obviously spurious or improper patents.

The Canadian law does not provide for the filing of a provisional specification for the inspection of the public, and it is not believed that this would be adapted to the circumstances of the Dominion.

The Canadian law provides that manufactures under patents shall be carried on in Canada, and that importation of patented manufactures shall cease after the expiration of one year from the date of the granting of the patent.

Under the Canadian law, no patent is issued for an invention that has been patented in any other country for more than twelve months before the application for a patent in Canada; but if during the twelve months any person shall have commenced to manufacture in Canada the article for which such patent is afterwards obtained, such person shall continue to have the right to manufacture and sell the article notwithstanding the patent.

There are no complaints respecting the fees now payable for Letters Patent in Canada, and the administration of the Patent Office appears to give general satisfaction.

No person employed in the administration of the Canadian Patent Office is allowed to have any pecuniary interest in the granting or refusing of any patent, or in the number of patents applied for, granted, or refused.

The Canadian Patent Law provides for a system of arbitration in the case of disputes arising from conflicting applications before the granting of patents, and very little litigation arises upon patents granted in the Dominion; but such questions as do arise are decided by the ordinary legal tribunals of competent jurisdiction.

The Minister of Agriculture is constituted by the law Commissioner of Patents, and he always acts as such. There is no separate Commission.

While it does not appear that any material changes in the present Canadian law are desirable, the undersigned would respectfully recommend that an expression of willingness on the part of the Canadian Government to consider favourably any well-devised measure having for its object an international arrangement for an assimilation of the laws and practices in granting patents for inventions should be conveyed to Her Majesty's Government.

The whole respectfully submitted.

Minister of Agriculture.

WITH reference to your Lordship's Circulars 31 August, 1872, and 19 June, 1873, calling attention to paragraph 19 of the Report of the Select Committee on Letters Patent, and asking an expression of the views of the Legislature of this Colony on the subject, I have the honour to report to your Lordship that I brought the subject to the notice of the legislative bodies by message on the 10th June, and that on the 15th August the House of Assembly agreed in general terms to adopt measures for carrying into effect in these Islands such legislation with regard to Letters Patent as shall be consistent with Patent Laws of Great Britain, so as to give protection to patentees in these Islands. Since that date the Session has been prematurely closed without anything further having been done, but I trust that the adoption of the foregoing Resolution will be a sufficient intimation of the readiness of this Colony to fall into any general scheme which may be adopted, so far as it possesses machinery for the purpose, or as any necessity can arise. Patents are not at present known in Bermuda, and the circumstances of the Colony make it improbable that its action in the matter can be of importance to patentees. There are no manufactories, and the local demand for the patented articles can never be worth attention.

MY LORD,

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your Lordship's Circular Despatch of the 31st of August, 1872, asking for any suggestions that the Legislature of the Colony under my government may have to offer on the subject of international arrangements being concluded for an assimilation in the law and practice in regard to inventions, as recommended by a Select Committee of the House of Commons on Letters Patent.

2. In reply thereto I have the honour to forward herewith, for your Lordship's information, the copy of a Resolution which has been adopted on the subject by the Legislative Council of Jamaica.

Enclosure in No. 5.

13th August, 1873.

At a meeting of the Legislative Council of Jamaica, held pursuant to adjournment, at Head-Quarter House, in the town of Kingston, on Monday, the 11th day of August, 1873,

In accordance with the recommendation of the Report of the Select Committee of the Council to whom were referred a Despatch from the Secretary of State on the subject of the Patent Laws, together with the Report of the Select Committee appointed to inquire into the law and practice and the effect of grants of Letters Patent for inventions, and the adoption thereof by the Council, it was on the motion of the Attorney-General, seconded by Mr. Solomon, resolved as follows:—

Resolved, with reference to the questions asked by the Despatch dated the 31st day of August, 1872, from the Secretary of State for the Colonies on the subject of the Patent Laws, and with reference to the Report mentioned in that Despatch—

1st. That the Legislature of this Colony is ready generally to concur in international arrangements for an assimilation in the law and practice in regard to inventions amongst the various civilized countries of the world.

2nd. That it deserves consideration whether persons who wish to obtain in Colonies Letters Patent for inventions might not be enabled to obtain these Letters Patent in the United Kingdom, and be enabled after the grant of the patent to make use of and to protect the patent in all Colonies as well as in the United Kingdom, provision being of course made for due notice by registration, or otherwise, in each Colony where the inventor might wish to use his patent.

3rd. That it appears that there is no reason to doubt that the Patent Law would be much improved by legislation based upon the recommendations of the Report mentioned in the Despatch in all places where there may be persons competent to act as "skilled advisers," and otherwise to perform the duties required to carry out the recommendations of the Report, but that it would not be practicable to adopt in this Colony the recommendation of the Report, as there are not usually in this Colony any persons who could act as "skilled advisers," or could properly perform the duties required to carry out the recommendations of the Report.

2. This Resolution is based upon the recommendation of the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Letters Patent, a copy of which Report accompanied the Circular Despatch dated the 31st August last, from the Secretary of State.

3. The local law alluded to in the Resolution is the Act of 26 Victoria, chapter 2, of the "second (a special) Session" of that year.

4. The suggestions made by the Legislature are submitted for approval, and it will be seen that they consider the recommendation of the Report would supply a practicable basis for legislation, in the event of such legislation being adopted by Her Majesty's Government.

RESOLUTION passed by the Legislative Council of British Honduras on the eighteenth of February, 1873, on the subject of the Despatch from the Secretary of State relative to ~~LETTERS~~ PATENT, and dated 31st August, 1872.

"Resolved,

Council Chamber, 18th February, 1873.

"That the Legislative Council are of opinion that science and manufactures are so little advanced in British Honduras, that it is impracticable to form in the Colony a satisfactory Board of Commissioners, with competent officers, for the granting of patents for inventions, and that consequently the local law of 1862, founded upon the most recent Imperial legislation, has proved to be very nearly inoperative; and that it is desirable this Colony should be included in any legislation upon the subject, to be adopted by Her Majesty's Government.

"They would suggest that privileges, conceded to inventors under Imperial legislation, should be enjoyed in all the Colonies, included specifically or generally in the Letters Patent, and that every Colony, in which such privileges are to be enjoyed, should be furnished with authentic copies, abridgments or abstracts of the Letters Patent, specifications, and other useful documents for general information, as well as for the guidance of the Judicature.

"They are further of opinion that the recommendations of the Select Committee of the House of Commons supply a practicable basis for legislation, and declare themselves ready to concur in international arrangements for an assimilation of the law and practice in regard to inventions amongst the various civilized countries of the world, and to co-operate to the utmost of their power with Her Majesty's Government for their accomplishment."

MY LORD,

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge your Lordship's Circular Despatch of the 31st of August, on the subject of the assimilation in the law and practice in regard to inventions, and requesting me to furnish any suggestions which the Legislature of this Colony may have to offer on the subject, in the event of legislation being adopted by Her Majesty's Government based upon the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Letters Patent.

2. On the receipt of your Lordship's Circular, I laid a copy before the Court of Policy, and that body expressed their readiness to adopt any measures which might be necessary to effect the assimilation proposed; but at my suggestion the subject was referred for the consideration and report of the Attorney-General, and I have now the honour to transmit a Memorandum which I have this day received from the Attorney-General.

MEMORANDUM OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

January 11, 1873.

The following is what I have to state as the result of my consideration of the Report relating to patents, referred to me on the 30th October, 1872:—

1. It is, no doubt, desirable that there should be a report of a competent person or competent persons on every new invention; and provision may be made for it as far as practicable; but in a Colony it would scarcely be found practicable to procure such a report in every case. (See 6, Section 17, Clause A, of Report of Select Committee.)

2. Subject to the difficulty of procuring a report from competent persons, the provisions referred to in Section 7, and in Section 17, Clause B, may be adopted.

3. A provision such as suggested in Section 8 would scarcely be necessary here.

4. As to Section 17, Clause D, power should be given to the judges in trying patent cases to associate with themselves skilled persons, and provision should be made for the payment of such skilled persons; but they should not be called "Commissioners."

5. Section 17, Clauses D, E, and F. The suggestions in these clauses could not be carried out here.

6. Section 17, Clause G. The provisions of this clause, mutatis mutandis, may be adopted.

7. Section 17, Clauses H and I. The suggestions of these clauses could not be carried into effect.

8. Section 17, Clause J. It certainly will be as well for the Law Officers to have nothing to do with fees for patents.

MY LORD,

Trinidad, December 16, 1872.

IN accordance with your Lordship's wish, as expressed in your Circular Despatch of 31st August last, I have asked the opinion of the members of the Legislature of this Colony as to the advisability of an international system of dealing with patent rights.

2. The Ordinance No. 25, of 1867, provides for granting patent rights for fourteen years to all persons introducing new inventions into this Island; but I think there would be no indisposition on the part of the Legislative Council to allow any persons obtaining patents under an international system the free use of their patent rights in this Colony on simple registration.

3. The machinery at the disposal of a small Government must of course be insufficient to offer proper guarantees that rights conferred by it would be worthy of extension elsewhere, and thus all that Trinidad could ask for in the way of reciprocity would be that protection orders granted in this Colony, say for a period of not more than six months, should be held to be good for the time named in them; inventors being required, if they should wish for longer protection, to obtain Letters Patent in England or some other country where the machinery for granting them might be sufficient.

SIR,

In reply to the Earl of Kimberley's Circular Despatch of the 19th June last, on the subject of Letters Patent for inventions, I have the honour to report that Mr. Laborde omitted to lay the previous Circular Despatch of 31st August, 1872, before the Legislature, and that therefore I have not as yet any expression of opinion from that body.

2. The delay in replying to his Lordship's inquiries has already been so great, that I am unwilling now to incur the further delay of waiting till the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Letters Patent has been considered by the members of the Legislature. I therefore believe it best that I should assume the duty of replying on behalf of this Government, and this I do in much the same terms as I did for Trinidad, when acting on the opinion expressed by its Legislature.

3. There is no machinery in this Colony by which Letters Patent could properly be granted for general use, and this Government therefore would waive any right to grant patents itself, although it would cheerfully accord such patent rights in this Island to persons who had properly obtained Letters Patent for inventions under an international system of Patent Laws. All that this Government would ask in return is, that it should have the power to grant protecting orders, which would enable a resident of St. Vincent to obtain temporary protection for his invention, pending the time necessary for taking out Letters Patent in England or elsewhere.

I have to inform you, with respect to the Circular Despatch of the Secretary of State for the Colonies of the 31st August, 1872, forwarded for my report, that wherever in this Colony Letters Patent for inventions have been required by any person, a special Act of the Legislature granting the patent has been passed.

I am of opinion that legislation based on the suggestions of the 19th clause of the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Lords on Letters Patent would work well in this Colony, and be of considerable advantage in a variety of ways.

SIR,

Gibraltar, August 8, 1873.

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of copy of Report (H. C.) upon Letters Patent, ordered to be printed 8th May, 1872, and with reference to the 19th paragraph of that Report to acquaint you that no instance has ever occurred in this Colony of an application for a patent, and only two instances of applications for the extension to Gibraltar of the operation of patents granted in England. Both those applications were granted by Ordinances upon the recommendation of myself as Her Majesty's Attorney-General, I happening to be not unfamiliar with the nature of the inventions (electric telegraphy) referred to, and that those Ordinances were confirmed by the Queen.

I am of opinion that however desirable it may be to assimilate "the law and practice in regard to inventions amongst the various civilized countries of the world," I have great doubts whether such assimilated law and practice would be found capable of being successfully introduced into Gibraltar, the legal and scientific resources of which are so very limited, but should the arrangements contemplated by the House of Commons or any of them be found capable of being extended to Gibraltar, I should certainly advise His Excellency the Governor to concur in them.

My LORD,

Palace, Valetta, October 20, 1873.

WITH reference to your Lordship's Circular Despatches of the 31st August, 1872, and 24th June last, requesting to be furnished with the views of this Government on the 19th clause of the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Letters Patent for inventors, I have the honour to state that there is no Patent Law in Malta, and that the difficulty of finding persons competent to act as "skilled advisers," or to perform the duties mentioned in that Report, makes it very undesirable to introduce such a law into this Island.

As there can be no doubt that an assimilation of the law and practice in regard to inventions in the various civilized countries of the world is highly desirable, any rules which may be adopted in England for that purpose would gladly be given effect to in Malta. But persons desirous of obtaining protection in Malta for their inventions should apply to England for Letters Patent having the same force in Malta as in the United Kingdom.

IN reply to the Circular Despatch of the 19th June last, calling attention to one of the 31st August, 1872, having reference to the 19th clause of the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Letters Patent for inventions, I have the honour to enclose a Report from Mr. Mayne, Chief Magistrate of the Settlement, on the subject.

Chief Magistrate MAYNE to the ACTING ADMINISTRATOR.

SIR,

Lagos, September 19, 1873.

I HAVE the honour to report that as far as I know no question of patents has ever arisen in Lagos, nor is it, in my judgment, probable that such questions will arise for some time to come, if ever. I see no objection to allowing patents already registered elsewhere to be registered here as well. More than this would, I think, be unadvisable, and perhaps impracticable. If it were possible to take out patents here, a whole class of questions would arise with which it would be almost impossible for the Court, unassisted by the machinery of skilled witnesses and scientific experts, to deal in a satisfactory manner. The recognition of rights already established by competent authority elsewhere might be practicable; more, in my opinion, would not be.

Even with this limitation, it would, I think, be advisable to add a proviso that no patent so registered should be legally disputable at Lagos unless it had already been successfully disputed in a superior Court.

Governor Sir H. BARKLY, K.C.B., to The EARL OF KIMBERLEY.

Government House, Cape Town,
April 3, 1873.

MY LORD,

HAVING taken an opportunity of consulting my Responsible Advisers as to the question raised by your Lordship's Circular Despatch of the 31st August last, forwarding the Report of a Select Committee of the House of Commons on the Patent Law, it may be well that I should communicate their opinion without delay.

2. Whilst recommending that the Circular with its enclosure should be presented to Parliament at its ensuing Session, they fear that there are few members of either House who take any interest in the subject, and that the Government will not have sufficient leisure, from the press of other business, to enter into it fully, or propose definite resolutions thereon.

3. They assure me, however, that, after a careful perusal of the Report, they feel convinced that if a measure based thereon should be carried in the Imperial Parliament, there will be no difficulty in inducing the Cape Legislature to assimilate the colonial law and practice in regard to patents for inventions to the law and practice of the United Kingdom.

Government House, Natal,
January 6, 1873.

MY LORD,

Statement.
Nov. 16, 1873.

REFERRING to your Lordship's Circular Despatch of the 31st August last, on the subject of the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Letters Patent, I have the honour to acquaint you that I received it too late in the Session to be able to refer the matter with any advantage to the consideration of the Legislative Council, but I have no doubt that the Legislature of this Colony would readily concur in any international or intercolonial arrangements in relation to the subject.

2. I annex a Memorandum from the Attorney-General upon the question as it affects this Colony.

The Earl of Kimberley,
&c. &c. &c.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) A. MUSGRAVE,
Lieut.-Governor.

Enclosure in No. 18.

Attorney-General's Office, January 3, 1873.

Law No. 4, 1870, was passed and became the law of Natal in November, 1870.

Since then there have been deposited in this office sixteen provisional specifications; of these ten have lapsed, five patents were issued, and one specification is not yet disposed of. The fees received at the Treasury for the above-mentioned specifications and patents amounted to 37*l.* 10*s.*

The entire patent work under the above law is performed in this department, and the entire fees are paid into the Colonial Treasury.

I entirely concur in the Report of the Select Committee on Patents, and with submission remark on the 16th and 17th clauses thereof, as to how far the law of this Colony comes within the description of being defective, or would be affected by the proposed alterations.

16 (a). In this Colony the Attorney-General is compelled to issue a certificate for every provisional specification deposited in his office, and protection is thereby given for six months.

(c) There are no means nor facilities in Natal for ascertaining whether an invention is new.

(d) There have not been any proceedings in Natal between patentees and the public.

17 (a, b). I concur in these propositions, but I question if it is possible to obtain in Natal the competent authority described in Clause 6 of this Report; and whenever such a person be obtained, I question if it is right to expend the money required for that purpose, considering the very little revenue received in Natal under Patent Law.

(c) That is the law in Natal.

(d) There are no Commissioners of Patents in Natal, and the only case here which required the opinion of a jury is on the application for extension of Letters Patent.

(e) See remarks on paras. a, b, d.

(f) I entirely concur, subject to foregoing remarks.

(g) I concur.

(h) No such practice as that alluded to obtains here.

(i) This is a wise and prudent provision, but there are no Commissioners in Natal.

(j) No fees are received in Natal by the Law Officer concerned in the administration of the Patent Law.

18. As Commissioners are required, this is necessary, but I question the propriety of expending so much money upon such a purpose.

I beg leave to append a Report made by me on the Patent Law in 1870.

(Signed) M. H. GALLWEY,
Attorney-General.

STATEMENT ON LAW No. 4, 1870.

Attorney-General's Office, November 16, 1870.

A Bill was introduced by an Elective Member of the Legislative Council to secure patent rights to inventors; it was read a second time, referred to a Select Committee, and in that Committee there was substituted for it the present law, which is almost identically the same as a Bill introduced by the Government and rejected at a former Session, and which Bill was a copy of a Bill passed by the Cape Legislature in 1860.

Its object is, as stated in the preamble, to encourage the making of new and useful inventions by securing to their inventors for a limited time the exclusive enjoyment thereof.

It is framed on the same principles, and enacts as far as practicable for the Colony the provisions of the Imperial Act 15 and 16 Vict., c. 83.

This law does not provide for, and does not empower the Governor to create a Board of Commissioners, but imposes solely on this office the granting of certificates and the issuing of patents.

In the Cape the Colonial Secretary had imposed upon him the duty of performing those of the duties imposed on the Board of Commissioners by the Imperial Statute. Here, as at the Cape, the Attorney-General has no option, and must grant the certificate required on deposit of provisional and complete specification, and the issue of that certificate secures to the patentee during a period of six months the same privileges as might have been conferred by Letters Patent.

During this period the provisional specification may be amended, and after expiry of this period it becomes a complete specification.

By the fifth section it is enacted that the inventor may, instead of depositing a provisional specification, deposit a complete specification.

The sixth section provides against the deposit of specification invalidating any Letters Patent of the true and first inventor, in case of fraud.

The mode of proceeding to obtain Letters Patent is regulated by the two succeeding sections, and is as follows:—The applicant must give notice of his invention to the Attorney-General, who will thereupon fix a day for hearing such application, and issue a notice in terms of Schedule 2, so that any person having an adverse claim may lodge objections and oppose the applications.

Should the Attorney-General's decision be favourable to the applicant, a warrant is at length issued under his hand for the granting of Letters Patent, and the latter may then be made out under the Public Seal.

Cases in which the patentee is, from the amount of expenses incurred in perfecting the invention or protecting the patent right from infringement, or from other causes, unable to reap within the period to which his privilege is limited, a reward adequate to his labour and ingenuity, are provided for by Sections 22, 24, and 25, which provide (as in the Imperial Acts 5 and 6 Will. IV., c. 83; 2 and 3 Vict., c. 67; 7 and 8 Vict., c. 69, § 2–7) that a patentee may under such circumstances apply by petition to the Lieutenant-Governor for a prolongation of the existing term.

This petition may be referred to the Supreme Court for consideration, and the applicant, after giving due notice and advertisement as the law directs, may move the said Court thereon; and if upon consideration of the whole matter, and after hearing any party who may choose to enter a caveat, the Court shall report in favour of the applicant, the Lieutenant-Governor is empowered to grant to such patentee or to his assigns, or to both conjointly, as the case may be, new Letters Patent for any term not exceeding fourteen years after the expiration of the first.

If a patent right be infringed, the inventor has his remedy by action in the Supreme Court (vide § 32).

In addition to which it is provided (§ 31) as in 5 and 6 Will. IV., c. 83, § 7, that if any person shall without licence use the name, stamp, or mark of the patentee, he shall for every such offence forfeit the sum of 50*l*.

A proceeding for infringement only (and not for recovery of the penalty) may be resisted on the ground that the invention was not new, if the defendant shall have used the invention in Natal; but any defect or insufficiency of the specification or mis-description of the invention is not available ground of defence (§ 33), and the Court may (§ 34) in certain cases allow the specification to be amended.

A writ of scire facias lies for the repeal of any Letters Patent, as in England (§ 10 and § 35).

The 18th, 19th, and 20th sections provide for the entry of disclaimers.

The 38th section of the law is based upon the authority of the 18th section of the Imperial Statute.

I am of opinion that this law may properly receive the Royal assent.

(Signed) M. H. GALLWEY,
Attorney-General.

WITH reference to your Lordship's Circular Despatch, dated 31st August, forwarding a Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Letters Patent, and inviting any suggestions which the Legislature of this Colony may have to offer on the proposed assimilation in the law and practice in regard to inventions, I have the honour to report to your Lordship that the only local law in force in this Colony is contained in the Ordinance No. 3 of 1872, which provides that Letters Patent granted in the United Kingdom should have the same force and effect within this Island as they have in the United Kingdom. Enclosure in No. 20.

From QUEEN'S ADVOCATE to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Queen's Advocate's Office,
Colombo, October 25, 1873.

SIR,

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of the Circular Despatches from the Secretary of State of the 31st August, 1872, and 19th June, 1873, referred to me for report, together with the Report of the Select Committee on Letters Patent therewith forwarded.

I beg strongly to recommend that this Government should express its readiness to concur in arrangements for an assimilation in the law and practice in regard to inventions.

The only law bearing on the subject of patents in this Colony is Ordinance No. 6 of 1859, which follows principally the provisions of the Indian Patent Act. Copy of this Ordinance is herewith forwarded.

The 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th Articles of the Report of the Select Committee call for no comment.

Article 5. The principal defect of our Patent Law will be referred to in connection with Article 9.

Article 6. The applications for patents are referred for report to the two Crown Law Officers, associated with a third—a scientific, or chemical, or other authority, according to the nature of the subject. It is open, however, to the Governor and Council to refer applications to others who may be deemed more competent. It would be desirable to allow the tribunal in this Colony to refer questions of difficulty to the authority by whom applications are reported upon in England. The necessity for this provision should be kept in view in creating the tribunal in England.

Article 7. Very desirable.

Article 8. In most cases of patents for new articles of manufacture granted in this Colony, such articles are made in the United Kingdom, and brought out for sale here: we have no facilities for making them here. It would be well to define the authority who is to decide whether the supply is equal to the demand, and whether the terms are reasonable. I assume these details, as respects colonial patents, will be left to local legislation.

Article 9. There is a very great difference in the circumstances of the United Kingdom and of the Colonies, which should be borne in mind in connection with this provision. New inventions find their way very rapidly into England. The contrary is the case as respects this Colony at least. We are as much benefited, therefore, in granting a patent to the importer as to the inventor, and the qualifications recommended by Mr. Campion (Question 1264), to restrict the patent to the legal representative of the original inventor, and adopted by the Select Committee, will operate prejudicially as respects this Colony. The demand here of any invention is comparatively very limited, and an inventor or his privies may not wish to give themselves the trouble of applying for a fresh patent in this Colony. I would suggest that we should be allowed to make the following modification of this Article as respects this Colony.

(a) Patents duly issued elsewhere should be allowed to have force on a simple and inexpensive registration thereof by the inventor or his privies.

(b) No importer is to be allowed patent here unless he shall give six or twelve months' notice to the inventor or his privies of his intention to apply for the same at the end of the term, if such inventor or his privies shall not previously apply to register the invention in Ceylon.

Article 10 and 11.—No comment.

Article 12.—The tribunal will be the difficulty here. At present it is the District Court of Colombo. I should propose, in view of the complicated and difficult issues which arise in infringement of patent cases, and the very small number likely to arise (we have had only one since 1859) to substitute for the District Court the supreme Court, assisted by Assessors. But would it not be well to allow the Colonial tribunals, created for such cases, to take evidence, and refer very difficult questions to the Commission, to be created in England—if not for adjudication, at least for advice?

Articles 13, 14, 15.—No comment.

Articles 16, a, b, c.—The difficulties referred to have not been felt here.

(d) Very little time and trouble are required in order to get a patent here. The expense is only 25*l.*—10*l.* stamps; 15*l.* 15*s.* to the three referees.

Article 17.—No comment, so far as the provisions are likely to apply in this Colony.

Article 18.—No comment.

The Legislative Council will, I am sure, readily concur in adopting (subject to the observations offered above) the recommendation of the Report as a basis for legislation, in the event of such legislation being adopted by Her Majesty's Government.

I am, &c.,

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary,

In a place so small as this, and in many ways so peculiarly situated, the power of conferring patents for original inventions would be completely useless, and it would be impossible to obtain the necessary machinery, scientific and otherwise, to work a Patent Office.

Should the recommendations of the Select Committee be carried into effect, Ordinance 14 of 1862 might be amended, so as to extend its operations to patents granted elsewhere than in England. No other change would be useful.

Enclosure in No. 23.

REPORT of the LAW COMMITTEE ON CIRCULAR DESPATCH of the Right Hon. the SECRETARY of STATE for the COLONIES, dated 31st August, 1872, and RELATIVE REPORT of the SELECT COMMITTEE of the HOUSE of COMMONS ON LETTERS PATENT.

The Law Committee has attentively considered the Despatch of his Lordship the Secretary of State for the Colonies, dated 31st August, 1872, enclosing the report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Letters Patent, and expressing his Lordship's willingness to receive any suggestions which the Legislature of the Colony may have to offer on the subject, and desiring to be informed how far the Council thinks it practicable to adopt the recommendation of the Report as a basis for legislation in the event of such legislation being adopted by Her Majesty's Government.

The Law Committee begs to submit to the Council the following remarks upon the conclusions of the Report of the Select Committee:—

1°. The Law Committee accept the principles contained in the first four Resolutions of the Select Committee, and do not feel called upon to offer any remarks with regard thereto. Resolutions Nos. 1 and 4.

2°. The Patent Law in this Colony is contained in Ordinance No. 11 of 1835, which has never been subjected to amendment or revision. Your Committee are conscious of the imperfections and defects of that law, and would regard with satisfaction an Ordinance for the purpose of amending and supplementing the provisions of the law, especially with regard to the points hereinafter mentioned. Resolution No. 5.

3°. The existing Patent Law of the Colony contains no provisions for protection for a limited period being granted on an application accompanied by a provisional specification pending inspection of the provisional specification and examination of the merits of an alleged invention. Your Committee conceives that the introduction of the system of provisional specification and interim protection would prove beneficial, in affording to the public an additional guarantee against patents being improperly granted. Applications for Letters Patent and the relative specifications are in this Colony referred to the Procureur-General, and upon his report the application is granted or refused. Your Committee are conscious of the defects of this system, devolving as it does the duty of deciding upon the novelty and patentable nature of all inventions of whatever nature upon an officer who cannot be expected to possess the extensive and minute knowledge necessary for its efficient performance; while, however, they would be disposed to welcome any scheme transferring the duty of deciding upon applications for Letters Patent to any individual or body better qualified to discharge it, they are not prepared to suggest any or more "competent authority" to examine and decide upon such applications. Resolutions Nos. 6 and 7.

4°. Your Committee regard the principle enunciated in the 8th Resolution as one which it is desirable should be extended to the Colony, and are prepared to recommend the introduction in Letters Patent of a condition similar to that contained in paragraph g of the 17th Resolution of the Select Committee's Report. Resolutions Nos. 8 and 17 (§ g).

5°. Your Committee fully admit the equity of allowing the foreign inventor, or any one authorized by him, the option of claiming Letters Patent for his invention in this Colony, in preference to any third person. Under the existing law no such priority of claim is admitted, Letters Patent for the introduction of an invention being accorded (Ordinance No. 11 of 1835, Art. 1), at the discretion of the Governor, to those who may be "the first to introduce and put in practice in the Colony any invention or improvement discovered elsewhere." Your Committee are disposed to regard with favour an amendment of the law in this respect. Resolution No. 9.

6°. Your Committee acknowledge the justice of these Resolutions. At present patent duty, after defraying the expenses immediately connected with the issue of the Letters Patent, is placed at the credit of the general revenue of the Colony. No fees are payable to any officer for the duties discharged by him in connection with patents. Resolutions Nos. 10 and 11.

7°. The remaining conclusions of the Report, dealing as they do with the defects of the law existing in the United Kingdom, do not appear to the Committee to call for special remark. They desire, however, to express their opinion that the very small number of patents granted in this Colony, and the consequently insignificant amount of litigation affecting patent rights, render the conclusions of the Select Committee, so far as they bear upon the creation of a tribunal with a special constitution and procedure adapted to the decision of patent causes, inapplicable to the peculiar circumstances of the Colony, and the amendments suggested in this respect unnecessary and inexpedient. Resolution No. 12 et seq.

MY LORD,

WITH reference to your Lordship's Circular Despatch of the 31st August, 1872, inquiring how far the Colonial Governments are ready to concur in international arrangements for an assimilation in the law and practice in respect to protected inventions, I have the honour to inform your Lordship that I have referred the matter for the consideration of the Cabinet, and now enclose a Minute which I have received from the Colonial Secretary on the subject.

MINUTE FOR HIS EXCELLENCY.

May 16, 1873.

Referring to the Circular Despatch from the Right Honorable the Secretary of State, of August 31, 1872, transmitting Copy of Report of the House of Commons on the present state of the Patent Laws, and asking whether this Government concurs in the recommendation of international arrangements for the assimilation of the law and practice in respect to protected inventions, your Excellency's Advisers approve generally of the changes proposed by the Report of the Committee. They think it is very desirable that the law on this subject should be as general and uniform as possible, and they will be glad to assist in endeavouring to bring about such a result.

Ministers will take occasion at an early date to communicate their views on the subject more in detail.

In the meantime they enclose copies of Report of Select Committee of the Legislative Assembly on the state of the law in this Colony, and of Bill to amend the law, which was introduced, but not proceeded with, during the last Session.

This inquiry, and the Bill connected with it, both emanated from a private member of the Assembly, Mr. J. F. Burns.

REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE of the Legislative Assembly, appointed on the 19th November, 1872, with power to send for persons and papers,—to inquire into and report upon the Law in reference to Patents, with a view to the amendment thereof,—beg to report to your Honourable House:—

1. That the law is in an unsatisfactory state, and should be amended with as little delay as practicable, in order that a more exact and less expensive process than at present prevails for investigating and determining upon applications for patents may be adopted.

2. That the fees, and all charges connected with patents, ought to be fixed at rates no

3. That the system of Provisional Registration ought to be introduced.

4. That all business, and particularly records, connected with patents, ought to be entrusted to an officer of the Government, who should be easily accessible to the public.

5. That the assimilation of the Patent Laws of the Colonies is to be desired.

Your Committee are also of opinion that various suggestions made by the witnesses, and to be found in the evidence, as to matters of detail, are deserving of consideration.

Governor the Right Honourable the MARQUIS OF NORMANBY to The EARL of KIMBERLEY.

MY LORD, Government House, Brisbane, September 3, 1873.

I HAVE been requested by my Responsible Advisers to inform your Lordship in reply to the Circular Despatches, dated respectively 31st August, 1872, and 19th June last, that the same will be taken into consideration by the Government immediately, and an answer returned by the next mail.

2. The subject of Patents or Letters of Registration is now regulated in Queensland by an Old Statute of New South Wales, which must be repealed before a new system can be made available. AUSTRALIAN.

I have, &c.,

Governor the Right Honourable the MARQUIS OF NORMANBY to The EARL OF KIMBERLEY.

MY LORD,

Government House, Brisbane, September 26, 1873.

In continuation of my Despatch of 3rd September instant, I have now the honour to forward herewith for your Lordship's information a copy of a Minute of the Executive Council, embodying the views of my Government with respect to the 19th clause of the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Letters Patent for Inventions.

Sept. 25, 1873.

The Earl of Kimberley,
&c. &c. &c.

I have, &c.,

EXTRACT from the MINUTES of PROCEEDINGS of the EXECUTIVE COUNCIL of QUEENSLAND.

At the Government House, Brisbane, September 25, 1873.

PRESENT:—

HIS EXCELLENCY the GOVERNOR, in Council.

His Excellency the Governor at the instance of the Honourable the Attorney-General for the Honourable the Colonial Secretary, submits to the Council copy of a Circular Despatch of 19th June last, from the Secretary of State for the Colonies in reference to a former Circular Despatch of 31st August, 1872, relating to the 19th clause of the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons, on Letters Patent for Inventions.

The Honourable the Attorney-General further submits to the Council a Memorandum embodying the views of the Ministry on the subject.

The Council advise that the suggestions contained in the Memorandum be adopted, and that a copy thereof be forwarded to His Excellency the Governor, with a request that His Excellency be pleased to cause the same to be transmitted for the information of the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

A. V. DRURY,
Clerk of the Council.

MEMORANDUM from the Honourable the ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The whole of the Patent Law of this Colony is contained in a short Statute of six sections, passed in 1852, in New South Wales, to the following effect:—

Letters of Registration for seven or fourteen years may be granted for the exclusive enjoyment and advantage of any inventions or improvements in arts or manufactures, upon the petition of the author or designer of the invention or improvement, or his agent or assignee.

The petition must set forth that the petitioner is the author or designer, or the agent or assignee of the author or designer—must “specify the particulars of the invention or improvement,” and that he has deposited the necessary fee of 20*l*.

The Governor may then refer the petition to one or more competent person or persons to examine and consider the matters stated in such petition and to report thereon.

If the Report is favourable to the prayer of the petition, the Governor in Council may, and in fact always does, grant the letters of registration applied for.

These letters are assignable and may be repealed by “Scire Facias,” and subject the granter to no further charge beyond the Government fee of 20*l*.

The protection given by these Letters of Registration extends only to the Colony of Queensland, and as the adoption of some such international arrangements as are suggested in the Report would obviously be a benefit to local inventors, the Ministers express their readiness at the proper time to invite the concurrence of the Legislature to the proposal.

AUSTRALIAN.

The recommendations of the Committee as contained in Resolution 17 of their Report, appear to be in advance of the circumstances of so new a country as Queensland is at the present time, but the Ministry are of opinion that they may be allowed to form the basis of the required legislation if power is reserved to modify them in cases where their elaborate character would render them prohibitory to inventors.

September 25, 1872.

JOHN BRAMSTON,
Attorney-General.

Governor DU CANE to The EARL OF KIMBERLEY.

Government House, Tasmania,
December 26, 1873.

MY LORD,

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your Lordship's Circular Despatch of the 19th of June last, calling my attention to a previous Circular Despatch of the 31st of August, 1872, with reference to the 19th clause of the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Letters Patent for Inventions, and requesting me to communicate any observations or suggestions which my Government may have to offer on the subject.

2. I have referred your Lordship's Despatches to my Responsible Advisers, and it is the opinion of the Attorney-General that there would not be any difficulty in adopting in Tasmania the principles advocated by the Committee in their Report in the event of those principles receiving legislative sanction in England. The number of patents taken out in Tasmania is small, and there is no great inducement to an inventor to incur the expense of protecting his invention in a limited population. It would not, therefore, be desirable or practicable to create any expensive official machinery for the granting of patents, but the simple modes already possessed can be made available to further the views expressed by the Select Committee.

The Earl of Kimberley,

MY LORD,

Adelaide, February 27, 1873.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your Lordship's Despatch, Circular 2, of the 31st August, 1872, and to inform you in reply that I have referred it to my Ministers, who have intimated to me that the subject of the assimilation of the law and practice with regard to inventions has been under the consideration of the Intercolonial Conference, lately held at Sydney, when it was resolved that it was expedient that there should be uniform legislation throughout Australasia with regard to patents, the Law Officers of Victoria being requested to prepare a Bill on the subject for general adoption.

2. In any legislation on the subject, I have no doubt that the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons (pp. 193, Session 1872) and its recommendations, together with your Lordship's Despatch, will receive the attentive consideration of Parliament.

3. A copy of your Lordship's Despatch will be laid before Parliament on its reassembling.

Governor WELD to The EARL OF KIMBERLEY.

Government House, Perth,
September 4, 1873.

MY LORD,

IN reference to your Lordship's Circular Despatches of the 19th June, 1873, and 31st August, 1873, on the subject of Letters Patent for inventions, I have the honour to inform you that I delayed replying to the former Circular till the Session of the Legislative Council, when I laid a copy of the Circular, with its enclosures, on their table. No expression of opinion was, however, elicited, and I now do myself the honour to say that my Executive Council agree with me in complete concurrence in the opinion expressed in the 19th clause of the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons.

2. In the event of legislation by the British Parliament, I shall be prepared to propose, and I have no reason to doubt but that the Legislature of this Colony will adopt, such measures as may become necessary to secure that uniformity which appears so desirable.

I have, &c.,

Governor Sir G. F. BOWEN, G.C.M.G., to The EARL OF KIMBERLEY.

Government House, New Zealand,
February 12, 1873.

MY LORD,

1. ADVERTING to your Lordship's Circular Despatch of the 31st August ultimo, respecting a certain recommendation in the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons upon the Patent Laws, I have the honour, at the request of my Responsible Advisers, to transmit herewith a Ministerial Memorandum, and an opinion of the Attorney-General of New Zealand.

Enclosure in No. 31.

Memorandum for His Excellency.

Wellington, 12th February, 1873.

Ministers forward to his Excellency a copy of the Attorney-General's opinion as to the desirability and the effect of adopting in New Zealand the suggestions contained in the last paragraph of the Report of the Committee of the House of Commons upon the Patent Laws.

With that opinion they generally agree; but they fear that the practical difficulties in bringing about and giving effect to an international law of patent right are so great as to be really insurmountable.

(Signed) G. M. WATERHOUSE.

AUS-TRALIAN.

Sub-Enclosure in Enclosure No. 31.

Feb. 6, 1873.

If the practice in force in New Zealand were adopted in Great Britain and elsewhere, an international patent would in effect exist.

By the law of New Zealand, the holder of any foreign patent may apply for Letters of Registration, and on payment of a fee such Letters of Registration are thereupon granted to the applicant on proving that he is the holder of the patent, and that it is in force; and such Letters have in New Zealand the force of a patent during the term for which the registered patent continues, according to the law of the country where it is granted.

If the countries of Europe, America, and Australasia were agreed as to the question whether the protection of a patent ought in all or in what cases to be given, I apprehend there would not be much difficulty in agreeing that the mode of procedure in obtaining the patent, and the effect when obtained, should be the same in all countries.

I apprehend that it would be necessary to provide that, notwithstanding the grant of the patent, the Courts of each country should have the power of avoiding it, for cause, within its jurisdiction, at any rate within a fixed time after registration and publication in that jurisdiction.

This would be, no doubt, more necessary with regard to patents granted in small communities, for with regard to such the probabilities of granting a patent where one already exists, would be greater than in larger communities, where more efficient means for guarding against this can be taken.

As, however, the question of international copyright with regard to books has not yet been settled, and as the practical difficulties are with regard to international copyright much less than with regard to patents, it seems questionable whether the object proposed is at present capable of being attained.

REPORTS from BOROUGH AUTHORITIES in England and Wales relating to the LICENSING ACT, 1872.

ENGLAND AND WALES.

NAMES OF BOROUGH S, &c.	As to Hours of Opening and Closing.			Grocers having Licenses for the Sale of Wines or Spirits.		Has Spirit Drinking Increased; if so, is such Increase to be traced to the Facilities afforded by the Sale by Grocers of Spirits in Bottle?	Would there be any Objection to placing to the Grant of Licenses, on the same Conditions as to Magisterial Approval as other Licensed Houses?	Do you think that Curtailing the Hours has led to Drinking in Unlicensed Premises, and that the Large Increase reported in the Cases of Drunkenness arises from this Cause?
	Are those Fixed by the Act in Force in the Borough?	Has any Expression of Public Opinion taken place against the Restrictions as to Hours?	Do they reasonably satisfy the Wants of the Inhabitants, or is an Extension of Hours desirable?	Present Number of above.	Increase since August 1872.
Aberavon	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	It is believed they do, and that an extension of hours is undesirable.	2	None	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	- - No.
Aberystwith	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	They do; an extension is certainly not desirable here.	7	4	The Mayor is not aware that spirit drinking has increased.	It is believed that there would be no objection, but nothing has occurred in this town which would make an alteration of the law desirable.	It is thought that curtailing the hours has not led to drinking in un- licensed premises.
Abingdon	- - Fixed by the magistrates. Open at 6 a.m.; close at 12 p.m.	- - No - -	Yes; no extension desired, except on very special occasions.	6	None	- - No - -	- - Yes - -	- - No.
Andover	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	- - Yes - -	6	2	- - No - -	They are now subject to magisterial approval.	No. No large increase here; rather less.
Ashton-under-Lyne	- - Yes; with the exception that on week days the houses open at 7 instead of 6 o'clock.	None, as the hours now stand.	The inhabitants seem quite satisfied now.	2	None	Owing to the good times and high wages, there is still much drinking; but it is thought that grocers' licenses have a tendency to lessen our drinking, and that they should be encouraged.	It is thought that no further restriction should be imposed upon them.	It is believed that the curtailment of the hours has not led to drinking in unlicensed premises, but, on the contrary, that but for the very high wages which have been paid since the Act was passed, drunkenness would have been materially diminished. The public-houses have been much better conducted since the passing of the Act.
Basingstoke	- - Yes - -	- - None - -	Yes, to the first part of this query, and No, to the second.	6	2	The Mayor does not think that spirit drinking has increased.	It is thought not - -	No. It is thought that the increase of wages to the labouring classes, has been a cause of increasing drunkenness.

Bath, City	Yes; open at 6 a.m. and closed at 11 p.m.	By the publicans only.	They satisfy the inhabitants generally, and an extension of hours as a rule is not desirable.	24	9	The convictions for drunkenness before the magistrates have not increased, but there is ground to fear that the grocers selling spirits conduce to social tipping among women.	No; except that no drinking should be allowed on the premises.	The Mayor is not aware that there are any unlicensed premises in this city.
Battley	Yes	No	Yes; no wish to extend the hours; rather to shorten.	Grocers 2 Chemists 2 Confectioners 1	No	If there be any increase, it is attributable to this cause.	No	Yes. A great deal of drinking does take place on unlicensed premises by people of a certain class.
Berwick-on-Tweed	Yes	No	Yes; extension not desirable.	8	1	Yes; not from the cause here mentioned, but it is believed from the high wages and short hours of labour enjoyed by the labouring classes.	No objection	Yes; to some extent.
Beverley	Yes	No	Yes; no extension is desired or desirable.	3 or 4	None	Not apparently, but it is possible that increased facilities for the procuring of spirits by women of the middle class may have led them to drink more.	No	Curtailing the hours has led to a decrease of cases of drunkenness coming under the cognizance of the police. But a Saturday half-holiday and high wages have combined to increase alcohol drinking among the working class. It is believed that there is no drinking on unlicensed premises in the borough.
Bewdley	Yes	No	Yes; no complaints have been made.	1	Nil	It is thought not, and it will be seen that there is only one licensed grocer.	None	No.
Bideford	They are	No	They do; an extension is not desirable, it being thought that neither the public nor the innkeepers wish it.	2	No increase	It is thought not	No	It is believed that drunkenness has decreased in this borough since the Act has been in operation.
Birmingham	Yes	No	Yes; no extension desirable.	Only two grocers in Birmingham obtain licenses from the justices for the sale of spirits, and one for the sale of wines only. The other grocers who sell wines and spirits obtain a wholesale license from the Excise at a cost of about 10 l. each. No record is kept in the Inland Revenue Office of grocers' licenses to sell wines and spirits as distinct from other persons.			No	Not with us. No; good wages and general prosperity.

NAMES OF BOROUGH, &c.	As to Hours of Opening and Closing.			Grocers having Licenses for the Sale of Wines or Spirits.		Has Spirit Drinking Increased; if so, is such Increase to be traced to the Facilities afforded by the Sale by Grocers of Spirits in Bottle?	Would there be any Objection to placing Grocers, with respect to the Grant of Licenses, on the same Conditions as to Magisterial Approval as other Licensed Houses?	Do you think that Curtailing the Hours has led to Drinking in Unlicensed Premises, and that the Large Increase reported in the Cases of Drunkenness arises from this Cause?

Blackburn	- - Yes - -	The temperance supporters desire further restriction; the licensed trade wish for an extension of hours. The general public have not expressed any opinion.	They do - - -	3	1	Unquestionably the grocers' licenses increased house drinking, but as there are only three such places in this borough, they do not visibly affect the question.	If continued at all, they should be under the same restrictions as other licensed houses.	Curtailing the hour has no doubt led to more drinking in unlicensed premises, though drunkenness in this borough has not been on the increase in comparison with the increase of the population.
Bodmin	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	Yes; by no means desirable.	2	None	No difference perceived	- - Yes - -	No. The increase of drunkenness is owing to the increase of wages amongst the labouring classes.
Bolton	- - Yes - -	Immediately after the passing of the Act of 1872, an open air meeting (public) was held and a majority were in favour of the hours fixed by the Act.	Yes; no extension of time being desirable except on particular occasions, such as anniversaries, dinners, &c.	7	None	An opinion cannot be given, as there are no statistics to prove this.	- - No - -	There has been a decrease of drunkenness here.
Boston	- - Yes - -	The licensed victuallers have memorialised the magistrates to extend the hours.	They reasonably satisfy the wants of the inhabitants. No extension of hours desirable.	7	No increase.	Spirit drinking has not increased.	- - No - -	No; there is not any drinking in unlicensed houses in this borough.
Bradford	The hours fixed for opening are 12.30 p.m. to 2.30 p.m., and 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Sundays. All other days 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. Occasional licenses are freely granted under the Act when occasion requires.	The hours as fixed meet with general approval. But the vice of permissive legislation is, that it subjects justices to unfair attacks, and makes the law a matter of geography. The hours ought to be fixed by Statute.	Yes; any extension of hours is thought to be undesirable.	20	10	These places afford facilities for secret drinking by females, who have been known to obtain drink and have it charged for as groceries in their account.	The grocers ought in all respects to be made subject to the justices in the same way as people who sell beer by retail.	The Mayor thinks the increase of drunkenness arises more from improved incomes than from any other cause. There is more drinking in unlicensed houses than formerly, and the police powers require strengthening; for instance, in being relieved from actual proof of drinking, and in being able to arrest persons found participating.

Bridgnorth	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	6	2	Yes; especially among the women. This is possibly owing to the facilities afforded by the sale of spirits by grocers.	None	No increase of wages has led to drunkenness.
Bridgewater	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	4	4	Yes; an extension of one hour on special occasions is given.	They ought to be placed in all respects the same.	Not in this town or borough.
Bridport	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	4	1	Yes; the bench of magistrates, whether they approved or not of the restriction, thought the Act ought to have a fair trial.	None; on the contrary, it is thought it would be desirable.	The Mayor does not think so, nor that there has been any increase of drunkenness here, but it has led to formation of clubs, and will do so still more if the hours are not extended.
Brighton	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	107	12	6 a.m. till 11 p.m.	-	It is not thought so.
Bristol, City	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	77	46	Yes; the town clerk does not think an extension of hours desirable.	The Mayor thinks that, considering the inducement which the facilities now granted to grocers offer for the consumption of spirits, grocers, as regards the grant of licenses, should be subject to the same magisterial approval as other licensed houses.	It is quite certain that the curtailing the hours has not led to any diminution in cases of public drunkenness. The licensed victuallers of Bristol are, as a trade, an extremely well conducted body, and, although most of them object to the present hours of closing, they conform most readily, as a rule, to the existing regulations.
Buckingham	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	2	Nil	Yes; except on special occasions an extension of the hours is not desirable here.	-	No.

Bury St. Edmunds	- - Yes - -	At the last annual licensing sessions, a memorial by the publicans for an extension of the hours of closing was presented, and a counter memorial on the part of the public was also produced, when the justices decided to adhere to the hours of the Act.	It is believed they do, and no extension is desirable unless it be from six to five o'clock in the morning. But it is doubted even if any real necessity exists for this.	One of whom is a publican. 2 only sell spirits; the others sell sweet wines.	None	It is believed that there has been no increase.	The Mayor is not aware of any objection.	It is thought that curtailing the hours has led to drinking in unlicensed premises. No case of drunkenness in unlicensed premises has been brought before this bench of magistrates.
Cambridge	The hours fixed by the Act have been extended by the magistrates, for week-days till 12 midnight; the hours are, therefore, now,—Sundays, 12.30 to 2.30; 6 to 10; week-days, 5 a.m. to 12 p.m.	Yes; the hours fixed by the Act were memorialised against, and the magistrates granted relief; recently a public meeting, called by the teetotallers to advocate total closing on Sunday, has passed a vote for extending the hour of closing on Sunday.	As extended to midnight they are perfectly satisfactory, and reasonably satisfy the wants of the inhabitants.	8	4	The consumption of wines and spirits has probably increased, but not drunkenness.	- - No - -	No case of selling on unlicensed premises has taken place within this town; and the cases of reported drunkenness show a slight decrease. The highest ratio of drunken cases occurs early in the day and evening; very few after 10 o'clock at night, although public-houses remain open as per Column 1.
Canterbury, City	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	There are various opinions.	-	-	No doubt about it -	It is thought there would be.	It is very likely to be so, but cannot say for certain.
Cardiff	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	Yes; as to satisfying the wants of inhabitants, and no extension of hours is desirable.	8	None	Spirit drinking has not increased, in consequence of facilities afforded by the Act of 1872, or by sales by grocers, but rather to the increased rate of wages paid to artisans and labouring classes generally.	- - None - -	The curtailment has no doubt led to drinking in unlicensed houses, and it is believed that this arises in a great measure from wholesale dealers licensed by the Inland Revenue retailing in small quantities from their carts; a practice which it is difficult to detect and prevent.

	Are these Fixed by the Act in Force in the Borough?	Has any Expression of Public Opinion taken place against the Restrictions as to Hours?	Do they reasonably satisfy the Wants of the Inhabitants, or is an Extension of Hours desirable?	Present Number of above.	Increase since August 1872.
Colchester	Yes; from 5 a.m. to 11 a.m., with occasional hour on application to Bench.	Two petitions were sent round, one for and one against the Act. The magistrates authorised opening at 5 a.m. till 11 p.m.	- - Yes - -	7	None	The Mayor cannot answer this question; but as far as he knows, and after making inquiries he does not think there is any serious increase in the borough; at all events no increased number of cases came before the magistrates.	- - None - -	It has not been ascertained that such is the case.
Congleton	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	No; an extension of one hour would satisfy.	10	None	- - - -	- - No - -	- - Yes.
Coventry, City	- - Yes - -	To a certain extent by the proprietors, tenants, and persons interested in licensed houses, and a limited number of their customers, but the general public are content.	It is thought so; but it would be more tolerable if occasional indulgences granted by the sitting magistrates could be given by the nominal fee of 1s., all such indulgences to be endorsed on the license, merely as record for the year to prevent too frequent application being solicited.	9	None	The Mayor is inclined to think it has, and is of opinion that females purchasing spirits at grocers should not have less than a full bottle, but is under the impression that grocers retail as little as half a pint, which appears to be an evil to the housewife when purchasing her grocery for the week's consumption.	The opinion is that they ought to be under the same conditions as regular licensed houses.	No doubt to a certain extent it is so, and the Mayor is of opinion that "Seine drunkenness" has increased in manufacturing districts before the hours of closing, caused to a great extent by the late prosperity of the working classes, which has induced more lavish expenditure and waste of time.
Darlington	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	They do satisfy the wants of the inhabitants. Public feeling would be strongly opposed to an extension of the hours.	14	1	It is believed that spirit drinking has increased, and that the increase may in great measure be traced to the facilities afforded by the sale by grocers of spirits in bottle.	No; some advantages might arise.	It is not thought that curtailment of the hours has led to drinking on unlicensed premises. The increase in drunkenness principally arises from the facilities for buying from the grocers, the high rate of wages, and increase of population.

Deal	The present hours are from 5 o'clock in the morning to 11.30 at night.	Not since the extension	The present hours are quite to the satisfaction of the inhabitants.	11 grocers, 4 other trades.	1 decrease.	It has increased, and no doubt as the number of licenses increase, so will spirit drinking increase. Women have been known to obtain spirits at the grocers, and have it placed in account as grocery to deceive their husbands.	There would no objection	Not to any extent in this Borough.
Denbigh	On Sunday, Christmas Day, and Good Friday, public-houses are closed, except between 12.30 and 2.30, and 6 to 9 o'clock; on other days the houses are open at 7 a.m., and close at 11 p.m.	The general expression of public opinion is in favour of closing at 11 p.m. on week days. There is a feeling that the houses should be closed on Sundays during church and chapel time, say from 6 to 8.	-	3	-	The opinion is generally opposed to grocers being allowed to sell spirits. Grocers should attend to their own trade.	-	It is not thought that curtailing the hours has led to persons purchasing spirits and drinking in unlicensed premises.
Derby	-	-	Inhabitants satisfied; no extension desirable.	31	13	-	-	No doubt there is some drinking in private houses, in consequence of the public-houses being closed earlier than formerly, but the increase of drunken cases reported arises from the fact that when persons become drunk, the keepers of public-houses turn them out into the street, instead of allowing them to remain in their houses, as formerly.
Devizes	-	-	Yes; an extension of hours is desirable as to dinner parties, &c., and should be easily had.	5	None	It has increased, and many persons think by the facilities afforded as mentioned above.	It is thought not	It is presumed not. The greatest blow to drunkenness would be strictness as to landlords' selling to persons the worse for liquor.
Devonport	-	-	The Mayor is satisfied, and the inhabitants generally approve the present arrangements, and that any extension of time would be mischievous.	6	None	Nothing has been observed to cause an impression that spirit drinking has increased.	The Mayor's opinion is certainly in favour of there being no distinction made between the two classes.	- No.
Dewsbury	-	-	The regulations as to time of closing are satisfactory to the public generally.	1	None	It is believed not	It is thought not	- No.

Doncaster	Open at 6 a.m., close at 11 during the week, and on Sunday night at 10 p.m.	- - None	The great bulk of the inhabitants are satis- fied.	Grocers and con- fectioners, 13.	One fresh license, and one disconti- nued.	It is not believed that spirit drinking has in- creased, or that the sale by grocers has had any injurious effects.	There seems to be no ne- cessity to make any alteration in the present arrangements.	No. The increase is caused by persons being sum- moned by the police for drunkenness; they were only summoned before the Licensing Act when disorderly.
Dorchester	- - Yes - -	- - None	Yes; and no extension is required.	1	-	There is no reason to sup- pose that spirit drink- ing has increased here by the sale by grocers of spirits in bottle.	The Mayor does not see any objection to placing the grant of licenses to grocers on the same con- ditions as other licensed houses.	The curtailling of the hours has not led to drinking in unlicensed premises here, and the police re- cords show a reduction in the vice of drunkenness since the Act of 1872.
Dover	No, except Sundays; 11.30 p.m. other days.	- - No	On week-days, Yes. On Sundays to close at 10.30 p.m.	17	3	- - No	- - No	No. Reported cases of drunkenness not in- creased.
Droitwich	- - Yes - -	- - No	Yes, to the first propo- sition.	4	1	There is no sensible in- crease of intemperance.	None whatever; on the contrary, such an ar- rangement is in every way desirable.	There is no doubt that the limitation of the hours of licensing has led to a great amount of drink- ing upon unlicensed pre- mises.
Dudley	They are - -	- - None	They do - -	4	1	Drinking has increased, but is not traceable to the facilities afforded by the sale at the gro- ceries.	It is believed there would not be any such objec- tion, except from the licensed victuallers.	It is not thought that cur- tailing the hours has led to more drinking on un- licensed premises, or in- crease of drunkenness arises from that cause. Since the passing of the Intoxicating Liquor (Li- censing) Act, simple drunkenness has been more noticed than for- merly by the police, hence one of the causes of the apparent increase of drunkards.

Dunstable	Yes; nor have they been exceeded for any special purpose, not even for the Mayor's banquet.	Not any	They do; certainly not	1 Sweets 3	Not any	The Mayor has reason to think it has among women; many would buy at a grocers who would not be seen entering a public-house.	No; it is considered that it would be an improvement.	Certainly not. No case has been brought before the Mayor of the kind, nor any premises suspected.
Durham, City	Yes	None	They reasonably satisfy the wants of the inhabitants; no extension is necessary.	3	1	No	None	It is not thought that curtailing the hours has led to drinking in unlicensed premises. The increase of drinking arises from the increase of wages in labour, and particularly in the coal mines and iron districts.
East Retford	Yes	No	Yes; no extension required.	9	None	No increase from the above cause.	In this borough the grocers are now on the same conditions.	Increased drinking in unlicensed premises not known, and magisterial cases have not arisen.
Evesham	Yes	No public expression of opinion against.	Yes	6	No	It has not increased.	Unable to give any opinion.	There has been no increase of drunkenness in this borough since the Act came in force.
Exeter, City	Yes	No actual expression of general public opinion, but a memorial by the licensed victuallers to the Bench of Magistrates, which was refused.	The extension is not desired by the public generally.	13	9	Difficult to ascertain if any increase has taken place. In Exeter the lower classes generally prefer beer to spirits. There is but little dram-drinking.	No objection; it would be most desirable. Refreshment houses ought to be placed on the same footing as beershops with respect to the grant of licenses.	No. The causes of an increase in the number of cases of drunkenness coming before the Exeter justices are, that from the uniform hours of closing, drunken persons are seen in the streets at one time, and from an augmentation of the police force more cases are discovered than heretofore. It is not thought that more drunkenness prevails.
Eye	Yes	No	The reasonable wants of the inhabitants are satisfied.	2	1	It has not increased	Grocers cannot now obtain a retail Excise license without a justice's certificate.	It has not led to drinking in unlicensed premises in this town. There is no increase in drunkenness here.
Falmouth	Yes, except in the case of two houses which open at 5 a.m. for the 6 summer months, at 6 a.m. for the remainder of the year.	No	The wants of the inhabitants in this respect are fully met, and no extension of hours is desirable.	2 grocers	No increase	Spirit-drinking has not increased.	No	No.
Faversham	Yes	No	They do satisfy the wants of the inhabitants; an extension of hours is not desirable.	10	1	No	Yes	No.

Flint	The hours fixed at present are, week days, 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.; Sundays, 12.30 to 2.30, and 6 to 9 evening.	- - No - -	Yes; and the extension of hours is not desirable; on the contrary, we hope to reduce them with the assent of the more respectable publicans.	None	None	No, it has not increased, except what is natural from increase of population.	Great objection; it would make the drunkenness of the women greater.	No; and drunkenness has not increased, rather the contrary, but from what cause is not known.
Folkestone	No; the hour of opening is 5 a.m., and the hour of closing is 12 p.m., daily, Sunday excepted, on which day the hours fixed by the Act are in force.	On the occasion of the Act coming into force, representations were made to the Justices which induced them to extend the hours of opening and closing.	The extension of hours satisfy the wants of the inhabitants.	9	2	Spirit drinking has not increased in this borough since the passing of the Act.	- - None - -	As the hours have not been curtailed in this borough, the mayor is unable to answer this question, but adds that the extension of hours has not led to any increase of drunkenness here.
Gateshead	Open at 7 and close at 11.	- - None - -	The public seem perfectly satisfied; the publicans have not complained.	2	No increase.	The great evil of the sale by grocers is that females are much tempted, and drunkenness is increasing amongst them in many places, but this borough is an exception as there are only two houses.	This course is very desirable.	Not aware of one unlicensed house in the town.
Glossop	- - Yes - -	None whatever - -	People appear to be satisfied.	One, having two shops in different parts of the town.	1	Spirit drinking has increased, undoubtedly, during the last few years, but cannot trace it at all to the above cause, as there are only two grocers' shops where they are sold.	- - No - -	There is a great difference of opinion about this; some think it has, others think it has not made much difference here.
Gloucester, City	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	Quite satisfactory	18	9	Doubtful	- - No - -	No; the large increase in drinking is on account of the advance of wages to the ignorant and lower classes of working men, and the temptations offered by the low public houses generally.

Gravesend	Yes, and acted upon	None; either by publicans or others.	They do; no extension desirable.	20	None	Spirit drinking has not increased in Gravesend to the knowledge of the magistrates.	No objection, and grocers should be placed under the same conditions as to magisterial approval as other licensed houses.	It is believed it has not to the knowledge of the magistrates.
Great Yarmouth	Yes; except that the hours are 5 in the morning the whole year, and 12 p.m. during the months of June, July, August, and September, Sunday excepted.	Only by licensed victuallers.	Yes; except the summer months.	21	Nil	It has not increased	Yes; there would be great objections on the part of the grocers.	- No.
Great Grimsby	The hours fixed are in force for the borough, except Sunday nights, when they close one hour earlier, viz., at 9 o'clock.	- No - -	No extension is desirable	1	None	Spirit drinking has not increased.	Grocers should be placed on the same conditions as to magisterial approval as other licensed houses.	Curtailing the hours has not led to drinking in unlicensed premises.
Guildford	- Yes - -	- No - -	- Yes - -	15	4	- No - -	- None - -	- No.
Halifax	- Yes - -	- None - -	The majority of the inhabitants appear contented, therefore an extension of time is not desirable.	4	Nil	It is evident spirit drinking has increased, but the class of persons so using are those who would not be likely to frequent public houses.	All persons engaged in this traffic should have magisterial approval.	The Government Returns show an increase. This is chiefly attributable to the increase of means of the labouring classes, the increased vigilance of the police, and the powers given to them by the Act. The shortened hours causes the publican to push his trade, especially about closing time. There may be a little drinking on unlicensed premises, but not to a serious extent.
Hanley and Shelton	- Yes - -	- No - -	They satisfy the wants of the inhabitants generally; occasional extensions are desirable.	2	No	Unable to say	It is thought not	- No.
Harwich	Yes; except as to other days than Sundays, Christmas Days, and Good Fridays, when houses can be opened at 5 o'clock in the morning.	- No - -	They reasonably satisfy the wants of the inhabitants.	4	None	Believed not to have increased.	Not aware of any	Have no reason to suppose that drinking in unlicensed premises has increased, and that there does not appear to be any increase of drunkenness in this borough.
Hastings	Yes; four houses near the market excepted, which open at 5 a.m.	- No - -	Yes; the wants are reasonably satisfied; no extension of hours required.	15	4	- No - -	- None - -	No; latterly drunkenness has decreased.

Helston	No: the hours for opening and closing are from 6 to 10 on week days, and for closing on Sundays at 9 p.m.	The publicans protested against the early closing on Sundays at the adjourned licensing meeting, and there was a strong feeling of sympathy with them by many of the inhabitants.	The hours fixed by the Act would be satisfactory.	2	None	No	There would be no objection.	Not in this borough.
Hereford	Yes	No	Yes; the present hours are generally deemed satisfactory.	8	No new license since 1872.	There is no reason to suppose that there is any increase.	Licenses for sale of spirits off the premises ought not to be subject to the same conditions as for sale on the premises.	There has been no case of drinking in unlicensed premises; the superintendent's annual report states a decrease in drunkenness.
Hertford	Yes	Extra hours are often asked for and granted.	They think the hours should be from 6 in the morning till 12 in the evening.	—	—	—	—	—
Huddersfield	Yes	No	Yes; they appear satisfied, except that on Saturdays an extension up to 12 mid-night is sometimes suggested by people attending the late provision markets.	9	2	Not increased here, so far as can be ascertained.	Grocers' license for spirits, wine, and beer, ought to be granted on the same conditions as other licensed houses by the Justices.	Not in this town.
Ipswich	Yes	No	They reasonably satisfy the wants of the inhabitants, except as to the early hours in particular cases. 5 a.m. might be substituted for 6 a.m. for opening.	8	—	It is thought not	Only on the part of the grocers.	No.

Kendal	-	-	-	-	-	No; except on the occasion of balls at Christmas, if the Magistrates fix the hour for closing earlier than 4 a.m.	They satisfy the inhabitants; an extension is not desired.	11	Decrease of 1.	Spirits not generally drunk of late years; drinking amongst women has increased, probably owing to present facilities of getting liquor.	If doing so will curtail the number of such shops, there would be an advantage in magisterial control.	Curtailing the hours further than those fixed by the Act, viz., closing at 9 and 10 o'clock is a mistake, and leads to drinking at home, especially on Sunday. It would be better not to curtail the hours beyond the Act during the week, but to close the whole on Sunday. High wages has increased the amount of drunkenness generally. The streets are quieter during the night than before the Act.
Kidderminster	-	-	-	-	-	No	It is thought the reasonable wants of the inhabitants are satisfied, and that no extension of hours is desirable.	4	None	Spirit drinking may have increased, but it is thought it is not to be attributed to the sale by grocers.	- No	Probably the curtailing the hours has to some extent led to drinking in unlicensed premises, but it is not believed that the large increase reported in the cases of drunkenness arises from this cause.
King's Lynn	-	-	-	-	-	No	Yes	2	None	- No	- No	The restriction has led to increased private drinking, and the increase of drunkenness greatly arises from this cause.
Kingston-upon-Hull	-	-	-	-	-	No; the Magistrates of the borough have fixed the following hours: closed on Sundays before 12-30 p.m., between 2-30 p.m. and 6 p.m., and after 9 p.m. Closed on all other days (except Christmas-day and Good Friday) before 7 a.m. and after 10-30 p.m. Closed on Christmas-day and Good Friday by Act, as on Sundays.	The majority of the inhabitants approve of the restriction. The Mayor's opinion is, that the hours fixed by the Act would be preferable to those in force in this borough.	13	4	Spirit drinking has increased considerably, but this is attributable to the increased wages obtained by the working classes, and is not to be ascribed to the facilities suggested.	All licenses of persons engaged in the sale of spirits, &c., should be subject to the same authority.	The restriction has led to increased private drinking, and the increase of drunkenness greatly arises from this cause.
Kingston-on-Thames	-	-	-	-	-	No	They do, and it is not considered that any extension of hours is desirable. All licensed houses should be opened and closed at one time.	7	None	No appreciable increase	Decidedly not; on the contrary, it is desirable that the change should be made, and that the hours of sale should be restricted.	The Mayor has no knowledge of any such increase, and believes that the curtailing of the hours has led to marked improvement, and further is strongly of opinion that special occasional licenses for extension of hours should be placed in the hands of the Magistrates instead of the Metropolitan Police, as in this borough.

Lancaster	Yes; except on week days, when they open at 7 a.m.	- - No - -	Yes; the inhabitants are quite satisfied.	5	Decrease 7	Yes; but not by the sale through grocers.	No; it would be very desirable.	It did at first, but has now ceased. The increase of drunken cases is attri- butable to the greater vigilance of the police. The present Act being more stringent, the license holders obey the law better than under the old Act, and do not harbour drunken men on their premises as for- merly, but turn them into the street, and hence more cases get into the hands of the police.
Leeds	Yes - -	No; not by any public meeting.	They do; an extension of hours is not thought to be desir- able.	34	5 increase, less 3 dropped in 1873. Net in- crease, 2.	Spirit drinking is on the increase, but is not entirely attributable to the sale by grocers of spirits in bottles; public house sales have increased.	Not in the least - -	Not to any extent. It is not believed that the large increase reported in the cases of drunken- ness arises from curtail- ing the hours. It is the opinion that prosperous trade and high wages have been the cause.
Leicester	Yes - -	- - No - -	The inhabitants are satisfied; extension of hours undesirable.	Present number 25, being a slight in- crease.	-	No evidence on this point. It is not thought that the sale of spirits by grocers much in- creases the consump- tion.	It is thought to be desir- able.	The curtailment of the hours has not led to drinking in unlicensed premises. In Leicester drunkenness has de- creased. Last year the cases were 490, and this year 464. Our popula- tion has largely in- creased, and wages have been good.
Leominster	Yes - -	- - No - -	Yes; no extension needed.	3 wines and spirits; 1 wine only.	-	-	- - No - -	- - No - -

	Yes	No	The hours fixed by the Act reasonably satisfy the wants of the inhabitants for all ordinary purposes.	11	1	It is believed that spirit drinking has not increased in this borough.	There does not appear to be any necessity here for placing grocers licensed to sell off the premises under these conditions.	It is believed that curtailing the hours has not led to drinking on unlicensed premises. In this district there has been a decrease in cases of drunkenness.
Lichfield	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-

Liverpool	No; hours of closing from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. on week days; Sundays up to 1 p.m., from 3 to 6 p.m., and after 9 p.m.	Yes; on the 28th of October, 3rd of November, and the 10th of November 1872. These meetings were held in the open air in front of St. George's Hall on Sunday afternoon and evenings, and were composed principally of roughs who were at last dispersed by the police.	They reasonably satisfy the wants of the inhabitants. If the local authorities had fixed the hours on Sunday evenings for public-houses to be open from 7 to 10 instead of as now, 6 to 9, it would have given greater satisfaction.	76	55	There has been a large increase in spirit drinking, and this is partly due to the sale in grocers' shops, and to the shortened hours on Sundays.	All licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors should be granted by the justices, and the grocers who apply for such licenses should be subjected to the same conditions as to magisterial approval and as to hours as other licensed houses.	Yes.
Longton	Yes	No	Yes to first part, and no to second part of query.	Wine and spirits 5, holding both.	Spirits, 2	Yes; but cannot say how much may be traced to those facilities; think not very much.	No	No; certainly not.

NAMES OF BOROUGH, &c.	As to Hours of Opening and Closing.			Grocers having Licenses for the Sale of Wines or Spirits.		Has Spirit Drinking Increased; if so, is such Increase to be traced to the Facilities afforded by the Sale by Grocers of Spirits in Bottle? Maidstone	The hours are from 5 a.m. to 11 p.m. on week-days. No al- terations on Sundays.	No public meetings have been held on the sub- ject; but it is believed that the general feeling of the inhabitants is in favour of the early closing.	They do; the early closing works well.	12	No altera- tions.	It is thought not	No	Certainly not. There is no increase in the cases of drunkenness in this borough; on the con- trary, a decrease.
Maldon	Yes	None	They do reasonably satisfy the wants of the inhabitants. Nor is the extension of hours desirable, ex- cept on Sunday after- noon at 5 instead of 6 o'clock.	8	None	Not increased	None	It is not thought that cur- tailing the hours has led to the increase of drink- ing in unlicensed pre- mises, or that the in- crease of drunkenness arises from this cause. Prior to the passing of this Act, cases of drunkenness were not proceeded against as since. Unless the party charged was violent in his conduct, he was allowed to go in the morning by the consent of the Mayor without appearing before the Bench. Consequently the case did not appear in the charge-book, as all cases do now, which will in some measure account for the increase.
Manchester	They are	Not any	There appears to be little or no dissatis- faction, and an ex- tension of hours is not thought to be desirable. In this opinion the chief con- stable entirely con- curs, and it is believed to be the opinion of the large majority, if not of the whole of the magistrates.	64 Exclusive of 67 li- censes for the sale of sweets alone.	None	The Mayor has really no means of testing the in- crease or otherwise in spirit drinking. Ac- cording to the report made by the chief con- stable at the last licen- sing meeting in August 1873, it appeared that there was a decrease of 786 persons apprehended for drunkenness, or 91 per cent.	Not aware of any objec- tion, and it is thought they should be so placed.	It is difficult to answer this question. There was a considerable di- minution in 1873. It is the opinion that another year is certainly neces- sary to test this question. Although there have been occasional prosecutions, it is not believed that there is any extensive practice of illegal drinking in unlicensed premises; but the facili- ties now given for the purchase of beer, wine, and spirits to be consumed off the premises no doubt will increase the consumption in dwelling- houses and unlicensed premises.

Margate	Yes, during the winter; but an extension of one hour granted by the magistrates from the 16th June until the 16th October, Sundays excepted.	No	No	10					No			No.
Marlborough	Yes; excepting on Sundays, when houses are open from one o'clock until three, and from six until ten.	None whatever; on the contrary, it is believed the restrictions give general satisfaction.	They do; no extension is desirable. On exceptional cases it can be obtained.	4	Two of the above 4 added wine and sweets to the spirit licenses.	Spirit drinking in a town of this size is considerable. No appreciable increase has taken place.	In this town such a change is needless.	It is not thought that it has, and the reported cases of drunkenness in this town have decreased rather than increased.
Middlesborough	The hours fixed by the Act are those that prevail in the borough.	There has been no expression of public opinion against the restriction as to hours. The Licensed Victuallers' Association applied to the magistrates to extend hours, but the application was refused.	Extension of hours not desirable; present hours amply sufficient.	8		Impossible to say if spirit drinking has increased. The licensing of grocers to sell spirits is most objectionable.	If grocers are licensed at all, they should be under the same control by magistrates as other licensed houses.	Do not think that curtailing the hours has led to drinking in unlicensed places; it has diminished drunkenness, and it is believed that the people of Middlesborough would approve of further curtailment.
Newark	Yes	None	In the summer months to open an hour sooner it is thought would be a boon.	4	2	It has not increased	None					No.
Newbury	No; the hours fixed by the justices are open at 6, and close at 11 o'clock on working days; and on Sundays, opening from 12.30 to 2.30, and from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the evening.	A strong expression and objection to closing on Sunday at 9 o'clock p.m., has been expressed by the public; 10 o'clock would seem to meet the objection. The restriction to opening on working days to 6 o'clock a.m. is strongly complained of; 5 o'clock would meet this objection. The last town council election turned much on this point; one member who had opposed all extension lost his seat, and a candidate having strongly expressed the same views was left in a great minority. At a licensing meeting several Dissenting ministers opposed any extension, and a majority of the Bench then present siding with them, the application was refused.	Except as noticed in the last column they do, and beyond the suggestions therein made no extension is desirable.	5	5	No accurate means of answering this. It is believed, and with much reason, that the sale of spirits in bottle by grocers has tended to increase the facilities of spirit drinking in the homes of the labourers, especially in country districts, and amongst females. This is partly evidenced by the fact that last year the convictions for drunkenness have increased with females, and decreased as to males, as far as this borough is concerned.	None; nor why they should not have the same conditions and restrictions as other licensed houses.	No doubt to a certain extent this is the case. It is known that instances have occurred in which working men have joined in purchasing a quantity of liquor at the last moment, and then adjourned to some private house and become intoxicated.

REPORTS FROM BOROUGH AUTHORITIES IN ENGLAND

NAMES OF BOROUGH S, &c.	As to Hours of Opening and Closing.			Grocers having Licenses for the Sale of Wines or Spirits.		Has Spirit Drinking Increased; if so, is such Increase to be traced to the Facilities afforded by the Sale by Grocers of Spirits in Bottle?	Would there be any Objection to placing Grocers, with respect to the Grant of Licenses, on the same Conditions as to Magisterial Approval as other Licensed Houses?	Do you think that Curtailing the Hours has led to Drinking in Unlicensed Premises, and that the Large Increase reported in the Cases of Drunkenness arises from this Cause?
	Are those Fixed by the Act in Force in the Borough?	Has any Expression of Public Opinion taken place against the Restrictions as to Hours?	Do they reasonably satisfy the Wants of the Inhabitants, or is an Extension of Hours desirable?	Present Number of Above.	Increase since August 1872.
Newcastle-upon-Tyne	Yes	No	It is believed the hours fixed by the Act reasonably satisfy the wants of the inhabi- tants, and that no extension or restric- tion of those hours is desired, except by men of very extreme views.	15	1	It is feared that spirit drinking has increased, but from the fact that so many persons are found in a state of in- toxication having in their possession the small dram bottles sold by innkeepers, it is not thought such increase is to be traced to the facilities af- forded by the sale by grocers of spirits in bottle.	There would be no objec- tion; and there seems to be no solid reason why the grant of all licenses should not, except as to value qualification, be placed upon the same footing.	There is no reason to think that curtailing the hours has led to drinking in unlicensed premises. Nothing has been elicited in the cases of drunken- ness brought before the magistrates to lead to the belief that the large increase reported in those cases arises from that cause.
Newport, Isle of Wight	11 o'clock p.m. is the hour fixed on ordi- nary days for closing.	There is a very strong feeling against the re- strictions as to hours on the part of those who frequent the houses, and approval of the restrictions on the part of those who seldom or ever go into a licensed house.	Frequent applications are made for exten- sion of time, and granted by the magis- trates.	3 grocers sell wine only. 3 grocers sell wine and spirits.	One less for spirits, but con- tinues sale of wine.	Spirit drinking has much increased, and is most certainly to be traced to the sale by grocers.	No reasonable objection	Young men's clubs, work- ing men's clubs, are formed and forming all over the country, and the members drink as late as they please. From public-houses at closing time they carry off bottles of spirits, or get them at the gro- cers, for consumption at home.
Newport, Monmouth	Yes	None whatever	They satisfy the wants, and an extension of hours is not de- sirable.	19	6	No	No	No.
Northampton	The hours of opening and closing a.m., and 11 p.m., are fixed by the magis- trates.	No	The public generally are, it is believed, satisfied.	No information	-	No	It is unnecessary	No.

Norwich	They are those fixed by the Act for closing, viz., 11 p.m.; they are opened at	No	Yes, decidedly; they do reasonably satisfy the wants of the inhabitants.	25	11	Cannot give an opinion	None	There is no reason for supposing so. The police were much more active when the new Act came into force, and the publicans are obliged to turn anyone who is drunk into the streets, which accounts for the increase in cases.
Nottingham	Yes	No	Yes	22	4	Cannot say whether spirit drinking has increased or not, but drunkenness certainly has. It is not thought the facilities afforded by grocers selling spirits in bottles has anything to do with such increase, because people of a superior class usually deal with grocers for bottles of spirits, while those of the lower orders (who usually are convicted for drunkenness) are supplied from public-houses, the drink being generally consumed in smaller quantities on the premises.	With respect to the grant of licenses, it is thought only fair that grocers should be subject to the same magisterial approval as other licensed houses.	No; it is not thought so. The increase in drunkenness is believed to be attributable to high wages and shortened hours of labour and want of education among the lower classes; and it is not thought that any legislation will prevent a certain amount of liquor being sold or drunk in unlicensed premises.
Oldham	Yes	Soon after the Act came into operation there was considerable dissatisfaction manifested, but now that has died away.	A large majority of the inhabitants are perfectly satisfied with the present arrangements.	9 i.e., 5 are grocers, and 4 are druggists.	None	Cases of drunkenness have increased, but whether from drinking spirits or beer the Mayor is not able to say. The cause, as far as he has been able to judge, is the enhanced rate of wages, and the improvident habits of this particular portion of the community. The sale of spirits under sect. 69 of the Licensing Act has had no bearing whatever on the above state of things.	The proper thing to do	In the Mayor's experience he has not become acquainted with a single case where a person charged with drunkenness got drunk on unlicensed premises, consequently the increase of this vice cannot be attributed to that cause.
Oswestry	Yes	No	It is thought the hours fixed by the Act are suitable for towns of this size.	4 wine only. 1 wine and spirit.	No increase	It is believed to be the general opinion that spirit drinking has increased, but whether that has been caused by grocers' licenses to any degree, I am not in a position to say.	No	It is not thought the curtailing of the hours has led to drinking in unlicensed premises in this borough, although there is an opinion that it may very possibly have that effect in large towns.

Oxford, City -	No; 11.30 week days, 10.30 Sundays.	A strong feeling exist- ed at first which was met by extending the time half-an-hour; since this all parties (except a few lower class publicans) ap- pear satisfied.	The present arrange- ments satisfy the public requirements. The Mayor does not know but that the earlier hours would not do so too.	Wine li- censes are granted here by the University, so cannot say. Eight spirit li- censes granted to grocers.	None	Spirit drinking has not increased here.	None; most of the gro- cers selling wines and spirits here are very respectable men.	No; to both questions.
Pembroke -	Yes; 6 to 11; Sundays 12.30 to 2.30; 6 to 11.	No public expression, but much individual dissatisfaction.	Yes; except on special occasions, such as fairs, markets, elec- tions, &c.	6	One de- crease since 1872.	Not increased	It would be more satis- factory to place all licenses for the sale of spirits under one au- thority.	No; no increase in our locality.
Penryn -	Open at 6 o'clock; close at 11 o'clock.	- - Not any - -	The public seem per- fectly satisfied; no extension necessary nor contraction de- sirable.	2	Same	The Mayor thinks not, nor does he think the grocers who have li- censes sell much spirits, mostly wines.	Not any objection, nor any advantage in so doing.	Not at all in small com- munities such as ours, about 1,000 inhabitants, nor has there been an increase of drunkenness, but notably the reverse.
Penzance -	Yes; except closing on Sundays at 9 o'clock in the evening.	None; except the clos- ing at 9 Sunday evenings, which they say is too early for supper beer.	Every one, even the licensed victuallers are satisfied that 11 o'clock week days is a very reasonable time. No extension.	4	None	No; though it opens a door for private drink- ing habits.	Certainly not; and in fairness should be so, as it is a cause of com- plaint with publicans.	No. No increase of drunk- eness, on the contrary; and the town is quiet at an earlier hour than for- merly; the Act is a good beginning.
Plymouth -	- - Yes - -	Very generally ap- proved by the public, so far as can be ascer- tained; but it would be important in any alteration of the law to appoint Greenwich time as in all cases conclusive.	The present hours seem fully to satisfy the wants of the in- habitants, and any extension would be generally disapproved.	13	6	There is no evidence that points to the extension of spirit drinking.	It would be regarded as very politic to give the magistrates the same discretion in the grant- ing of grocers' licenses, as in the case of the ordinary licensee.	It is not thought that it has; but it is considered that refreshment houses should be closed at the same hour as the public- houses.
Poole -	Yes; 11 p.m. week days, 10 p.m. Sun- days.	- - None - -	They are all the inhab- itants require, an ex- tension would meet with general disap- proval.	9	2	It has not increased at all	It would be equitable to the publican, and other- wise desirable.	The curtailing the hours has not had any in- jurious effect. There have been more sum- monses issued, but this is attributable to the additional powers con- ferred by the Licensing Act on the police.

Portsmouth	-	-	-	-	Very few	-	Many wish an extension to 12 p.m., but it is not thought to be desirable.	50	33	It is believed not. No means of ascertaining correctly.	No ; the town is altogether quieter since the hours were curtailed.
Preston	-	-	-	-	No	-	The present hours of opening and closing satisfy the inhabitants.	3	None	No objection to grocers being licensed by magistrates.	No. The large increase in cases of drunkenness arises from the vigilance of the police, and the greater power given by the Licensing Act in respect to drunkenness, and the greater amount earned by the working classes.
Reading	-	-	-	-	No	-	There is great dissatisfaction expressed by many of the respectable inhabitants that they cannot, in case of a private party, or when occupying a private room at an hotel, be allowed to remain half-an-hour or an hour after the time for closing, without running the danger of being dragged before the magistrates for infringing the Act. In this borough the majority of the magistrates are against extending the hours under any pretence.	13	2	There is no evidence that spirit drinking has increased in this borough.	The increase in cases of drunkenness referred to above would not apply to this borough, as there has been a decrease here.
Reigate	-	-	-	-	No	-	They satisfy the wants, and an extension is not desirable.	-	-	Spirit drinking does not appear to have increased, although it is difficult to tell.	In this borough there has been a notable decrease in drunkenness since the Act has been in operation.
Richmond, Yorkshire	-	-	-	-	No	-	The inhabitants generally are satisfied, the Act enabling magistrates to extend the hours when desirable.	8	2	No	It is not thought that any increase in drinking in unlicensed premises has taken place here; there are fewer cases of drunkenness in the public streets than formerly.
Ripon	-	-	-	-	None whatever	-	The bulk of the inhabitants do not require an extension of hours.	Cannot say exactly, not more than two or three.	-	It would be advisable to have the grocers under the same restrictions.	It is thought that it has increased drinking in private houses.
Rochester	-	-	-	-	Many applications have been made to extend the hours, which have been opposed, and in the end not granted other than as stated.	-	As to this, there would be opinions on both sides.	4	-	No means of judging as to this.	No; certainly not.

Romsey	By magistrates; 11; 10 on Sundays.	No	Yes	2	1	Should say it had not	No	The new Licensing Act has worked very beneficially for our town, both for the borough and Romsey Extra; considerable de- crease in cases brought before both benches of magistrates.
Rye	Sundays, &c. morning, 12.30 to 2.30; after- noon, 6 to 10 o'clock; week-days, 5 a.m. to 11 p.m.	A memorial was pre- sented at the annual licensing meeting, 1873, to extend Sa- turday's time to midnight. Refused. There were two me- morials against ex- tension.	Extension of hours is not desirable.	3	Nil	Spirit drinking has not increased.	Certainly not	Drunkenness has de- creased in this borough since the curtailling of hours.
Saffron Walden	Yes	None	Perfectly satisfied	3	1	Not aware of any increase	Yes; great objection	No. No increase of drunk- eness is observable in this borough. The work- ing of the Bill is con- sidered to be very satis- factory.
St. Albans	Open at 5 a.m. on week- days, closed at 11 p.m.; on Sundays, open at 1 till 3 p.m., and from 6 to 10 p.m.	None; but has given general satisfaction.	They satisfy the wants of the inhabitants; an extension of hours is not desirable.	2	2	No	No objection to place gro- cers on the same condi- tions as the licensed public-houses.	It is not considered that there is more drinking in unlicensed premises. There have been less cases of drunkenness in this borough since the Licensing Act of 1872 came into operation than before.
St. Ives, Cornwall	The hours adopted are the minimum allowed by the Act.	No	The inhabitants in ge- neral are not desirous of an extension.	3	None	No	No	The curtailling of the hours has not produced any increase of drinking in unlicensed premises, but has had a very beneficial effect on the peace and quietness of the town.

Salford	-	-	-	-	Yes	-	-	Not aware that there has.	The hours do reasonably satisfy the wants of the inhabitants, and so far as this borough is concerned, there is no occasion for an extension of hours.	4	1	It is believed that spirit-drinking has increased; but do not think so much is obtained from the grocers in this borough, their number being so small. The present system of licensing grocers is productive of evil. It is known that a large quantity of spirits is carried away from licensed houses in bottles, at the closing hour, as is evidenced by the number of bottles containing spirits, and bearing publicans' labels that are found upon drunken persons.	None, but the reverse. The present system of granting beer licenses to grocers, provision dealers and shopkeepers generally has a tendency to promote drunkenness, especially amongst the female portion of the community.	It is thought that curtailing the hours has led to drinking in private dwellings, in this borough, to a certain extent, but that the large increase reported in the cases of drunkenness arises chiefly from increased wages and a consequent increase of idle time, which are fruitful causes of drunkenness.
Sandwich	-	-	-	-	Yes; except from 16 June to 15 October, during which time the hour of closing is extended to 12 p.m. This is not considered necessary for Sandwich, Walmer, and Sarre, but it was allowed at Ramsgate, and afterwards conceded to the former places, all being within the limits of the borough of Sandwich.	-	-	None	They reasonably satisfy the wants of the inhabitants, and also, it is believed, the large majority of the publicans.	Grocers 22 Chemist 1	No increase	It is not thought that spirit-drinking has increased in the houses to any extent, but the grocers take spirits into the country, which has probably caused an increased consumption there.	It is presumed not	Uncertain. In this borough cases of drunkenness have decreased since the Act came into operation.
Scarborough	-	-	-	-	Yes	-	-	Yes; by the publicans	They satisfy the wants of the inhabitants. This being a watering place, one hour longer at night during the season, viz., "July, August, September," to the large hotels would be a great boon to their visitors, but to the low public-houses, would inevitably lead to increased drunkenness.	About 7	None	Increase, yes; by grocers, no.	The sale of wines by grocers has been a very great boon to the public. Grocers not being retailers, there does not appear necessity for magisterial approval. There could, however, be no objection to it; but police supervision would be decidedly obnoxious, in consequence of their not being retailers.	No, except in clubs. There is no general increase in drunkenness; but, owing to short hours, a decrease. Police cases almost nil.
Sheffield	-	-	-	-	Yes	-	-	None	Yes; an extension of hours is not desirable.	4	None	There is no reason to believe that spirit-drinking has increased.	None; but it is not thought that any benefit would arise therefrom.	No; it has not.

Shrewsbury	Yes. There was a large public meeting held here on Easter Tuesday to advocate entire closing on Sundays. Great difference of opinion, however, exists, but I think a further restriction of Sunday hours desirable, in fact, necessary.	General opinion decidedly in favour of the restrictions already carried out.	-	-	-	Cannot answer definitely, but it is believed that the Act extending the sale to grocers was most unwise, the licenses granted to victuallers being already far in excess of the wants of the population. All magistrates not interested in the liquor traffic seek to restrict the licensing system in all shapes, directing the trade into more responsible channels than hitherto, and making the vendor more directly responsible for the misconduct of his customers.	Cannot see that this is practicable. Licenses to grocers should be withdrawn.	It is thought that curtailing the hours of drinking in the public-houses has been a great boon to others, householders, and to the public. There has been no increase in drunkenness, and have, during the week ended 21st March 1874, had a maiden sessions.
Southampton	The hours fixed by the magistrates here are from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m., but in the neighbourhood of manufactories and the docks they are allowed, upon application, to open at 5.30 a.m.	No; not in any formal manner.	There is a strong feeling in favour of an extension of time among certain classes, but there is much difference of opinion on the point.	3 or 4 who sell spirits, 22 altogether, under what are called "sweet licenses."	12	Not able to say	There would, as they close early in the evening, and do not sell wine or spirits for consumption on the premises.	Cannot think so.
South Molton	Yes	None	The present restrictions would be preferred.	6	None	It is not believed that the drinking of spirits has increased in this borough.	Not any objection	Not in this borough.
South Shields	Yes	No	The hours appear to be suitable.	2	None	It is believed that spirit drinking has increased, but is not to be attributed to the sale by grocers in bottle. The high rate of wages and continued prosperity of the working classes is presumed to be the cause.	No	Two years' experience has not found it to be so.

Sunderland	The hours of opening and closing are 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sundays, open 12.30 p.m., close 2.30 p.m., 6 p.m., and 10 p.m.	Not any	They do; no extension of hours is desirable.	13	3	Drunkenness has increased from 1,182 cases in 1872 to 1,804 cases in 1873, brought before the magistrates; but a large part of this arises from the good employment and the high price of labour, and especially for the lowest class of labour, in this particu- lar district, and not from any facility afforded by the sale of spirits by grocers.	Cannot give an opinion, no means of judging.	Not to any extent, and it is not thought that the increase of drunkenness arises from this cause.
Swansea	Yes; with the excep- tion of Sunday after- noons, where the justices permitted opening from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.	No	Yes; and it is not believed that an ex- tension of hours is desirable.	6	1	Cannot say; this infor- mation can only be ascer- tained by means of the Inland Revenue Office.	No; and it is thought desirable that they should be.	Yes, it has.
Tamworth	Yes	No	The great bulk of the inhabitants and most of the publicans are satisfied with the present hours, but there is a considerable number that wish 10 o'clock substituted for 11.	10	No increase	Do not know of any in- crease.	Cannot say	It is thought not so far as this borough is con- cerned; since the new Act came in force there is not half the drunken cases.
Tenby	Yes	Yes; opinion expressed for 12 o'clock.	Extension desirable	-	4	-	No	No drinking, rather on the decrease.
Tenterden	Yes	Not any	Yes; no extension of hours required.	2 for wine only.	1	-	The opinion is, that it would be objectionable to placing grocers on the same conditions as other licensed houses.	The chief constable states, that there has not been a case in this borough.
Tewkesbury	Open at 6 a.m., close at 11 p.m.	No	Yes; no extension de- sirable; magistrates grant additional time if necessary.	2	1	-	No	- No.

	Yes; except from 16th June to 16th September in each year, when publicans are allowed to open at 5 o'clock a.m., and close at 11 p.m.	No	It is thought that an extension from 5 a.m. to 12 o'clock p.m. is required sometimes.	1	None	No opportunity of judging. It is believed that the consumption is much the same.	Certainly not	No doubt the curtailing the hours has led to drinking in unlicensed premises. There is no increase of drunkenness in this town. No conviction for drunkenness in the last 12 months; one man was sent for trial for an assault while drunk.
Thetford		No		1	None
Tiverton	Yes	No	Yes	5	2	Rather decreased	No	No, in either case.
Totnes	Yes	No	Yes; extension not desirable.	None	-	No	No	Not in this borough.
Truro	No	No	Yes; and no extension of hours is desirable.	6	1	No	No	Not in this borough.
Tynemouth	No	No	Inhabitants satisfied	13 11 wine and 2 spirit.	None	No	No	Yes.
Wakefield	Yes	No	The hours fixed by the Act seem to satisfy the wants of the inhabitants, and it is not thought that an extension of hours is necessary or desirable.	7	None	Drinking of all kinds has, doubtless, considerably increased within the last few years amongst the lower classes; but whether the consumption of spirits has considerably increased, and if so, is caused by increased facilities for obtaining them, is not known.	The Licensing Act requires grocers to obtain the certificate of the magistrates, before they can obtain a license from the Board of Inland Revenue; and the opinion is, that the present provisions are sufficient.	There has been no case brought before the magistrates of this borough against persons for drinking, or allowing drinking, on unlicensed premises, and it is believed that the high wages at present earned by the working classes, are the cause of the increase in drunkenness.
Walsall	It is believed so	No	They suit the habits of the people, and an extension is not desirable. There are no complaints; the justices generally allow an extension where it is desirable.	8	None	No	No	It is believed that it has to a limited extent, but the general cause is due to the large increase of wages and shortening of hours, particularly in the coal and iron trades of this district.
Warrington	Work-days, 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sundays, 12.30 p.m. to 2.30, and 6 p.m. to 10 p.m.	No	If houses closed at 12 midnight instead of 11 p.m. on work-days and Sunday, as it is, the public would be satisfied.	6	3	Cannot tell, and there are no means available by the police to ascertain whether an increase has taken place, and whether it is attributable to grocers dealing in spirits; but there is no doubt there are more drunken women in consequence.	It is thought that grocers ought to be subject to the same conditions as licensed victuallers.	Yes. Were the closing of public houses fixed uniformly throughout the country at 12 midnight on working days, it would tend to decrease drunkenness on private premises, where the magistrates and police are powerless.

Wells	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	They do satisfy such wants, but on reason- able cause an exten- sion of time would be granted.	2	Nil	- - No - -	As far as experience goes, there has been no com- plaint in Wells of any irregularity on the part of the grocers.	It is believed not; if there is any such it arises from the increase of wages, and not from any defect in the Licensing Act.
Welshpool	- - Yes - -	None; the publicans approve of them.	The inhabitants like the hours as in Act. No extension is de- sirable.	4 grocers have sweet licenses; 1 chemist wine and spirit.	Decrease of one.	- - No - -	No licenses should be granted without magis- terial approval. The Excise system is wrong. It prevents proper police supervision.	The Mayor has had no cases before him of drinking in unlicensed premises, and he has only had two cases of suspicion mentioned to him for advice during the 18 months that he has been in office.
Weymouth and Mel- combe Regis.	- - Yes - -	- - None - -	An extension of hours until 12 p.m. will be desirable in the sum- mer time, as trains arrive after 11 p.m., and boats start at 12 p.m.	10	8	No doubt but drinking has decreased in this town for the last two years.	- - No - -	Drinking is not carried on to any extent in unli- censed premises. The increase reported in cases of drunkenness arises from the larger power given to the police by the Act, and no doubt but it has shown itself during the past half-year in this borough to have decreased in numbers.
Wigan	- - Yes - -	No, but at the first general annual li- censing meeting after the Act came into operation, the li- censed victuallers applied to have the hours fixed, viz., to open at 7, and close at 12 p.m., but the ma- gistrates declined to interfere with the statute, and no com- plaint has been heard of since.	They reasonably satisfy the wants of the neighbourhood, and no extension is de- sirable.	5	3	Cannot say whether spirit drinking has increased more than any other liquor, but drinking generally has seriously increased, and is to be attributed to the prosperity of trade. It is the opinion that the sale by grocers of spirits in bottle afford very great facilities for secret drinking, espe- cially by females, but whether there is any increase of drunken- ness amongst men caused by grocers selling spirits, there is no opportunity of judging, but it is thought not.	- - No - -	No, not in this borough; but it is believed that this answer would be incorrect for townships out of the borough boundary.

Winchester, City	-	-	-	-	From 5 a.m. to 11 p.m.	The opinion is in favour of uniform hours throughout the country.	Extension of time is repeatedly given by the magistrates.	11	-	-	Not increased in this city	No necessity for it	-	Not in this city.
Windsor	-	-	-	-	Yes	No public meetings have been held. Memorials numerously signed were presented to the licensing justices in favour of curtailing the hours, and also in favour of their being extended.	It is believed that it would be more satisfactory to the public at large if the hours of closing were fixed at one uniform time throughout the country, namely, at half-past 11 p.m. on weekdays, and 10 o'clock on Sundays, except in the summer time (between Lady-day and Michaelmas, when the time might be extended to half-past 10 on Sunday evenings. Many of the poorer classes in towns are in the habit of walking out into the country on Sunday evenings, and expect to get some refreshment on their return. The hour of opening between Lady-day and Michaelmas should be fixed at 5 o'clock in the morning for the accommodation of workpeople going to their work. It has been found necessary by the justices to allow houses to be opened at this hour in the summer, and no bad results have followed. It would not be compulsory upon the publican to open at that time, and he would not do so unless there was a public demand and necessity for it. It is thought that greater latitude might be given for extending the hour of closing on special occasions, such as balls, suppers, private parties, and the like, and in such cases the authority granting the extension should have power to add a condition to the special license that the house should be open for the special purpose only, and closed against the public generally, or the authority might be empowered to add any conditions to the extension that it should think proper and conducive to good rule and order. This power would be found in practice to be very useful. It would prevent an annual re-opening and agitation of the subject if the hours were once for all settled by Parliament, instead of being left to be fixed at the annual licensing meeting, and to the extent, and as above stated, it is thought an extension would be desirable.	16	4	It is the opinion that spirit drinking has not increased.	Not aware of any	-	It is not thought that curtailing the hours has led to drinking in unlicensed houses in this borough, and it is the opinion that there has not been any increase of drunkenness.

NAMES OF BOROUGH, &c.	As to Hours of Opening and Closing.			Grocers having Licenses for the Sale of Wines or Spirits.		Has Spirit Drinking Increased; if so, is such Increase to be traced to the Facilities afforded by the Sale by Grocers of Spirits in Bottle?	Would there be any Objection to placing Grocers, with respect to the Grant of Licenses, on the same Conditions as to Magisterial Approval as other Licensed Houses?	Do you think that Curtailling the Hours has led to Drinking in Unlicensed Premises, and that the Large Increase reported in the Cases of Drunkenness arises from this Cause?
	Are those Fixed by the Act in Force in the Borough?	Has any Expression of Public Opinion taken place against the Restriction as to Hours?	Do they reasonably satisfy the Wants of the Inhabitants, or is an Extension of Hours desirable?	Present Number of above.	Increase since August 1872.
Wisbeach	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	They are satisfactory, and no extension is considered requisite or desirable.	4	None	It has not increased	- - None - -	It is not thought that curtailling the hours has led to drinking in unlicensed premises. There is no increase in the cases of drunken- ness in this borough.
Wolverhampton	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	The inhabitants are satisfied; no exten- sion desired.	7	6	No increase	- - No - -	- - No.
Worcester, City	- Houses are allowed to remain open till 11 p.m. This is ex- tended on special application to the Justices.	No public meeting has been held on the sub- ject, but the restric- tions are frequently discussed at meetings of citizens and dis- approved of.	An extension till 12 o'clock is desirable.	- Cannot say	-	Not aware that spirit drinking has increased here.	No objection; it is the right thing to do, and so get rid of a most un- just anomaly.	It is believed that cur- tailing the hours has led to drinking in un- licensed premises.
Wrexham	- - Yes - -	- - No - -	- - No - -	2	-	- - No - -	- - No - -	- - No.
Yeovil	- 11 p.m. on week days and 10 on Sundays.	- - No - -	The present hours are satisfactory; at the same time the magis- trates have allowed extension of time when there have been annual dinners or suppers to the various benefit socie- ties, which has given satisfaction.	4	None	It is believed that there is less spirit drinking in this borough than ever.	- - No - -	- - No.
York	Yes; except that on a few public occasions as asizes, &c., dur- ing the year the hour of opening is ex- tended to 12 at night.	- - None - -	The general opinion is, that they reasonably satisfy the wants of the inhabitants.	8	1	The prevalent opinion is, that spirit drinking has increased, though not that the increase is attributable to the sale by grocers of spi- rits in bottle.	The opinions are that there would not be any.	It is not found to be the opinion that curtailling the hours has led to drinking in unlicensed premises.

(a) These certificates also included wine, spirits, and sweets, being granted to grocers, &c., and are the same five also included in "Wine Retail" column.

(b) Five for wine, spirits, and sweets, and nine for wine and sweets, but a few of the latter only sold sweets.

(c) The certificates included wine and sweets, as mentioned in column "Wine Retail."

(d) The above figures make a total of 1,219, but the number of licensed persons in the borough is only 1,067. In many cases two or more of the above descriptions of licences are held by one and the same person. For instance, all the 100 "Wine Retail Certificates ("Refreshment House") (to be Consumed on or off the Premises)," are held among those who take out the 455 "beer retail certificates (for consumption on or off the premises)."

(e) Fifty-three of these also hold certificates for sale of wine.

(f) See Note to third column.

(g) Four of these have the bottled beer licence, and one beer and wine (off the premises).

(h) Two of these licences were granted at special sessions for cantons, and one was granted on appeal to county justices.

(i) Two of these were granted at special sessions, tenant having neglected to apply at licensing meeting.

Mem.—It is to be observed that this Return, supplied by the clerks to the Petty Sessions, is not uniform as regards the figures contained in the last column. A reference to the foot notes will afford some explanation as to these and such like cases.

UNDER

THE SUPREME COURT OF JUDICATURE ACT, 1873.

36 & 37 Vict. c. 66.

[Note.—Where no other provision is made by the Act or these Rules the present procedure and practice remain in force.]

WRIT OF SUMMONS AND PROCEDURE, &c.

1. THE writ of summons for the commencement of an action shall, except in the cases in which any different form is hereinafter provided, be in Form No. 1 in Part I. of Schedule (A.), hereto, with such variations as circumstances may require.

2. No writ of summons for service out of the jurisdiction, or of which notice is to be given out of the jurisdiction, shall be issued without the leave of a Court or Judge.

3. A writ of summons to be served out of the jurisdiction, or of which notice is to be given out of the jurisdiction, shall be in Form No. 2 in Part I. of Schedule (A.) hereto, with such variations as circumstances may require. Such notice shall be in Form No. 3 in the same part, with such variations as circumstances may require.

4. With respect to actions upon a bill of exchange or promissory note, commenced within six months after the same shall have become due and payable, the procedure under the Bills of Exchange Act, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 67, shall continue to be used.

5. With respect to interpleader, the procedure and practice now used by Courts of Common Law under the Interpleader Acts, 1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 58, and 23 & 24 Vict. c. 126, shall apply to all actions and all the divisions of the High Court of Justice, and the application by a defendant shall be made at any time after being served with a writ of summons, and before delivering a defence.

6. The writ of summons in every Admiralty action in rem shall be in Form No. 4 of Part I. of Schedule (A.) hereto, with such variations as circumstances may require.

7. Every writ of summons, and also every other writ, shall bear date on the day on which the same shall be issued, and shall be tested in the name of the Lord Chancellor, or if the office of Lord Chancellor shall be vacant, in the name of the Lord Chief Justice of England.

ORDER II.

INDORSEMENTS OF CLAIM.

1. The indorsement of claim shall be made on every writ of summons before it is issued.

2. In the indorsement required by Rule 2 of the Schedule to the Act, it shall not be essential to set forth the precise ground of complaint, or the precise remedy or relief to which the plaintiff considers himself entitled. The plaintiff may by leave of the Court or Judge amend such indorsement so as to extend it to any other cause of action, or any additional remedy or relief.

3. The indorsement of claim may be to the effect of such of the Forms in Part II. of Schedule (A.) hereto as shall be applicable to the case, or if none be found applicable, then such other similarly concise form as the nature of the case may require.

4. If the plaintiff sues, or the defendant or any of the defendants is sued in a representative capacity, the indorsement shall show, in manner appearing by the statement in Schedule (A.) hereto, Part II., sec. VIII., or by any other statement to the like effect, in what capacity the plaintiff or defendant sues or is sued.

5. In probate actions the indorsement shall show whether the plaintiff claims as creditor, executor, administrator, residuary legatee, legatee, next of kin, heir-at-law, devisee, or in any and what other character.

6. Wherever the plaintiff's claim is for a debt or liquidated demand only, the indorsement, beside stating the nature of the claim, shall state the amount claimed for debt, or in respect of such demand, and for costs respectively, and shall further state, that upon payment thereof within four days after service, or in case of a writ not for service within the jurisdiction within the time allowed for appearance further proceedings will be stayed. Such statement may be in the form in Schedule (A.) hereto, Part II., sec. III. The defendant may, notwithstanding such payment, have the costs taxed, and if more than one-sixth shall be disallowed, the plaintiff's solicitor shall pay the costs of taxation.

ORDER III.

INDORSEMENT OF ADDRESS.

1. The solicitor of a plaintiff suing by a solicitor shall indorse upon every writ of summons and notice in lieu of service of a writ of summons the address of the plaintiff, and also his own name or firm and place of business, and also, if his place of business shall be more than three miles from Temple Bar, another proper place, to be called his address for service, which shall not be more than three miles from Temple Bar, where writs, notices, petitions, orders, summonses, warrants, and other documents, proceedings, and written communications may be left for him. And where any such solicitor is only agent of another solicitor, he shall add to his own name or firm and place of business the name or firm and place of business of the principal solicitor.

2. A plaintiff suing in person shall indorse upon every writ of summons and notice in lieu of service of a writ of summons his place of residence and occupation, and also, if his place of residence shall be more than three miles from Temple Bar, another proper place, to be called his address for service, which shall not be more than three miles from Temple Bar, where writs, notices, petitions, orders, summonses, warrants, and other documents, proceedings, and written communications may be left for him.

[The above two rules are to apply to all cases in which the writ of summons is issued out of the London office, or out of a district registry where the defendant has the option of entering an appearance either in the district registry or the London office.]

3. In

3. In all other cases where a writ of summons is issued out of a district registry it shall be sufficient for the solicitor to give on the writ the address of the plaintiff and his own name or firm and his place of business within the district, or for the plaintiff if he sues in person to give on the writ his place of residence and occupation, and if his place of residence be not within the district, an address for service within the district.

ORDER IV.

ISSUE OF WRITS OF SUMMONS.

1. Place of Issue.

1. In any action other than a probate action, the plaintiff, wherever resident, may issue a writ of summons out of the registry of any district.

2. In all cases where a defendant neither resides nor carries on business within the district out of the registry whereof a writ of summons is issued, there shall be a statement on the face of the writ of summons that such defendant may cause an appearance to be entered at his option either at the district registry or the London office, or a statement to the like effect.

3. In all cases where a defendant resides or carries on business within the district, and a writ of summons is issued out of the district registry, there shall be a statement on the face of the writ of summons that the defendant do cause an appearance to be entered at the district registry, or to the like effect,

2. Option to choose division in certain cases.

4. Subject to the power of transfer, every person by whom any cause or matter may be commenced in the High Court of Justice which would have been within the non-exclusive cognisance of the High Court of Admiralty if the said Act had not passed shall assign such cause or matter to any one of the divisions of the said High Court, including the Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty division, as he may think fit, by marking the document by which the same is commenced with the name of the division, and giving notice thereof to the proper officer of the Court. If so marked, for the Chancery division the same shall be assigned to one of the Judges of such division by marking the same with the name of such of the said Judges as the plaintiff or petitioner (subject to such power of transfer) may think fit.

3. Generally.

5. Writs of summons shall be prepared by the plaintiff or his solicitor, and shall be written or printed, or partly written and partly printed, on paper of the same description as hereby directed in the case of proceedings directed to be printed.

6. Every writ of summons shall be sealed by the proper officer, and shall thereupon be deemed to be issued.

7. The plaintiff or his solicitor shall, on presenting any writ of summons for sealing, leave with the officer a copy, written or printed, or partly written and partly printed, on paper of the description aforesaid, of such writ, and all the indorsements thereon, and such copy shall be signed by or for the solicitor leaving the same, or by the plaintiff himself if he sues in person.

8. The officer receiving such copy shall file the same, and an entry of the filing thereof shall be made in a book to be called the Cause Book, which is to be kept in the manner in which Cause Books have heretofore been kept by the Clerks of Records and Writs in the Court of Chancery, and the action shall be distinguished by the date of the year, a letter, and a number, in the manner in which causes are now distinguished in such last-mentioned Cause Books.

9. Notice to the proper officer of the assignment of an action to any division of the Court under Section 35 of the Act or under Rule 4 of this Order shall be sufficiently given by leaving with him the copy of the writ of summons.

4. In particular Actions.

10. The issue of a writ of summons in probate actions shall be preceded by the filing of an affidavit made by the plaintiff or one of the plaintiffs in verification of the indorsement on the writ.

11. In Admiralty actions in rem no writ of summons shall issue until an affidavit by the plaintiff or his agent has been filed, and the following provisions complied with :

(a.) The affidavit shall state the name and description of the party on whose behalf the action is instituted, the nature of the claim, the name and nature of the property to be arrested, and that the claim has not been satisfied.

(b.) In an action of wages the affidavit shall state the national character of the vessel proceeded against; and if against a foreign vessel, that notice of the institution of the action has been given to the Consul of the State to which the vessel belongs, if there be one resident in London [a copy of the notice shall be annexed to the affidavit.]

(c.) In an action of bottomry, the bottomry bond, and if in a foreign language also a notarial translation thereof, shall be produced for the inspection and perusal of the Registrar, and a copy of the bond, or of the translation thereof, certified to be correct, shall be annexed to the affidavit.

(d.) In an action of distribution of salvage the affidavit shall state the amount of salvage money awarded or agreed to be accepted, and the name, address, and description of the party holding the same.

(e.) The Court or Judge may in any case, if he think fit, allow the writ of summons to issue although the affidavit may not contain all the required particulars. In a wages cause he may also waive the service of the notice, and in a cause of bottomry the production of the bond.

12. If, when any property is under arrest in Admiralty, a second or subsequent action is instituted against the same property, the solicitor in such second action may, subject to the preceding rules, take out a writ of summons in rem and cause a caveat against the release of the property to be entered in the Caveat Release Book hereinafter mentioned.

ORDER V.

CONCURRENT WRITS.

1. The plaintiff in any action may, at the time of or at any time during twelve months after the issuing of the original writ of summons, issue one or more concurrent writ or writs, each concurrent writ to bear teste of the same day as the original writ, and to be marked with a seal bearing the word "concurrent," and the date of issuing the concurrent writ; and such seal shall be impressed upon the writ by the proper officer: Provided always, that such concurrent writ or writs shall only be in force for the period during which the original writ in such action shall be in force.

2. A writ for service within the jurisdiction may be issued and marked as a concurrent writ with one for service, or whereof notice in lieu of service is to be given, out of the jurisdiction; and a writ for service, or whereof notice in lieu of service is to be given, out of the jurisdiction may be issued and marked as a concurrent writ with one for service within the jurisdiction.

ORDER VI.

DISCLOSURE BY SOLICITORS AND PLAINTIFFS.

1. Every solicitor whose name shall be indorsed on any writ of summons shall, on demand in writing made by or on behalf of any defendant who has been served therewith or has appeared thereto, declare forthwith whether such writ has been issued by him or with his authority or privity; and if such solicitor shall declare that the writ was not issued by him or with his authority or privity, all proceedings upon the same shall be stayed, and no further proceedings shall be taken thereupon without leave of the Court or a Judge.

2. When a writ is sued out by partners in the name of their firm, the plaintiffs or their solicitors shall, on demand in writing by or on behalf of any defendant, declare forthwith the names and places of residence of all the persons constituting the firm. And if the plaintiffs or their solicitors shall fail to comply with such demand, all proceedings in the action may, upon an application for that purpose, be stayed upon such terms as the Court or a Judge may direct. And when the names of the partners are so declared, the action shall proceed in the same manner, and the same consequences in all respects shall follow as if they had been named as the plaintiffs in the writ. But all proceedings shall, nevertheless, continue in the name of the firm.

ORDER VII.

RENEWAL OF WRIT.

1. No original writ of summons shall be in force for more than twelve months from the day of the date thereof, including the day of such date; but if any defendant therein named shall not have been served therewith, the plaintiff may, before the expiration of the twelve months, apply to a Judge, or the District Registrar, for leave to renew the writ; and the Judge or Registrar, if satisfied that reasonable efforts have been made to serve such defendant, or for other good reason, may order that the original or concurrent writ of summons be renewed for six months from the date of such renewal, and so from time to time during the currency of the renewed writ. And the writ shall in such case be renewed by being marked with a seal bearing the date of the day, month, and year of such renewal; such seal to be provided and kept for that purpose at the proper office, and to be impressed upon the writ by the proper officer, upon delivery to him by the plaintiff or his solicitor of a memorandum in Form No. 5 in Schedule (A.), Part I.; and a writ of summons so renewed shall remain in force and be available to prevent the operation of any statute whereby the time for the commencement of the action may be limited, and for all other purposes, from the date of the issuing of the original writ of summons.

2. The production of a writ of summons purporting to be marked with the seal of the Court, showing the same to have been renewed in manner aforesaid shall be sufficient evidence of its having been so renewed, and of the commencement of the action as of the first date of such renewed writ for all purposes.

ORDER VIII.

SERVICE OF WRIT OF SUMMONS.

1. On particular Defendants.

1. When husband and wife are both defendants to the action service on the husband shall be deemed good service on the wife, but the Court or a Judge may order that the wife shall be served with or without dispensing with service on the husband.

2. When an infant is a defendant to the action service on his or her father or guardian, or if none then upon the person with whom the infant resides or under whose care he or she is shall, unless the Court or Judge otherwise orders, be deemed good service on the infant; provided that the Court or Judge may order that service made or to be made on the infant shall be deemed good service.

3. When a lunatic or person of unsound mind not so found by inquisition is a defendant to the action service on the committee of the lunatic or on the person with whom the person of unsound mind resides or under whose care he or she is shall, unless the Court or Judge otherwise orders, be deemed good service on such defendant.

2. On Partners and other Bodies.

4. Where partners are sued in the name of their firm, the writ shall be served either upon any one or more of the partners or at the principal place within the jurisdiction of the business of the partnership upon any person having at the time of service the control or management of the partnership business there; and, subject to the Rules hereinafter contained, such service shall be deemed good service upon the firm.

5. Whenever, by any statute, provision is made for service of any writ of summons, bill, petition, or other process, upon any corporation, or upon any hundred, or the inhabitants of any place, or any society or fellowship, or any body or number of persons, whether corporate or otherwise, every writ of summons may be served in the manner so provided.

3. In particular Actions.

6. Service of a writ of summons in an action to recover land may, in case of vacant possession, when it cannot otherwise be effected, be made by posting a copy of the writ upon the door of the dwelling-house or other conspicuous part of the property.

7. In Admiralty actions in rem, the writ shall be served by the Marshal or his substitutes, whether the property to be arrested be situate within the Port of London or elsewhere within the jurisdiction of the Court, and the solicitor issuing the writ shall, within six days from the service thereof, file the same in the registry.

8. In Admiralty actions in rem service of a writ of summons against ship, freight, or cargo on board is to be effected by the Marshal or his officer nailing or affixing the original writ for a short time on the mainmast or on the single mast of the vessel, and, on taking off the process, leaving a true copy of it nailed or fixed in its place.

9. If the cargo has been landed or transhipped, service of the writ of summons to arrest the cargo and freight shall be effected by placing the writ for a short time on the cargo, and on taking off the process by leaving a true copy upon it.

10. If the cargo be in the custody of a person who will not permit access to it, service of the writ may be made upon the custodian.

Generally.

11. The person serving a writ of summons shall, within three days at most after such service, indorse on the writ the day of the month and week of the service thereof, otherwise the plaintiff shall not be at liberty, in case of non-appearance, to proceed by default; and every affidavit of service of such writ shall mention the day on which such indorsement was made.

ORDER IX.

SUBSTITUTED SERVICE.

Every application to the Court or a Judge, under Rule 5 of the Schedule to the said Act, for an order for substituted or other service, or for the substitution of notice for service, shall be supported by an affidavit setting forth the grounds upon which the application is made.

ORDER X.

SERVICE OUT OF THE JURISDICTION.

1. Service out of the jurisdiction of a writ of summons or notice of a writ of summons may be allowed by the Court or a Judge whenever the whole or any part of the subject-matter of the action is land or stock, or other property situate within the jurisdiction, or any act, deed, will, or thing affecting such land, land, stock, or property, and whenever the contract which is sought to be enforced or rescinded, dissolved, annulled, or otherwise affected in any such action, or for the breach whereof damages or other relief are or is demanded in such action, was made or entered into within the jurisdiction, and whenever there has been a breach within the jurisdiction of any contract wherever made, and whenever any act or thing sought to be restrained or removed, or for which damages are sought to be recovered, was or is to be done or is situate within the jurisdiction.

2. In probate actions service of a writ of summons or notice of a writ of summons may by leave of the Court or Judge be allowed out of the jurisdiction.

3. Every application for an order for leave to serve such writ or notice on a defendant out of the jurisdiction shall be supported by evidence, by affidavit, or otherwise, showing in what place or country such defendant is or probably may be found, and whether such defendant is a British subject or not, and the grounds upon which the application is made.

4. Any order giving leave to effect such service or give such notice shall limit a time after such service or notice within which such defendant is to enter an appearance, such time to depend on the place or country where or within which the writ is to be served or the notice given.

5. Notice in lieu of service shall be given in the manner in which writs of summons are served.

ORDER XI.

APPEARANCE.

1. Except in the cases otherwise provided for by these rules a defendant shall enter his appearance in London.

2. If any defendant to a writ issued in a district registry resides or carries on business within the district, he shall appear in the district registry.

3. If any defendant neither resides nor carries on business in the district, he may appear either in the district registry or in London.

4. If a sole defendant appears, or all the defendants appear in the district registry, or if all the defendants who appear appear in the district registry and the others make default in appearance, then, subject to the power of removal hereinafter provided, the action shall proceed in the district registry.

5. If the defendant appears, or any of the defendants appear, in London, the action shall proceed in London; provided that if the Court or a Judge shall be satisfied that the defendant appearing in London is a merely formal defendant, or has no substantial cause to interfere in the conduct of the action, such Court or Judge may order that the action may proceed in the district registry notwithstanding such appearance in London.

6. A defendant shall enter his appearance to a writ of summons by delivering to the proper officer a memorandum in writing, dated on the day of the delivering the same, and containing the name of the defendant's solicitor, or stating that the defendant defends in person.

7. The solicitor of a defendant appearing by a solicitor shall state in such memorandum his place of business, and, if the appearance is entered in the London office, a place, to be called his address for service, which shall not be more than three miles from Temple Bar, and, if the appearance is entered in a district registry, a place, to be called his address for service, which shall be within the district.

8. A defendant appearing in person shall state in such memorandum his address, and, if the appearance is entered in the London office, a place, to be called his address for service, which shall not be more than three miles from Temple Bar, and if the appearance is entered in a district registry, a place, to be called his address for service, which shall be within the district.

9. If the memorandum does not contain such address, it shall not be received ; and if any such address shall be illusory or fictitious, the appearance may be set aside by the Court or a Judge, on the application of the plaintiff.

10. The Memorandum of Appearance shall be in the Form No. 6, Schedule (A.), Part I., with such variations as the circumstances of the case may require.

11. Upon receipt of a Memorandum of Appearance, the officer shall forthwith enter the appearance in the cause book.

12. Where partners are sued in the name of their firm, they shall appear individually in their own names. But all subsequent proceedings shall, nevertheless, continue in the name of the firm.

13. If two or more defendants in the same action shall appear by the same solicitor and at the same time, the names of all the defendants so appearing shall be inserted in one memorandum.

14. A solicitor not entering an appearance in pursuance of his written undertaking so to do on behalf of any defendant shall be liable to an attachment.

15. A defendant may appear at any time before judgment. If he appear at any time after the time limited for appearance he shall, on the same day, give notice thereof to the plaintiff's solicitor, or to the plaintiff himself if he sues in person, and he shall not, unless the Court or a Judge otherwise orders, be entitled to any further time for delivering his defence, or for any other purpose, than if he had appeared according to the writ.

16. In probate actions any person not named in the writ may intervene and appear in the action as heretofore, on filing an affidavit showing how he is interested in the estate of the deceased.

17. In an Admiralty action in rem any person not named in the writ may intervene and appear as heretofore, on filing an affidavit showing that he is interested in the res under arrest, or in the fund in the registry.

18. Any person not named as a defendant in a writ of summons for the recovery of land may by leave of the Court or Judge appear and defend, on filing an affidavit showing that he is in possession of the land either by himself or his tenant.

19. Any person appearing to defend an action for the recovery of land as landlord in respect of property whereof he is in possession only by his tenant, shall state in his appearance that he appears as landlord.

20. Where a person not named as defendant in any writ of summons for the recovery of land has obtained leave of the Court or Judge to appear and defend, he shall enter an appearance according to the foregoing rules, intituled in the action against the party or parties named in the writ as defendant or defendants, and shall forthwith give notice of such appearance to the plaintiff's solicitor, or to the plaintiff if he sues in person, and shall in all subsequent proceedings be named as a party defendant to the action.

21. Any person appearing to a writ of summons for the recovery of land shall be at liberty to limit his defence to a part only of the property mentioned in the writ, describing that part with reasonable certainty in his Memorandum of Appearance or in a notice intituled in the cause, and signed by him or his solicitor ; such notice to be served within four days after appearance ; and an appearance where the defence is not so limited shall be deemed an appearance to defend for the whole.

22. The notice mentioned in the last preceding rule may be in the Form No. 7 in Part I. of Schedule (A.) hereto, with such variations as circumstances may require.

ORDER XII.

DEFAULT OF APPEARANCE.

1. Where no appearance has been entered to a writ of summons for a defendant who is an infant or a person of unsound mind not so found by inquiry, sition, the plaintiff may apply to the Court or a Judge for an order that some proper person be assigned guardian of such defendant, by whom he may appear and defend the action. But no such order shall be made unless it appears on the hearing of such application that the writ of summons was duly served, and that notice of such application was after the expiration of the time allowed for appearance, and at least six clear days before the day in such notice named for hearing the application, served upon or left at the dwelling-house of the person with whom or under whose care such defendant was at the time of serving such writ of summons, and also (in the case of such defendant being an infant not residing with or under the care of his father or guardian) served upon or left at the dwelling-house of the father or guardian, if any, of such infant, unless the Court or Judge at the time of hearing such application shall dispense with such last-mentioned service.

2. Where any defendant fails to appear to a writ of summons, and the plaintiff is desirous of proceeding upon default of appearance under Rule 7 or 8 of the Schedule to the said Act, or under any of the following Rules of this Order, he shall, before taking such proceeding upon default, file an affidavit of service, or of notice in lieu of service, as the case may be.

3. Where there are several defendants to a writ specially indorsed for a debt or liquidated demand in money, under Rule 7 of the Schedule to the said Act, and one or more of them appear to the writ, and another or others of them do not appear, the plaintiff may enter final judgment against such as have not appeared, and may issue execution upon such judgment without prejudice to his right to proceed with his action against such as have appeared.

4. Where the defendant fails to appear to the writ of summons, and the writ is not specially indorsed, but the plaintiff's claim is for a debt or liquidated demand only, no statement of claim need be delivered, but the plaintiff may file an affidavit of service or notice in lieu of service, as the case may be, and a statement of the particulars of his claim in respect of the causes of action stated in the indorsement upon the writ, and may, after the expiration of eight days, enter final judgment for the amount shown thereby and costs to be taxed, provided that the amount shall not be more than the sum indorsed upon the writ besides costs.

5. Where the defendant fails to appear to the writ of summons, and the plaintiff's claim is not for a debt or liquidated demand only, but for detention of goods and pecuniary damages, or either of them, no statement of claim need be delivered, but interlocutory judgment may be entered and a writ of inquiry shall issue to assess the value of the goods and the damages, or the damages only, as the case may be, in respect of the causes of action disclosed by the indorsement on the writ of summons. But the Court or a Judge may order that, instead of a writ of inquiry, the value and amount of damages, or either of them, shall be ascertained in any way in which any question arising in an action may be tried.

6. In case no appearance shall be entered in an action for the recovery of land, within the time limited for appearance, or if an appearance be entered, but the defence be limited to part only, the plaintiff shall be at liberty to enter a judgment that the person whose title is asserted in the writ shall recover possession of the land, or of the part thereof to which the defence does not apply.

7. Where the plaintiff has indorsed a claim for mesne profits, arrears of rent, or damages for breach of contract, upon a writ for the recovery of land, he may enter judgment as in the last preceding Rule mentioned for the land; and may proceed as in the other preceding Rules of this order as to such other claim so indorsed.

8. In actions assigned by the 34th section of the said Act to the Chancery Division, and in Probate actions, and in all other actions not by the Rules in this order otherwise specially provided for, in case the party served with the writ does not appear within the time limited for appearance, upon the filing by the plaintiff of a proper affidavit of service, the action may proceed as if such party had appeared.

9. In an Admiralty action in rem, in which an appearance has not been entered, the plaintiff may proceed as follows :—

(a.) He may, after the expiration of twelve days from the filing of the writ of summons, take out a notice of sale, to be advertised by him in two or more public journals to be from time to time appointed by the judge.

(b.) After the expiration of six days from the advertisement of the notice of sale in the said journals, if an appearance has not been entered, the plaintiff shall file in the registry an affidavit to the effect that the said notices have been duly advertised, with copies of the journals annexed, as also such proofs as may be necessary to establish the claim, and a notice of motion to have the property sold.

(c.) If, when the motion comes before the Judge, he is satisfied that the claim is well founded, he may order the property to be appraised and sold, and the proceeds to be paid into the registry.

(d.) If there be two or more actions by default pending against the same property, it shall not be necessary to take out a notice of sale in more than one of the actions ; but if the plaintiff in the first action does not, within eighteen days from the filing of the writ in that action, take out and advertise the notice of sale, the plaintiff in the second or any subsequent action may take out and advertise the notice of sale, if he shall have filed in the registry a writ of summons in rem in such second or subsequent action.

(e.) Within six days from the time when the proceeds have been paid into the registry, the plaintiff in each action shall, if he has not previously done so, file his proofs in the registry, and have the action placed on the list for hearing.

(f.) In an action of possession, after the expiration of six days from the filing of the writ, if an appearance has not been entered, the plaintiff may, on filing in the registry a memorandum, take out a notice of proceeding in the action, to be advertised by him in two or more public journals to be from time to time appointed by the Judge.

(g.) After the expiration of six days from the advertisement of the notice of proceeding in the said journals, if an appearance has not been entered, the plaintiff shall file in the registry an affidavit to the effect that the notice has been duly advertised with copies of the journals annexed, as also such proofs as may be necessary to establish the action, and shall have the action placed on the list for hearing.

(h.) If when the action comes before the Judge he is satisfied that the claim is well founded, he may pronounce for the same, and decree possession of the vessel accordingly.

ORDER XIII.

LEAVE TO DEFEND WHERE WRIT SPECIALLY INDORSED.

1. The application by the plaintiff for leave to enter final judgment after appearance to a writ specially indorsed under Rule 7 of the Schedule to the said Act shall be made by summons returnable not less than two clear days after service.

2. The defendant may show cause against such application by offering to bring into Court the sum indorsed on the writ, or by affidavit. In such affidavit he shall state whether the defence he alleges goes to the whole or to part only, and if so, to what part, of the plaintiff's claim. And the Judge may, if he think fit, order the defendant to attend and be examined upon oath ; or to produce any books or documents or copies of or extracts therefrom.

3. If it appear that the defence set up by the defendant applies only to a part of the plaintiff's claim, or that any part of his claim is admitted to be due, the plaintiff shall have judgment forthwith for such part of his claim as the defence does not apply to or as is admitted to be due, subject to such terms, if any, as to suspending execution, or the payment of the amount levied or any part thereof into Court by the sheriff, the taxation of costs, or otherwise, as the Judge may think think fit. And the defendant may be allowed to defend as to the residue of the plaintiff's claim.

4. If it appears to the Judge that any defendant has a good defence to, or ought to be permitted to defend, the action, and that any other defendant has not such defence, and ought not to be permitted to defend, the former may be permitted to defend, and the plaintiff shall be entitled to enter final judgment against the latter, and may issue execution upon such judgment without prejudice to his right to proceed with his action against the former.

5. Leave to defend may be given unconditionally, or subject to such terms as to giving security, or otherwise, as the Court or a Judge may think fit.

ORDER XIV.

APPLICATION FOR ACCOUNT UNDER RULE 8 OF SCHEDULE TO THE ACT.

An application for an account under Rule 8 of the Schedule to the said Act shall be made by summons, and be supported by an affidavit filed on behalf of the plaintiff, stating concisely the grounds of his claim to an account. The application may be made at any time after the time for entering an appearance has expired.

ORDER XV.

PARTIES.

1. All persons may be joined as plaintiffs in whom the right to any relief claimed is alleged to exist, whether jointly, severally, or in the alternative. And judgment may be given for such one or more of the plaintiffs as may be found to be entitled to relief, for such relief as he or they may be entitled to, without any amendment. But the defendant, though unsuccessful, shall be entitled to his costs occasioned by so joining any person or persons who shall not be found entitled to relief, unless the Court in disposing of the costs of the action shall otherwise direct.

2. All persons may be joined as defendants against whom the right to any relief is alleged to exist, whether jointly, severally, or in the alternative. And judgment may be given against such one or more of the defendants as may be found to be liable, according to their respective liabilities, without any amendment.

3. Where an action has been commenced in the name of the wrong person as plaintiff, or where it is doubtful whether it has been commenced in the name of the right plaintiff or plaintiffs, the Court or a Judge may, if satisfied that it has been so commenced through a bond fide mistake, and that it is necessary for the determination of the real matter in dispute so to do, order any other person or persons to be substituted or added as plaintiff or plaintiffs upon such terms as may seem just.

4. Subject to the provisions of the said Act, and the schedule thereto, and these rules, the provisions as to parties, contained in section 42 of 15 & 16 Victoria, chapter 86, shall be in force as to actions in the High Court of Justice.

5. Subject as last aforesaid, in all Probate actions the rules as to parties, heretofore in use in the Court of Probate, shall continue to be in force.

6. Any application to add or strike out or substitute a plaintiff or defendant may be made to the Court or a Judge at any time before trial by motion or summons, or at the trial of the action in a summary manner.

7. Where a defendant is added, unless otherwise ordered by the Court or Judge, the plaintiff shall file an amended copy of and sue out a writ of summons, and serve such new defendant with such writ, or notice in lieu of service thereof, in the same manner as original defendants are served.

8. If a statement of claim has been delivered previously to such defendant being added, the same shall, unless otherwise ordered by the Court or Judge, be amended in such manner as the making such new defendant a party shall render desirable, and a copy of such amended statement of claim shall be delivered to such new defendant at the time when he is served with the writ of summons or notice or afterwards, within four days after his appearance.

9. Where a defendant claims to be entitled to contribution, indemnity, or other remedy or relief over against any person not a party to the action, he may, by leave of the Court or a Judge, issue a notice to that effect, stamped with the seal with which writs of summons are sealed. A copy of such notice shall be filed with the proper officer, and served on such person according to the rules relating to the service of writs of summons. The notice shall state the nature and grounds of the claim, and shall, unless otherwise ordered by the Court or a Judge, be served within the time limited for delivering his statement of defence. Such notice may be in the form or to the effect of the Form No. 1 in Schedule (B.) hereto, with such variations as circumstances may require, and therewith shall be served a copy of the statement of claim, or if there be no statement of claim, then a copy of the writ of summons in the action.

10. When under Rule 12 of the Schedule to the said Act it is made to appear to the Court or a Judge at any time before or at the trial that a question in the action should be determined, not only as between the plaintiff and defendant, but as between the plaintiff and the defendant and any other person, or between any or either of them, the Court or a Judge, before or at the time of making the order for having such question determined, shall direct such notice to be given by the plaintiff at such time and to such person, and in such manner as may be thought proper, and if made at the trial the Judge may postpone such trial as he may think fit.

11. If a person not a party to the action, who is served as mentioned in Rule 9, desires to dispute the plaintiff's claim in the action as against the defendant on whose behalf the notice has been given, he must enter an appearance in the action within eight days from the service of the notice. In default of his so doing, he shall be deemed to admit the validity of the judgment obtained against such defendant, whether obtained by consent or otherwise. Provided always, that a person so served and failing to appear within the said period of eight days may apply to the Court or a Judge for leave to appear, and such leave may be given upon such terms, if any, as the Court or a Judge shall think fit.

12. If a person not a party to the action served under these Rules appears pursuant to the notice, the party giving the notice may apply to the Court or a Judge for directions as to the mode of having the question in the action determined; and the Court or Judge, upon the hearing of such application, may, if it shall appear desirable so to do, give the person so served liberty to defend the action upon such terms as shall seem just, and may direct such pleadings to be delivered, or such amendments in any pleadings to be made, and generally may direct such proceedings to be taken, and give such directions as to the Court or a Judge shall appear proper for having the question most conveniently determined, and as to the mode and extent in or to which the person so served shall be bound or made liable by the decision of the question.

ORDER XVI.

JOINDER OF CAUSES OF ACTION.

1. No cause of action shall, unless by leave of the Court or a Judge, be joined with an action for the recovery of land, except claims in respect of mesne profits or arrears of rent in respect of the premises claimed, or any part thereof, and damages for breach of any contract under which the same or any part thereof are held.

2. Claims by a trustee in bankruptcy as such shall not, unless by leave of the Court or a Judge, be joined with any claim by him in any other capacity.

3. Claims by or against husband and wife may be joined with claims by or against either of them separately.

4. Claims

4. Claims by or against an executor or administrator as such may be joined with claims by or against him personally; provided the last-mentioned claims are alleged to arise with reference to the estate in respect of which the plaintiff or defendant sues or is sued as executor or administrator.

5. Claims by plaintiffs jointly may be joined with claims by them or any of them separately against the same defendant.

6. The last three preceding Rules shall be subject to Rule 22 in the Schedule to the Act, and to the Rules hereinafter contained.

7. Any defendant alleging that the plaintiff has united in the same action several causes of action which cannot be conveniently disposed of in one action, may at any time apply to the Court or a Judge for an order confining the action to such of the courses of action as may be conveniently disposed of in one proceeding.

8. If, on the hearing of such application as in the last preceding Rule mentioned, it shall appear to the Court or a Judge that the causes of action are such as cannot all be conveniently disposed of in one action, the Court or a Judge may order any of such causes of action to be excluded, and may direct the statement of claim, or, if no statement of claim has been delivered, the copy of the writ of summons, and the indorsement of claim on the writ of summons, to be amended accordingly, and may make such order as to costs as may be just.

ORDER XVII.

ACTIONS BY AND AGAINST LUNATICS AND PERSONS OF UNSOUND MIND.

In all cases in which lunatics and persons of unsound mind not so found by inquisition might respectively before the passing of the Act have sued as plaintiffs or would have been liable to be sued as defendants in any action or suit, they may respectively sue as plaintiffs in any action by their committee or next friend in manner practised in the Court of Chancery before the passing of the said Act, and may in like manner defend any action by their committees or guardians appointed for that purpose.

ORDER XVIII.

PLEADING GENERALLY.

1. Every pleading shall contain as concisely as may be a statement of the material facts on which the party pleading relies, but not the evidence by which they are to be proved, such statement being divided into paragraphs, numbered consecutively, and each paragraph containing, as nearly as may be, a separate allegation. Dates, sums, and numbers shall be expressed in figures and not in words. Signature of counsel shall not be necessary.

2. Every pleading which shall contain less than three folios of 72 words each (every figure being counted as one word) may be either printed or written, or partly printed and partly written, and every other pleading shall be printed.

3. Every pleading or other document required to be delivered to a party, or between parties, shall be delivered in the manner now in use to the solicitor of every party who appears by a solicitor, or to the party if he does not appear by a solicitor, but if no appearance has been entered for any party, then such pleading or document shall be delivered by being filed with the proper officer.

4. Every pleading shall be delivered between parties, and shall be marked on the face with the date of the day on which it is delivered, and with the reference to the letter and number of the action, the division to which and the Judge (if any) to whom the action is assigned, the title of the action, the description of the pleading, and the name and place of business of the solicitor and agent, if any, delivering the same, or the name and address of the party delivering the same if he does not act by a solicitor.

5. Every statement of claim shall state specifically the relief which the plaintiff claims, either simply or in the alternative, and may also ask for general relief. And the same rule shall apply to any counter-claim made, or relief claimed by the defendant, in his statement of defence. If the plaintiff's claim be for discovery only the statement of claim shall show it.

6. Where the plaintiff seeks relief in respect of several distinct claims or causes of complaint founded upon separate and distinct facts, they shall be stated, as far as may be, separately and distinctly. And the same rule shall apply where the defendant relies upon several distinct grounds of defence, set-off, or counter claim founded upon separate and distinct facts.

7. Where any defendant seeks to rely upon any facts as supporting a right of set-off or counter-claim, he shall, in his statement of defence, state specifically that he does so by way of set-off or counter-claim.

8. If either party wishes to deny the right of any other party to claim as executor, or as trustee, whether in bankruptcy or otherwise, or in any representative or other alleged capacity, or the alleged constitution of any partnership firm, he shall deny the same specifically.

9. In probate actions where the plaintiff disputes the interest of the defendant, he shall allege in his statement of claim that he denies the defendant's interest.

10. No plea or defence shall be pleaded in abatement.

11. No new assignment shall hereafter be necessary or used. But everything which has heretofore been alleged by way of new assignment may hereafter be introduced by amendment of the statement of claim.

12. No defendant in an action for the recovery of land who is in possession by himself or his tenant need plead his title, unless his defence depends on an equitable estate or right, or he claims relief upon any equitable ground against any right or title asserted by the plaintiff. But, except in the cases hereinbefore mentioned, it shall be sufficient to state by way of defence that he is so in possession. And he may, nevertheless, rely upon any ground of defence which he can prove, except as hereinbefore mentioned.

13. Nothing in these rules contained shall affect the right of any defendant to plead not guilty by statute. And every defence of not guilty by statute shall have the same effect as a plea of not guilty by statute has heretofore had. But if the defendant so plead, he shall not plead any other defence without the leave of the Court or a Judge.

14. Every allegation of fact in any pleading, if not denied specifically or by necessary implication, or stated to be not admitted in the pleading of the opposite party, shall be taken to be admitted, except as against an infant, lunatic, or person of unsound mind not so found by inquisition.

15. Each party in any pleading must allege all such facts not appearing in the previous pleadings as he means to rely on, and must raise all such grounds of defence or reply, as the case may be, as if not raised on the pleadings would be likely to take the opposite party by surprise, or would raise new issues of fact not arising out of the pleadings, as, for instance, fraud, or that any claim has been barred by the Statute of Limitations, or has been released.

16. No pleading shall, except by way of amendment, raise any new ground of claim, or contain any allegation of fact inconsistent with the previous pleadings of the party filing the same.

17. It shall not be sufficient for a defendant in his defence to deny generally the facts alleged by the statement of claim, or for a plaintiff in his reply to deny generally the facts alleged in a defence by way of counter-claim, but each party must deal specifically with each allegation of fact of which he does not admit the truth.

18. Subject to the last preceding rule, the plaintiff by his reply may join issue upon the defence, and each party in his pleading, if any subsequent to reply, may join issue upon the previous pleading. Such joinder of issue shall operate as a denial of every material allegation of fact in the pleading upon which issue is joined, but it may except any facts which the party may be willing to admit, and shall then operate as a denial of the facts not so admitted.

19. When a party in any pleading denies an allegation of fact in the previous pleading of the opposite party, he must not do so evasively, but answer the point of substance. Thus, if it be alleged that he received a certain sum of money, it shall not be sufficient to deny that he received that particular amount, but he must deny that he received that sum or any part thereof, or else set out how much he received. And so when a matter of fact is alleged with divers circumstances, it shall not be sufficient to deny it as alleged along with those circumstances, but a fair and substantial answer must be given.

20. When a contract is alleged in any pleading, a bare denial of the contract by the opposite party shall be construed only as a denial of the making of the contract in fact, and not of its legality or its sufficiency in law, whether with reference to the Statute of Frauds or otherwise.

21. Wherever the contents of any document are material, it shall be sufficient in any pleading to state the effect thereof as briefly as possible, without setting out the whole or any part thereof unless the precise words of the document or any part thereof are material.

22. Wherever it is material to allege malice, fraudulent intention, knowledge, or other condition of the mind of any person, it shall be sufficient to allege the same as a fact without setting out the circumstances from which the same is to be inferred.

23. Wherever it is material to allege notice to any person of any fact, matter, or thing, it shall be sufficient to allege such notice as a fact, unless the form or the precise terms of such notice be material.

24. Wherever any contract or any relation between any persons does not arise from an express agreement, but is to be implied from a series of letters or conversations, or otherwise from a number of circumstances, it shall be sufficient to allege such contract or relation as a fact, and to refer generally to such letters, conversations, or circumstances without setting them out in detail. And if in such case the person so pleading desires to rely in the alternative upon more contracts or relations than one as to be implied from such circumstances, he may state the same in the alternative.

25. Neither party need in any pleading allege any matter of fact which the law presumes in his favour or as to which the burden of proof lies upon the other side, unless the same has first been specifically denied.

[E.g.] Consideration for a bill of exchange where the plaintiff sues only on the Bill, and not for the consideration as a substantive ground of claim.]

26. Where an action proceeds in a district registry all pleadings and other documents required to be filed shall be filed in the district registry.

27. In actions for damage by collision between vessels, unless the Court or a Judge shall otherwise order, each solicitor shall, before any pleading is delivered, file with the proper officer a document to be called a Preliminary Act, which shall be sealed up and shall not be opened until ordered by the Court or a Judge, and which shall contain a statement of the following particulars:—

And if, after a statement of defence has been delivered, any ground of defence arises to any set-off or counter-claim alleged therein by the defendant, it may be pleaded by the plaintiff in his reply, either alone or together with any other ground of reply.

2. Where any ground of defence arises after the defendant has delivered a statement of defence, or after the time limited for his doing so has expired, the defendant may, and where any ground of defence to any set-off or counter-claim arises after reply, or after the time limited for delivering a reply has expired, the plaintiff may, within eight days after such ground of defence has arisen, and by leave of the Court or a Judge, deliver a further defence or further reply, as the case may be, setting forth the same.

3. Whenever any defendant, in his statement of defence, or in any further statement of defence as in the last rule mentioned alleges any ground of defence which has arisen after the commencement of the action, the plaintiff may deliver a confession of such defence, which confession may be in the Form No. 2 in Schedule B. hereto, with such variations as circumstances may require, and he may thereupon sign judgment for his costs up to the time of the pleading of such defence unless the Court or a Judge shall, either before or after the delivery of such confession, otherwise order.

ORDER XX.

STATEMENT OF CLAIM.

1. Subject to Rules 2 and 3 of this Order, the delivery of statements of claim shall be regulated as follows:—

(a.) If the defendant shall not state that he does not require the delivery of a statement of claim the plaintiff shall, unless otherwise ordered by the Court or a Judge, deliver it within six weeks from the time of the defendant's entering his appearance.

(b.) The plaintiff may, if he think fit, at any time after the issue of the writ of summons, deliver a statement of claim, with the writ of summons or notice in lieu of writ of summons, or at any time afterwards, either before or after appearance, and although the defendant may have appeared and stated that he does not require the delivery of a statement of claim: Provided that in no case where a defendant has appeared shall a statement be delivered more than six weeks after the appearance has been entered unless otherwise ordered by the Court or a Judge.

(c.) Where a plaintiff delivers a statement of claim without being required to do so, the Court or a Judge may make such order as to the costs occasioned thereby as shall seem just, if it appears that the delivery of a statement of claim was unnecessary or improper.

2. In Probate actions the plaintiff shall, unless otherwise ordered by the Court or a Judge, deliver his statement of claim within six weeks from the entry of of appearance by the defendant, or from the time limited for his appearance, in case he has made default; but where the defendant has appeared the plaintiff shall not be compelled to deliver it until the expiration of eight days after the defendant has filed his affidavit as to scripts.

3. In Admiralty actions in rem the plaintiff shall, within 12 days from the appearance of the defendant, deliver his statement of claim.

4. Where the writ is specially indorsed, and the defendant has not dispensed with a statement of claim, it shall be sufficient for the plaintiff to deliver as his statement of claim a notice to the effect that his claim is that which appears by the indorsement upon the writ, unless the Court or a Judge shall order him to deliver a further statement. Such notice may be either written or printed, or partly written and partly printed, and may be in the Form No. 3 in Schedule (B) hereto, and shall be marked on the face in the same manner as is required in the case of an ordinary statement of claim. And when the plaintiff is ordered to deliver such further statement, it shall be delivered within such time as by such order shall be directed, and if no time be so limited then within the time prescribed by Rule 1 of this Order.

ORDER XXI.

DEFENCE.

1. Where a statement of claim is delivered to a defendant he shall deliver his defence within eight days from the delivery of the statement of claim, or from the time limited for appearance, whichever shall be last, unless such time is extended by the Court or a Judge.

2. A defendant who has appeared in an action and stated that he does not require the delivery of a statement of claim, and to whom a statement of claim is not delivered, may deliver a defence at any time within eight days after his appearance, unless such time is extended by the Court or a Judge.

3. Where leave has been given to a defendant to defend under Rule 7 in the Schedule to the Act, he shall deliver his defence, if any, within such time as shall be limited by the order giving him leave to defend, or if no time is thereby limited, then within eight days after the order.

4. Where the Court or a Judge shall be of opinion that any allegations of fact denied or not admitted by the defence ought to have been admitted, the Court may make such order as shall be just with respect to any extra costs occasioned by their having been denied or not admitted.

5. Where a defendant by his defence sets up any counter-claim which raises questions between himself and the plaintiff along with any other person or persons, he shall add to the title of his defence a further title similar to the title in a statement of complaint, setting forth the names of all the persons who, if such counter-claim were to be enforced by cross action, would be defendants to such cross action, and shall deliver his defence to such of them as are parties to the action within the period within which he is required to deliver it to the plaintiff.

6. Where any such person as in the last preceding rule mentioned is not a party to the action, he shall be summoned to appear by being served with a copy of the defence, and such service shall be regulated by the same rules as are hereinbefore contained with respect to the service of a writ of summons, and every defence so served shall be indorsed in the Form No. 4 in Schedule (B) hereto, or to the like effect.

7. Any person not a defendant to the action, who is served with a defence and counter-claim as aforesaid, must appear thereto as if he had been served with a writ of summons to appear in an action.

8. Any person named in a defence as a party to a counter-claim thereby made may deliver a reply within the time within which he might deliver a defence if it were a statement of claim.

9. Where a defendant by his statement of defence sets up a counter-claim, if the plaintiff or any other person named in manner aforesaid as party to such counter-claim contends that the claim thereby raised ought not to be disposed of by way of counter-claim, but in an independent action, he may at any time before reply, apply to the Court or a Judge for an order that such counter-claim may be excluded, and the Court or a Judge may, on the hearing of such application, make such order as shall be just.

10. In probate actions the party opposing a will may, with his defence, give notice to the party setting up the will that he merely insists upon the will being proved in solemn form of law, and only intends to cross-examine the witnesses produced in support of the will, and he shall thereupon be at liberty to do so, and shall be subject to the same liabilities in respect of costs as he would have been under similar circumstances according to the practice of the Court of Probate.

ORDER XXII.

REPLY AND SUBSEQUENT PLEADINGS.

1. A plaintiff shall deliver his reply, if any, within three weeks after the defence or the last of the defences shall have been delivered, unless the time shall be extended by the Court or a Judge.

2. No pleading subsequent to reply other than a joinder of issue shall be pleaded without leave of the Court or a Judge, and then upon such terms as the Court or Judge shall think fit.

3. Subsequent to the last preceding rule, every pleading subsequent to reply shall be delivered within four days after the delivery of the previous pleading, unless the time shall be extended by the Court or a Judge.

ORDER XXIII.

CLOSE OF PLEADINGS.

As soon as either party has joined issue upon any pleading of the opposite party simply without adding any further or other pleading thereto, the pleadings as between such parties shall be deemed to be closed.

ORDER XXIV.

AMENDMENT OF PLEADINGS.

1. The plaintiff may, without any leave, amend his statement of claim once at any time before the expiration of the time limited for reply and before replying, or, where no defence is delivered, at any time before the expiration of four weeks from the appearance of the defendant who shall have last appeared.

2. A defendant who has set up in his defence any set-off or counter-claim may, without any leave, amend such set-off or counter-claim at any time before the expiration of the time allowed him for pleading to the reply, and before pleading thereto, or in case there be no reply, then, at any time before the expiration of 28 days from the filing of his defence.

3. Where any party has amended his pleading under either of the last two preceding rules, the opposite party may, within eight days after the delivery to him of the amended pleading, apply to the Court or a Judge to disallow the amendment, or any part thereof, and the Court or Judge may, if satisfied that the justice of the case requires it, disallow the same, or allow it subject to such terms as to costs or otherwise as may seem just.

4. Where any party has amended his pleading under Rule 1 or 2 of this Order the other party may apply to the Court or a Judge for leave to plead or amend amend his former pleading within such time and upon such terms as may seem just.

5. In all cases not provided for by the preceding rules of this Order, application for leave to amend any pleading may be made by either party to the Court or a Judge in chambers, or to the Judge at the trial of the action, and such amendment may be allowed upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as may seem just.

6. If a party who has obtained an order for leave to amend a pleading delivered by him does not amend the same within the time limited for that purpose by the order, or if no time is thereby limited, then within 14 days from the date of the order, such order to amend shall, on the expiration of such limited time as aforesaid, or of such 14 days, as the case may be, become ipso facto void, unless the time is extended by the Court or a Judge.

7. A pleading may be amended by written alterations in the pleading which has been delivered, and by additions on paper to be interleaved therewith if necessary, unless the amendments require the insertion of more than 144 words in any one place, or are so numerous, or of such a nature that the making them in writing would render the pleading difficult or inconvenient to read, in either of which cases the amendment must be made by delivering a print of the pleading as amended.

8. Whenever any pleading is amended, such pleading when amended shall be marked with the date of the order, if any, under which the same is so amended, and of the day on which such amendment is made, in manner following, viz.: "Amended day of

9. Whenever a pleading is amended, such amended pleading shall be delivered to the opposite party within the time allowed for amending the same.

ORDER XXV.

DEMURRER.

1. Any party may demur to any pleading of the opposite party, or to any part of a pleading setting up a distinct cause of action, ground of defence, set-off, counter-claim, reply, or, as the case may be, on the ground that the facts alleged therein do not show any cause of action, or ground of defence to a claim or any part thereof, or set-off, or counter-claim, or reply, or, as the case may be, to which effect can be given by the Court as against the party demurring.

2. A demurrer shall state specifically whether it is to the whole or to a part, and if so, to what part, of the pleading of the opposite party. It shall state some ground in law for the demurrer, but the party demurring shall not, on the argument of the demurrer, be limited to the ground so stated. A demurrer may be in the Form 1 in Schedule (C) hereto. If there is no ground, or only a frivolous ground of demurrer stated, the Court or Judge may set aside such demurrer with costs.

3. A demurrer shall be delivered in the same manner and within the same time as any other pleading in the action.

4. A defendant desiring to demur to part of a statement of claim, and to put in a defence to the other part, shall combine such demurrer and defence in one pleading. And so in every case where a party entitled to put in a further pleading desires to demur to part of the last pleading of the opposite party he shall combine such demurrer and other pleading.

5. If the party demurring desires to be at liberty to plead as well as demur to the matter demurred to, he may, before demurring, apply to the Court or a Judge for an order giving him leave to do so; and the Court or Judge, if satisfied that there is reasonable ground for the demurrer, may make an order accordingly, or may reserve leave to him to plead after the demurrer is overruled, or may make such other order and upon such terms as may be just.

6. When a demurrer either to the whole or part of a pleading is delivered, either party may enter the demurrer for argument immediately, and the party so entering such demurrer shall on the same day give notice thereof to the other party. If the demurrer shall not be entered, and notice thereof given within 10 days after delivery, and if the party whose pleading is demurred to does not within such time serve an order for leave to amend, the demurrer shall be held sufficient for the same purposes and with the same result as to costs as if it had been allowed on argument.

7. While a demurrer to the whole or any part of a pleading is pending, such pleading shall not be amended, unless by order of the Court or a Judge; and no such order shall be made except on payment of the costs of the demurrer.

8. Where a demurrer to the whole or part of any pleading is allowed upon argument, the party whose pleading is demurred to shall, unless the Court otherwise order, pay to the demurring party the costs of the demurrer.

9. If a demurrer to the whole of a statement of claim be allowed, the plaintiff, subject to the power of the Court to allow the statement of claim to be amended, shall pay to the demurring defendant the costs of the action, unless the Court shall otherwise order.

10. Where a demurrer to any pleading or part of a pleading is allowed in any case not falling within the last preceding rule, then (subject to the power of the Court to allow an amendment) the matter demurred to shall as between the parties to the demurrer be deemed to be struck out of the pleadings, and the rights of the parties shall be the same as if it had not been pleaded.

11. Where a demurrer is overruled the demurring party shall pay to the opposite party the costs occasioned by the demurrer, unless the Court shall otherwise direct.

12. Where a demurrer is overruled, the Court may make such order, and upon such terms as to the Court shall seem right, for allowing the demurring party to raise by pleading any case he may be desirous to set up in opposition to the matter demurred to.

13. A demurrer shall be entered for argument by delivering to the proper officer a memorandum of entry in the Form No. 2 in Schedule (C).

ORDER XXVI.

DEFAULT OF PLEADING.

1. If the plaintiff, being bound to deliver a statement of claim, does not deliver the same within the time allowed for that purpose, the defendant may, at the expiration of that time, apply to the Court or a Judge to dismiss the action with costs for want of prosecution, and on the hearing of such application the Court or Judge may, if no statement of claim have been delivered, order the action to be dismissed accordingly, or may make such other order on such terms as to the Court or Judge shall seem just.

2. If the plaintiff's claim be only for a debt or liquidated demand, and the defendant does not, within the time allowed for that purpose, deliver a defence or demurrer, the plaintiff may, at the expiration of such time, enter final judgment for the amount claimed, with costs.

3. When in any such action as in the last preceding rule mentioned there are several defendants, if one of them make default as mentioned in the last preceding rule, the plaintiff may enter final judgment against the defendant so making default, and issue execution upon such judgment without prejudice to his right to proceed with his action against the other defendants.

4. If the plaintiff's claim be for detention of goods and pecuniary damages, or either of them, and the defendant makes default as mentioned in Rule 2, the plaintiff may enter an interlocutory judgment against the defendant, and a writ of inquiry shall issue to assess the value of the goods, and the damages, or the damages only, as the case may be. But the Court or a Judge may order that, that, instead of a writ of inquiry, the value and amount of damages, or either of them, shall be ascertained in any way in which any question arising in an action may be tried.

5. When in any such action as in Rule 4 mentioned there are several defendants, if one of them make default as mentioned in Rule 2, the plaintiff may enter an interlocutory judgment against the defendant so making default, and proceed with his action against the others. And in such case, damages against the defendant making default shall be assessed at the same time with the trial of the action or issues therein against the other defendants, unless the Court or a Judge shall otherwise direct.

6. If the plaintiff's claim be for a debt or liquidated demand, and also for detention of goods and pecuniary damages, or pecuniary damages only, and the defendant makes default as mentioned in Rule 2, the plaintiff may enter final judgment for the debt or liquidated demand, and also enter interlocutory judgment for the value of the goods and the damages, or the damages only, as the case may be, and proceed as mentioned in Rule 4.

7. In an action for the recovery of land, if the defendant makes default as mentioned in Rule 2, the plaintiff may enter a judgment that the person whose title is asserted in the writ of summons shall recover possession of the land, with his costs.

8. Where the plaintiff has endorsed a claim for mesne profits, arrears of rent, or damages for breach of contract upon a writ for the recovery of land, if the defendant makes default as mentioned in Rule 2, or if there be more than one defendant, some or one of the defendants make such default, the plaintiff may enter judgment against the defaulting defendant or defendants, and proceed as mentioned in Rules 4 and 5.

9. In probate actions, if any defendant make default in filing and delivering a defence or demurrer, the action may proceed, notwithstanding such default.

10. In all other actions than those in the preceding rules of this Order mentioned, if the defendant makes default in delivering a defence or demurrer, the plaintiff may set down the action on motion for judgment, and such judgment shall be given as upon the statement of claim the Court shall consider the plaintiff to be entitled to.

11. Where, in any such action as mentioned in the last preceding rule, there are several defendants, then, if one of such defendants make such default as aforesaid, the plaintiff may either set down the action at once on motion for judgment against the defendant so making default, or may set it down against him at the time when it is entered for trial or set down on motion for judgment against the other defendants.

12. If the plaintiff does not deliver a reply or demurrer, or any party does not deliver any subsequent pleading, or a demurrer, within the period allowed for that purpose, the pleadings shall be deemed to be closed at the expiration of that period, and the statements of fact in the pleading last delivered shall be deemed to be admitted.

13. In any case in which issues arise in an action other than between plaintiff and defendant, if any party to any such issue makes default in delivering any pleading, the opposite party may apply to the Court or a Judge for such judgment, if any, as upon the pleadings he may appear to be entitled to. And the Court may order judgment to be entered accordingly, or may make such other order as may be necessary to do complete justice between the parties.

14. Any judgment by default, whether under this Order or under any other of these rules, may be set aside by the Court or a Judge, upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as such Court or Judge may think fit.

ORDER XXVII.

PAYMENT INTO COURT IN SATISFACTION.

1. Where any action is brought for a debt or pecuniary damages, any defendant may at any time after service of the writ, and before or at the time of delivering his defence, or by leave of the Court or a Judge at any later time, pay into Court a sum of money by way of satisfaction or amends in respect of any such cause of action. Payment into Court shall be pleaded in the defence, and the claim or cause of action in respect of which such payment shall be made shall be specified therein.

2. Such sum of money shall be paid to the proper officer, who shall give a receipt for the same. If such payment be made before delivering his defence, the defendant shall thereupon serve upon the plaintiff a notice that he has paid in such money, and in respect of what claim, in the Form No. 5 in the Schedule (B) hereto.

3. Money paid into Court as aforesaid shall be paid out to the plaintiff, or to his solicitor on the written authority of the plaintiff. No affidavit shall be necessary to verify the plaintiff's signature to such written authority unless specially required by the officer of the Court.

4. The plaintiff, if payment into Court is made before delivering a defence, may within four days after receipt of notice of such payment, or if such payment is first stated in a defence delivered then, may before reply, accept the same in satisfaction of the causes of action in respect of which it is paid in ; in which case he shall give notice to the defendant in the Form No. 6 in Schedule (B) hereto, and shall be at liberty, in case the sum paid in is accepted in satisfaction of the entire cause of action, to tax his costs, and, in case of non-payment within 48 hours, to sign judgment for his costs so taxed.

ORDER XXVIII.

DISCOVERY AND INSPECTION.

1. The plaintiff may, at the time of delivering his statement of claim, or at any subsequent time not later than the close of the pleadings, and a defendant may, at the time of delivering his defence, or at any subsequent time not later than the close of the pleadings, without any order for that purpose, and either party may at any time, by leave of the Court or a Judge, deliver interrogatories in writing for the examination of the opposite party or parties, or any one or more of such parties, with a note at the foot thereof, stating which of such interrogatories each of such persons is required to answer : Provided that no party shall deliver more than one set of interrogatories to the same party without an order for that purpose.

2. Interrogatories may be in the Form No. 7 in Schedule (B) hereto, with such variations as circumstances may require.

3. If any party to an action be a body corporate or a joint-stock company, whether incorporated or not, or any other body of persons, empowered by law to sue or be sued, whether in its own name or in the name of any officer or other person, any opposite party may apply at chambers for an order allowing him to deliver interrogatories to any member or officer of such corporation, company, or body, and an order may be made accordingly.

4. Any party called upon to answer interrogatories, whether by himself or by any member or officer, may, within four days after service of the interrogatories, apply at chambers to strike out any interrogatory, on the ground that it is scandalous or irrelevant, or is not put bonâ fide for the purposes of the action, or that the matter inquired after is not sufficiently material at that stage of the action, or on any other ground. And the Judge, if satisfied that any interrogatory is objectionable, may order it to be struck out.

5. Interrogatories

5. Interrogatories shall be answered by affidavit to be filed within ten days, or within such further time as a Judge in chambers may allow.

6. An affidavit in answer to interrogatories shall, if exceeding three folios, be printed and may be in the Form No. 8 in Schedule (B) hereto, with such variations as circumstances may require.

7. Any objection to answering any interrogatory may be taken, and the ground thereof stated in the affidavit mentioned in the preceding rule.

8. If any person interrogated omits to answer, or answers insufficiently, the party interrogating may apply to the Court or a Judge for an order requiring him to answer, or to answer further, as the case may be. And an order may be made requiring him to answer, or answer further, either by affidavit or by viva voce examination, as the Judge may direct.

9. Any party may, without filing any affidavit, apply to a Judge in chambers for an order directing any other party to the action to make discovery on oath of the documents which are or have been in his possession or power, relating to any matter in question in the action.

10. The affidavit to be made by a party against whom such order as is mentioned in the last preceding rule has been made, shall specify which, if any, of the documents therein mentioned, he objects to produce, and it may be in the Form No. 9 in Schedule (B) hereto, with such variations as circumstances may require.

11. Notice to any party to produce any documents referred to in his pleading or affidavits shall be in the Form No. 10 in Schedule (B) hereto.

12. The party to whom such notice is given shall, within two days from the receipt of such notice, if all the documents therein referred to have been set forth by him in such affidavit as is mentioned in Rule 10, or if any of the documents referred to in such notice have not been set forth by him in any such affidavit, then within four days from the receipt of such notice, deliver to the party giving the same a notice stating a time within three days from the delivery thereof at which the documents, or such of them as he does not object to produce, may be inspected at the office of his solicitor, and stating which (if any) of the documents he objects to produce, and on what ground. Such notice may be in the Form No. 11 in Schedule (B) hereto, with such variations as circumstances may require.

13. If the party served with notice under Rule 11 omits to give such notice of a time for inspection, or objects to give inspection, the party desiring it may apply to a Judge in chambers for an order for inspection.

14. Every application for an order for inspection of documents shall be to a Judge at chambers; and except in the case of documents referred to in the pleadings or affidavits of the party against whom the application is made, or disclosed in his affidavit of documents, such application shall be founded upon an affidavit showing of what documents inspection is sought, that the party applying is entitled to inspect them, and that they are in the possession or power of the other party.

15. If the party from whom discovery of any kind or inspection is sought objects to the same, or any part thereof, the Court or a Judge may, if satisfied that the right to the discovery or inspection sought depends on the determination of any issue or question in dispute in the action, or that for any other reason it is desirable that any issue or question in dispute in the action should be determined before deciding upon the right to the discovery or inspection, order that such issue or question be determined first, and reserve the question as to the discovery or inspection.

16. If any party fails to comply with any order to answer interrogatories, or for discovery or inspection of documents, he shall be liable to attachment. He shall also, if a plaintiff, be liable to have his action dismissed for want of prosecution, and, if a defendant, to have his defence, if any, struck out, and to be placed in the same position as if he had not defended, and the party interrogating may apply to the Court or a Judge for an order to that effect, and an order may be made accordingly.

17. Service of an order for discovery or inspection made against any party on his solicitor shall be sufficient service to found an application for an attachment for disobedience to the order. But the party against whom the application for an attachment is made may show in answer to the application that he has had no notice or knowledge of the order.

18. A solicitor upon whom an order against any party for discovery or inspection is served under the last rule, who neglects without reasonable excuse to give notice thereof to his client, shall be liable to attachment.

19. Any party may, at the trial of an action or issue, use in evidence any one or more of the answers of the opposite party to interrogatories without putting in the other : Provided always, that in such case the Judge may look at the whole of the answers, and if he shall be of opinion that any other of them are so connected with those put in that the last-mentioned answers ought not to be used without them, he may direct them to be put in.

ORDER XXIX.

ADMISSION OF DOCUMENTS.

1. A notice to admit documents may be in the Form No. 12 in Schedule (B) hereto.

2. An affidavit of the solicitor in the cause, or his clerk, of the due signature of any admissions made in pursuance of any notice to admit documents, and annexed to the affidavit, shall be sufficient evidence of such admissions.

ORDER XXX.

QUESTIONS OF LAW WITHOUT PLEADINGS.

1. The parties may, after the writ of summons has been issued, concur in stating the questions of law arising in the action in the form of a special case for the opinion of the Court. Every such special case shall be divided into paragraphs numbered consecutively, and shall concisely state such facts and documents as may be necessary to enable the Court to decide the questions raised thereby. Upon the argument of such case the Court and the parties shall be at liberty to refer to the whole contents of such documents, and the Court shall be at liberty to draw from the facts and documents stated in any such special case any inference, whether of fact or law, which might have been drawn therefrom if proved at a trial.

2. Every special case shall be printed by the plaintiff, and signed by the several parties or their solicitors, and shall be filed by the plaintiff. Printed copies for the use of the Judges shall be delivered by the plaintiff.

3. No special case in an action to which a married woman, infant, or person of unsound mind is a party shall be set down for argument without leave of the Court or a Judge, the application for which must be supported by sufficient evidence that the statements contained in such special case, so far as the same affect the interest of such married woman, infant, or person of unsound mind, are true.

4. Either party may enter a special case for argument by delivering to the proper officer a memorandum of entry, in the Form No. 13 in Schedule (B) hereto, and also if any married woman, infant, or person of unsound mind be a party to the action, producing a copy of the order giving leave to enter the same for argument.

For the purpose of these rules the district of every district registry in the county of Lancaster shall mean the district thereto assigned by any order of Her Majesty in Council, and the district of every district registry elsewhere than in the county of Lancaster shall mean a circle with a radius of three miles, as the crow flies, from the registry.

3. Where an action proceeds in the district registry the judgment and all such orders therein as require to be entered, except such judgment or orders for account as mentioned in the last preceding rule, and except orders made by the district registrar under the authority and jurisdiction vested in him under these rules, shall be entered in London, and an office copy of every judgment and order so entered shall be transmitted to the district registry to be filed with the proceedings in the action.

4. Where an action proceeds in the district registry all writs of execution for enforcing any judgment or order therein shall issue from the district registry, unless the Court or a Judge shall otherwise direct.

5. Where an action proceeds in a district registry the district registrar may exercise all such authority and jurisdiction in respect of the action as may be exercised by a Judge at chambers, except such as by these rules a Master of the Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, or Exchequer Divisions is precluded from exercising.

6. Every application to a district registrar shall be made in the same manner in which applications at chambers are directed to be made by these rules.

7. If any matter appears to the district registrar proper for the decision of a judge, the registrar may refer the same to a Judge, and the Judge may either dispose of the matter or refer the same back to the registrar, with such directions as he may think fit.

8. Any person affected by any order or decision of a district registrar may appeal to a Judge; such appeal shall be by summons within four days after the decision complained of, or such further time as may be allowed by a Judge or the registrar.

9. An appeal from a district registrar shall be no stay of proceedings unless so ordered by a Judge or the registrar.

10. Every district registrar and other officer of a district registry shall be subject to the orders and directions of the Court or a Judge as fully as any other officer of the court, and every proceeding in a district registry shall be subject to the control of the Court or a Judge, as fully as a like proceeding in London.

11. Every reference to a Judge by or appeal to a Judge from a district registrar in any action in the Chancery division shall be to the Judge to whom the action is assigned.

12. In any action which would, under the foregoing rules, proceed in the district registry, any defendant may remove the action from the district registry as of right in the cases, and within the times, following :—
348. D district

Where the writ is specially indorsed under Section 7 of the schedule, and the plaintiff does not within four days after the appearance of such defendant give notice of an application for an order against him under Order XIII. ; then such defendant may remove the action as of right at any time after the expiration of such four days, and before delivering a defence, and before the expiration of the time for doing so :

Where the writ is specially indorsed, and the plaintiff has made such application as in the last paragraph mentioned, and the defendant has obtained leave to defend in manner provided by Order XIII. : then such defendant may remove the action as of right at any time after the order giving him leave to defend, and before delivering a defence, and before the expiration of the time for doing so :

Where the writ is not specially indorsed any defendant may remove the action as of right at any time after appearance, and before delivering a defence, and before the expiration of the time for doing so.

13. Any defendant desirous to remove an action as of right under the last preceding rule may do so by serving upon the other parties to the action, and delivering to the district registrar, a notice, signed by himself or his solicitor, to the effect that he desires the action to be removed to London, and the action shall be removed accordingly : Provided, that if the Court or a Judge shall be satisfied that the defendant giving such notice is a merely formal defendant, or has no substantial cause to interfere in the conduct of the action, such Court or Judge may order that the action may proceed in the district registry notwithstanding such notice.

14. In any case not provided for by the last two preceding rules, any party to an action proceeding in a district registry may apply to the Court or a Judge, or to the district registrar, for an order to remove the action from the district registry to London ; and such Court, Judge, or registrar may make an order accordingly, if satisfied that there is sufficient reason for doing so, upon such terms, if any, as shall seem just.

15. Whenever any proceedings are removed from the district registry to London, the district registrar shall transmit to the proper officer of the High Court of Justice all original documents (if any) filed in the district registry, and a copy of all entries in the books of the district registry of the proceedings in the action.

ORDER XXXII.

TRIAL.

1. Subject to the provisions of the following rules, the plaintiff may, with his reply, or at any time after the close of the pleadings, give notice of trial of the action, and thereby specify one of the modes mentioned in Rule 30 of the schedule to the Act.

2. If the plaintiff does not within six weeks after the close of the pleadings, or within such extended time as a Court or Judge may allow, give notice of trial, the defendant may, before notice of trial given by the plaintiff, give notice of trial, and thereby specify one of the modes mentioned in Rule 30 of the schedule to this Act.

3. If the plaintiff or defendant desires to have the action tried in any other mode than that specified in the notice of trial, he shall apply to the Court or a Judge for an order to that effect, within four days from the time of the service of the notice of trial, or within such extended time as a Court or Judge may allow.

4. Notice of trial shall state whether it is for the trial of the action or of issues therein ; and in actions in the Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer Divisions, the place and day for which it is entered for trial. It may may be in the Form No. 14 in Schedule (B), with such variations as circumstances may require.

5. Ten days' notice of trial shall be given, unless the party to whom it is given has consented to take short notice of trial; and shall be sufficient in all cases, unless otherwise ordered by the Court or a Judge. Short notice of trial shall be four days' notice.

6. Notice of trial shall be given before entering the action for trial.

7. Notice of trial for London or Middlesex shall not be or operate as for any particular sittings; but shall be deemed to be for any day after the expiration of the notice on which the action may come on for trial in its order upon the list.

8. Notice of trial elsewhere than in London or Middlesex shall be deemed to be for the first day of the then next assizes at the place for which notice of trial is given.

9. No notice of trial shall be countermanded, except by consent, or by leave of the Court or a Judge, which leave may be given subject to such terms as to costs, or otherwise, as may be just.

10. If the party giving notice of trial for London or Middlesex omits to enter the cause for trial on the day or day after giving notice of trial, the party to whom notice has been given may, unless the notice has been countermanded under the last rule, within four days enter the cause for trial.

11. If notice of trial is given for elsewhere than in London or Middlesex, either party may enter the action for trial. If both parties enter the action for trial it shall be tried in the order of the plaintiff's entry.

12. The party entering the action for trial shall deliver to the officer a copy of the whole of the pleadings in the action, for the use of the Judge at the trial. Such copy shall be in print, except as to such parts, if any, of the pleadings as are by these rules permitted to be written.

13. If, when an action is called on for trial, the plaintiff appears, and the defendant does not appear, then the plaintiff may prove his claim, so far as the burden of proof lies upon him.

14. If, when an action is called on for trial, the defendant appears, and the plaintiff does not appear, the defendant, if he has no counter claim, shall be entitled to judgment dismissing the action; but if he has a counter claim, then he may prove such claim so far as the burden of proof lies upon him.

15. Any verdict or judgment obtained where one party does not appear at the trial may be set aside by the Court or a Judge upon such terms as may seem fit, upon an application made within six days after the trial; such application may be made either at the assizes or in Middlesex.

16. The Judge may, if he think it expedient for the interests of justice, postpone or adjourn the trial for such time, and upon such terms, if any, as he shall think fit.

17. Upon the trial of an action the Judge may, at or after such trial, direct that judgment be entered for any or either party, as he is by law entitled to upon the findings, and either with or without leave to any party to move to set aside or vary the same, or to enter any other judgment, upon such terms, if any, as he shall think fit to impose; or he may direct judgment not to be entered then, and leave any party to move for judgment. No judgment shall be entered after a trial without the order of a Court or Judge.

18. Upon every trial at the assizes, or at the London and Middlesex sitting of the Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, or Exchequer Division, where the officer present at the trial is not the officer by whom judgments ought to be entered, the associate shall enter all such findings of fact as the Judge may direct to be entered, and the directions, if any, of the Judge as to judgment, and the certificates, if any, granted by the Judge, in a book to be kept for the purpose.

19. If the Judge shall direct that any judgment be entered for any party
348. absolutely,

absolutely, the certificate of the associate to that effect shall be a sufficient authority to the proper officer to enter judgment accordingly.

20. If the Judge shall direct that any judgment be entered for any party subject to leave to move, judgment shall be entered accordingly upon the production of the associate's certificate.

21. The Court or a Judge may, if it shall appear desirable, direct a trial without a jury of any question or issue of fact, or partly of fact and partly of law, arising in any cause or matter which previously to the passing of the Act could, without any consent of parties, be tried without a jury.

22. The Court or a Judge may, if it shall appear, either before or at the trial, that any issue of fact can be more conveniently tried before a jury, direct that such issue shall be tried by a Judge with a jury.

23. Trials with assessors shall take place in such manner and upon such terms as the Court or a Judge shall direct.

24. In any action the Court or a Judge of the division to which the action is assigned may, at any time, or from time to time, order the trial and determination of any question or issue of fact, or partly of fact and partly of law, by any commissioner or commissioners appointed in pursuance of the 29th section of the said Act, or at the sittings to be held in Middlesex or London, and such question or issue shall be tried and determined accordingly.

25. Subject to any order to be made by the Court or Judge ordering the same, evidence shall be taken at any trial before a referee, and the attendance of witnesses may be enforced by subpoena, and every such trial shall be conducted in the same manner, as nearly as circumstances will admit, as trials before a Judge of the High Court, but not so as to make the tribunal of the referee a public court of justice.

26. Subject to any such order as last aforesaid, the referee shall have the same authority in the conduct of any reference or trial as a Judge of the High Court when presiding at any trial before him.

27. Nothing in these rules contained shall authorise any referee to commit any person to prison or to enforce any order by attachment or otherwise.

ORDER XXXIII.

EVIDENCE BY AFFIDAVIT.

1. Within fourteen days after a consent for taking evidence by affidavit as between the plaintiff and the defendant has been given, or within such time as the parties may agree upon, or a Judge in chambers may allow, the plaintiff shall file his affidavits and deliver to the defendant or his solicitor a list thereof.

2. The defendant within fourteen days after delivery of such list, or within such time as the parties may agree upon, or a Judge in chambers may allow, shall file his affidavits and deliver to the plaintiff or his solicitor a list thereof.

3. Within seven days after the expiration of the said fourteen days, or such other time as aforesaid, the plaintiff shall file his affidavits in reply, which affidavits shall be confined to matters strictly in reply, and shall deliver to the defendant or his solicitor a list thereof.

4. When the evidence is taken by affidavit, any party desiring to cross-examine a deponent who has made an affidavit filed on behalf of the opposite party, may serve upon the party by whom such affidavit has been filed a notice in writing, requiring the production of the deponent for cross-examination before the Court at the trial, such notice to be served at any time before the expiration of fourteen days next after the end of the time allowed for filing affidavits in reply; or within such time as in any case the Court or a Judge may specially appoint; and unless such deponent is produced accordingly, his affidavit shall not be used as evidence unless by the special leave of the Court. The party producing such deponent for cross-examination shall not be entitled to demand the expenses thereof in the first instance from the party requiring such production.

5. The

5. The party to whom such notice as is mentioned in the last preceding Rule is given shall be entitled to compel the attendance of the deponent for cross-examination in the same way as he might compel the attendance of a witness to be examined.

6. When the evidence in any action is under this order taken by affidavit such evidence shall be printed, and the notice of trial shall be given at the same time or times after the close of the evidence as in other cases is by these Rules provided after the close of the pleadings.

ORDER XXXIV.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL.

1. A party desirous of obtaining a new trial must apply for the same to a Divisional Court by motion for an order calling upon the opposite party to show cause at the expiration of eight days from the date of the order, or so soon after as the case can be heard, why a new trial should not be directed. Such motion shall be made within four days after the trial, if the Divisional Court is then sitting, or within the first four days after the commencement of the sitting of the Divisional Court next after the trial, or within such extended time as the Court or a Judge may allow.

2. A copy of such order shall be served on the opposite party within four days from the time of the same being made.

3. A new trial may be ordered on any question in an action, whatever be the grounds for the new trial, without interfering with the finding or decision upon any other question.

4. An order to show cause shall be a stay of proceedings in the action, unless the Court shall order that it shall not be so as to the whole or any part of the action.

ORDER XXXV.

MOTION FOR JUDGMENT.

1. Except where by the Act or the schedule thereto, or by these rules, it is provided that judgment may be obtained in any other manner, the judgment of the Court shall be obtained by motion for judgment.

2. Where at the trial of an action the Judge or a referee has ordered that any judgment be entered subject to leave to move, the party to whom leave has been reserved shall set down the action on motion for judgment, and give notice thereof to the other parties within the time limited by the Judge in reserving leave, or, if no time has been limited, within ten days after the trial. The notice of motion shall state the grounds of the motion, and the relief sought, and that the motion is pursuant to leave reserved.

3. Where at the trial of an action the Judge or referee abstains from directing any judgment to be entered, the plaintiff may set down the action on motion for judgment. If he does not so set it down and give notice thereof to the other parties within ten days after the trial, any defendant may set down the action on motion for judgment, and give notice thereof to the other parties.

4. Where at the trial of an action before a Jury the judge has directed that any judgment be entered, any party may, without any leave reserved, move to set aside such judgment, and enter any other judgment, on the ground that the judgment directed to be entered is wrong, by reason of the Judge having caused the finding to be entered wrongly, with reference to the finding of the jury upon the question or questions submitted to them.

5. Where at the trial of an action the Judge or a referee has directed that any judgment be entered, any party may, without any leave reserved, move to set aside such judgment, and to enter any other judgment, on the ground that upon the finding as entered the judgment so directed is wrong.

6. On every motion made under the provisions of the 48th section of the Act, or under either of the last two preceding rules, the order shall be an order to show cause, and shall be returnable in eight days. The motion shall be made within four days after the trial if the Divisional Court is then sitting, or within the first four days after the commencement of the sitting of the Divisional Court next after the trial, or within such extended time as a Court or Judge may allow.

7. Where issues have been ordered to be tried, or issues or questions of fact to be determined in any manner, the plaintiff may set down the action on motion for judgment as soon as such issues or questions have been determined. If he does not so set it down, and give notice thereof to the other parties within ten days after his right so to do has arisen, then, after the expiration of such ten days, any defendant may set down the action on motion for judgment, and give notice thereof to the other parties.

8. Where issues have been ordered to be tried, or issues or questions of fact to be determined in any manner, and some only of such issues or questions of fact have been tried or determined, any party who considers that the result of such trial or determination renders the trial or determination of the others of them unnecessary, or renders it desirable that the trial or determination thereof should be postponed, may apply to the Court or a Judge for leave to set down the action on motion for judgment, without waiting for such trial or determination. And the Court or Judge may, if satisfied with the expediency thereof, give such leave, upon such terms, if any, as shall appear just, and may give any directions which may appear desirable as to postponing the trial of the other questions of fact.

9. No action shall, except by leave of the Court or a Judge, be set down on motion for judgment after the expiration of one year from the time when the party seeking to set down the same first became entitled so to do.

10. Upon a motion for judgment, or for a new trial, or any other motion made under the provisions of the 48th section of the Act, the Court may, if satisfied that it has before it all the materials necessary for finally determining the questions in dispute, or any of them, or for awarding any relief sought, give judgment accordingly; or may, if it shall be of opinion that it has not sufficient materials before it to enable it to give judgment, direct the motion to stand over for further consideration, and direct such issues or questions to be tried or determined, and such accounts and inquiries to be taken and made as it may think fit.

11. None of the rules of this order shall apply to applications under Section 40 of the schedule to the Act, but any such application may be made by motion, so soon as the right of the party applying to the relief claimed has appeared from the pleadings. The Court or a Judge may, on any such application, give such relief, subject to such terms, if any, as such Court or Judge may think fit.

ORDER XXXVL

ENTRY OF JUDGMENT.

1. Every judgment shall be entered by the proper officer in the book to be kept for the purpose. The party entering the judgment shall deliver to the officer a copy of the whole of the pleadings in the action; such copy shall be in print, except such parts (if any) of the pleadings as are by these rules permitted to be written.

2. Where any judgment is pronounced by the Court or a Judge in court, the entry of the judgment shall be dated as of the day on which such judgment is pronounced, and the judgment shall take effect from that date.

3. In all cases not within the last preceding rule, the entry of judgment shall be dated as of the day on which the requisite documents are left with the proper officer officer for the purpose of such entry, and the judgment shall take effect from that date.

4. Where under the Act, or the schedule thereto, or these rules, or otherwise, it is provided that any judgment may be entered or signed upon the filing of any affidavit or production of any document, the officer shall examine the affidavit or document produced, and if the same be regular, and contain all that is by law required, he shall enter judgment accordingly.

5. Where by the Act, or schedule, or these rules, or otherwise, any judgment may be entered pursuant to any order or certificate, or return to any writ, the production of such order or certificate sealed with the seal of the Court, or of such return, shall be a sufficient authority to the officer to enter judgment accordingly.

ORDER XXXVII.

EXECUTION.

1. A judgment for the recovery by or payment to any person of money may be enforced by any of the modes by which a judgment or decree for the payment of money of any Court whose jurisdiction is transferred by the said Act might have been enforced at the time of the passing thereof.

2. A judgment for the payment of money into Court may be enforced by writ of sequestration, or in cases in which attachment is authorised by law by attachment.

3. A judgment for the recovery or for the delivery of the possession of land may be enforced by writ of possession.

4. A judgment for the recovery of any property other than land or money may be enforced :

By writ for delivery of the property.

By writ of attachment.

By writ of sequestration.

5. A judgment requiring any person to do any act other than the payment of money, or to abstain from doing anything, may be enforced by writ of attachment or by committal.

6. In these rules the term "writ of execution" shall include writs of fieri facias, capias, elegit, sequestration, and attachment, and all subsequent writs that may issue for giving effect thereto. And the term "issuing execution against any party" shall mean the issuing of any such process against his person or property as under the preceding rules of this order shall be applicable to the case.

7. Where a judgment is to the effect that any party is entitled to any relief subject to or upon the fulfilment of any condition or contingency, the party so entitled may, upon the fulfilment of the condition or contingency, and demand made upon the party against whom he is entitled to relief, apply to the Court or a Judge for leave to issue execution against such party. And the Court or Judge may, if satisfied that the right to relief has arisen according to the terms of the judgment, order that execution issue accordingly, or may direct that any issue or question necessary for the determination of the rights of the parties be tried in any of the ways in which questions arising in an action may be tried.

8. Where a judgment is against partners in the name of the firm, execution may issue in manner following :—

(a.) Against any property of the partners as such.

(b.) Against any person who has admitted on the pleadings that he is, or has been adjudged to be, a partner.

(c.) Against any person who has been served, as a partner, with the writ of summons, and has failed to appear.

If the party who has obtained judgment claims to be entitled to issue execution against any other person as being a member of the firm, he may apply to the Court or Judge for leave so to do; and the Court or Judge may give such leave if the liability be not disputed, or, if such liability be disputed, may order that the liability of such person be tried and determined in any manner in which any issue or question in an action may be tried and determined.

9. No writ of execution shall be issued without the production to the officer by whom the same should be issued of the judgment upon which the writ of execution is to issue or an office copy thereof, showing the date of entry. And the officer shall be satisfied that the proper time has elapsed to entitle the judgment creditor to execution.

10. No writ of execution shall be issued without the party issuing it, or his solicitor, filing a præcipe for that purpose. The præcipe shall contain the title of the action, the reference to the record, the date of the judgment, and of the order, if any, directing the execution to be issued, the names of the parties against whom, or of the firms against whose goods, the execution is to be issued; and shall be signed by the solicitor of the party issuing it, or by the party issuing it, if he do so in person.

11. Every writ of execution shall be indorsed with the name and place of abode or office of business of the solicitor actually suing out the same, and when the solicitor actually suing out the writ shall sue out the same as agent for another solicitor, the name and place of abode of such other solicitor shall also be indorsed upon the writ; and in case no solicitor shall be employed to issue the writ, then it shall be indorsed with a memorandum expressing that the same has been sued out by the plaintiff or defendant in person, as the case may be, mentioning the city, town, or parish, and also the name of the hamlet, street, and number of the house of such plaintiff's or defendant's residence, if any such there be.

12. Every writ of execution shall bear date of the day on which it is issued.

13. In every case of execution the party entitled to execution may levy the poundage, fees, and expenses of execution over and above the sum recovered.

14. Every writ of execution for the recovery of money shall be indorsed with a direction to the sheriff, or other officer or person to whom the writ is directed, to levy the money really due and payable, and sought to be recovered under the judgment, stating the amount, and also to levy interest thereon, if sought to be recovered, at the rate of 4 l. per cent. per annum from the time when the judgment was entered up, provided that in cases where there is an agreement between the parties that more than 4 l. per cent. interest shall be secured by the judgment, then the indorsement may be accordingly to levy the amount of interest so agreed.

15. Every person to whom any sum of money or any costs shall be payable under a judgment shall, immediately after the time when the judgment was duly entered, be entitled to sue out one or more writs of feri facias or one or more writ or writs of elegit to enforce payment thereof, subject nevertheless as follows:—

(a.) If the judgment is for payment within a period therein mentioned, no such writ as aforesaid shall be issued until after the expiration of such period.

(b.) The Court or Judge at the time of giving judgment, or the Court or a Judge afterwards, may give leave to issue execution before, or may stay execution until, any time after the expiration of the periods hereinbefore prescribed.

16. A writ of execution, if unexecuted, shall remain in force for one year only from its issue, unless renewed in the manner hereinafter provided; but such writ may, at any time before its expiration, by leave of the Court or a Judge, be renewed, by the party issuing it, for one year from the date of such renewal, and so on from time to time during the continuance of the renewed writ, either by being marked with a seal of the Court bearing the date of the day, month, and year of such renewal, or by such party giving a written notice of renewal to the sheriff, signed by the party or his attorney, and bearing the like like seal of the court; and a writ of execution so renewed shall have effect, and be entitled to priority, according to the time of the original delivery thereof.

17. The production of a writ of execution, or of the notice renewing the same, purporting to be marked with such seal as in the last preceding rule mentioned, showing the same to have been renewed, shall be sufficient evidence of its having been so renewed.

18. As between the original parties to a judgment, execution may issue at any time within six years from the recovery of the judgment.

19. Where six years have elapsed since the judgment, or any change has taken place by death or otherwise in the parties entitled or liable to execution, the party alleging himself to be entitled to execution may apply to the Court or a Judge for leave to issue execution accordingly. And such Court or Judge may, if satisfied that the party so applying is entitled to issue execution, make an order to that effect, or may order that any issue or question necessary to determine the rights of the parties shall be tried in any of the ways in which any question in an action may be tried. And in either case such Court or Judge may impose such terms, as to costs or otherwise, as shall seem just.

20. Every order of the Court or a Judge, whether in an action or matter, may be enforced in the same manner as a judgment to the same effect.

21. In cases other than those mentioned in Rule 18, any person, not being a party in an action, who obtains any order or in whose favour any order is made, shall be entitled to enforce obedience to such order by the same process as if he were a party to the action; and any person not being a party in an action, against whom obedience to any judgment or order may be enforced, shall be liable to the same process for enforcing obedience to such judgment or order as if he were a party to the action.

22. No proceeding by audita querela shall hereafter be used; but any party against whom judgment has been given may apply to the Court or Judge for a stay of execution or other relief against such judgment, upon the ground of facts which have arisen too late to be pleaded; and the Court or Judge may give such relief and upon such terms as may be just.

23. Nothing in any of the rules of this order shall take away or curtail any right heretofore existing to enforce or give effect to any judgment or order in any manner or against any person or property whatsoever.

24. Nothing in this order shall affect the order in which writs of execution may be issued.

ORDER XXXVIII.

WRITS OF FIERI FACIAS AND ELEGIT.

1. Writs of fieri facias and of elegit shall have the same force and effect as the like writs have heretofore had, and shall be executed in the same manner in which the like writs have heretofore been executed.

2. Writs of venditioni exponas, distringas nuper vice comitem, fieri facias de bonis ecclesiasticis, sequestrari facias de bonis ecclesiasticis, and all other writs in aid of a writ of fieri facias or of elegit, may be issued and executed in the same cases and in the same manner as heretofore.

ORDER XXXIX.

ATTACHMENT.

1. A writ of attachment shall have the same effect as a writ of attachment issued out of the Court of Chancery has heretofore had.

2. No writ of attachment shall be issued without the leave of the Court or a Judge, to be applied for on notice to the party against whom the attachment is to be issued.

ORDER XL.

ATTACHMENT OF DEBTS.

1. Where a judgment is for the recovery by or payment to any person of money, the partly entitled to enforce it may apply to the Court or a Judge for an order that the judgment debtor be orally examined as to whether any and what debts are owing to him, before an officer of the Court, or such other person as the Court or Judge shall appoint; and the Court or Judge may make an order for the examination of such judgment debtor, and for the production of any books or documents.

2. The Court or Judge may, upon the ex parte application of such judgment creditor, either before or after such oral examination, and upon affidavit by himself or his solicitor stating that judgment has been recovered, and that it is still unsatisfied, and to what amount, and that any other person is indebted to the judgment debtor, and is within the jurisdiction, order that all debts owing or accruing from such third person (hereinafter called the garnishee) to the judgment debtor shall be attached to answer the judgment debt; and by the same or any subsequent order it may be ordered that the garnishee shall appear before the Court or a Judge, or an officer of the Court, as such Court or Judge shall appoint, to show cause why he should not pay the judgment creditor the debt due from him to the judgment debtor, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the judgment debt.

3. Service of an order that debts due or accruing to the judgment debtor shall be attached, or notice thereof to the garnishee, in such manner as the Court or Judge shall direct, shall bind such debts in his hands.

4. If the garnishee does not forthwith pay into court the amount due from him to the judgment debtor, or an amount equal to the judgment debt, and does not dispute the debt due, or claimed to be due, from him to the judgment debtor, or if he does not appear upon summons, then the Court or Judge may order execution to issue, and it may issue accordingly, without any previous writ or process, to levy the amount due from such garnishee, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the judgment debt.

5. If the garnishee disputes his liability, the Court or Judge, instead of making an order that execution shall issue, may order that any issue or question necessary for determining his liability be tried or determined in any manner in which any issue or question in an action may be tried or determined.

6. Whenever in proceedings to obtain an attachment of debts it is suggested by the garnishee that the debt sought to be attached belongs to some third person, or that any third person has a lien or charge upon it, the Court or Judge may order such third person to appear, and state the nature and particulars of his claim upon such debt.

7. After hearing the allegations of such third person under such order, and of any other person whom by the same or any subsequent order the Court or Judge may order to appear, or in case of such third person not appearing when ordered, the Court or Judge may order execution to issue to levy the amount due from such garnishee, or any issue or question to be tried or determined according to the preceding rules of this order, and may bar the claim of such third person, or make such other order as such Court or Judge shall think fit, upon such terms, in all cases, with respect to the lien or charge (if any) of such third person, and to costs, as the Court or Judge shall think just and reasonable.

8. Payment made by or execution levied upon the garnishee under any such proceeding as aforesaid shall be a valid discharge to him as against the judgment debtor, to the amount paid or levied, although such proceeding may be set aside or the judgment reversed.

9. There shall be kept by the proper officer a debt attachment book, and in such book entries shall be made of the attachment and proceedings thereon, with names, dates, and statements of the amount recovered, and otherwise; and and copies of any entries made therein may be taken by any person upon application to the proper officer.

10. The costs of any application for an attachment of debts, and of any proceedings arising from or incidental to such application, shall be in the discretion of the Court or a Judge.

ORDER XLI.

CHARGING OF STOCK OR SHARES AND DISTINGAS.

1. An order charging stock or shares may be made by any Divisional Court, or by any Judge, and the proceedings for obtaining such order shall be such as are directed, and the effect shall be such as is provided by 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110, secs. 14 and 15, and 3 & 4 Vict. c. 82, sec. 1.

2. Any person claiming to be interested in any stock transferable at the Bank of England standing in the name of any other person may sue out a writ of distringas pursuant to the statute 5 Vict. c. 8, as heretofore. Such writ to be issued out of any office of the High Court in London where writs of summons are issued.

ORDER XLII.

WRIT OF SEQUESTRATION.

Where any person is by any judgment directed to pay money into Court, or to do any other act in a limited time, and after due service of such judgment refuses or neglects to obey the same according to the exigency thereof, the person prosecuting such judgment shall, at the expiration of the time limited for the performance thereof, be entitled, without obtaining any order for that purpose, to issue a writ of sequestration against the estate and effects of such disobedient person. Such writ of sequestration shall have the same effect as a writ of sequestration in Chancery has heretofore had, and the proceeds of such sequestration may be dealt with in the same manner as the proceeds of writs of sequestration have heretofore been dealt with by the Court of Chancery.

ORDER XLIII.

“ COPY of CORRESPONDENCE, dated November 1871, between the Right Honourable Lord Hatherley, then Lord Chancellor, and Mr. Osborne Morgan, M.P., relative to the Appointment of Mr. Homersham Cox to be the JUDGE of the MID-WALES COUNTY COURT CIRCUIT.”

The Right Honourable Lord Hatherley to Mr. Osborne Morgan, M.P.

31, Great George-street, S.W.,
7 November 1871.

My dear Sir,

As my engagements will not permit me to answer the memorials forwarded to me with reference to the appointment of a judge to the county courts of circuit No. 28, who is unable to speak the Welsh language, I trust I shall not be thought guilty of any disrespect to the memorialists if I address you once for all upon the subject.

I have observed from speeches made at meetings, including a speech of your own, that a very singular use is made of Mr. Gladstone's speech at Aberdeen, as if it had a bearing favouring the view of the memorialists, viz., that only a Welsh-speaking judge should be appointed to administer justice in Wales. I confess I read his speech in a directly contrary sense. In speaking of the demand in some parts of Ireland for Home Rule, he said that if the demand were thought reasonable on the ground of the difference in nationality, then Wales and Scotland would in point of numbers have as great a right to demand Home Rule also.

I read this as a favourable comparison of the patriotism and good sense of the Welsh and Scotch inhabitants of the United Kingdom with the somewhat unreasonable contention of a portion of the inhabitants of Ireland, for neither the Welsh nor the Scotch make the “ Home Rule ” demand, which, indeed, the memorialists also expressly disclaim.

Up to the present time I have not heard, however, even in Ireland, of any demand that their judges or magistrates should necessarily be conversant with Erse, and the demand for county court judges conversant with Welsh is also quite new, nor is a knowledge of Gaelic required in the local judges, sheriffs, or sheriffs depute in Scotland.

On the contrary, you will recollect that the Statute of Henry VIII. (27 Hen. 8, c. 26) absolutely requires that all legal proceedings shall be conducted in English, and so they have always been. A county court judge, even if he knows Welsh, would be acting contrary to law if he decided any case on his own knowledge of the language. He is bound to have an interpreter, and to accept the sworn interpretation of any evidence, just as when I have a French witness before me I am not at liberty to do more than suggest a doubt to the interpreter if I think him in error, but I must act only on his interpretation.

In settling matters amicably between the parties, no doubt the judge may do so conversationally, but remember the registrar can, and usually does, dispose of such matters, and this may be a very good reason for appointing a person conversant with Welsh to act as registrar; but in all disputed business, for which alone the judge is really required, he would act not only in contravention of the Statute of Henry, but contrary to the course of law, if he relied on his own knowledge of Welsh. In cases between Englishmen and Welshmen, a judge selected for his Welsh acquirements would become subject to mistrust on the part of the English litigant.

2 CORRESPONDENCE RELATIVE TO THE APPOINTMENT OF

This being so, I do not think that the restriction attempted for the first time to be put on the free selection of judges should be acceded to.

The case of bishops and clergy is quite different. Interpretation of prayers or a sermon in worship would be an absurdity. There is neither time nor place for it, and an English service is not required by law; nevertheless, I was glad to observe that at a meeting for the building of a chapel for English service on the part of Welsh Calvinistic Methodists (at which meeting you yourself spoke), the chairman is reported to have said "that it would be wilful blindness on the part of the Welsh Calvinistic Methodists if they refused to acknowledge the fact that the Welsh were adopting the English language." (Wrexham Guardian, 28 October.)

I confess I was glad to learn this fact, for the existence of two languages has a tendency to separate people who, as fellow-citizens, should be as far as possible united.

I hesitate, therefore, I confess, to be the first to recognise, as a claim, the narrowing of the field of choice of judges for any part of Great Britain, by requiring that they shall be acquainted with a language which is not the recognised language of the tribunal; and, as regards any alleged denial of justice, I must beg to observe that justice has now been administered in Wales for 300 years by proceedings carried on in the English language, neither does there exist in Scotland or in Ireland any tribunal where the judge is, as a requisite, bound to know any other language than English.

For the purpose of friendly accommodation before a registrar, I think a knowledge of Welsh would be a reasonable advantage to be secured, but for the administration of the law between litigant parties, although it might be one circumstance (like any other intellectual accomplishment) in favour of the appointment of the judge, the absence of such knowledge should not be admitted to be a disqualification.

As regards the actual prayer of the memorialists, there is at present no vacancy in any English circuit, but were it otherwise, I should pause, for the reasons I have assigned, in establishing the novel practice contended for.

Believe me, with sincere respect for the memorialists,

G. Osborne Morgan, Esq., Q.C., M.P., &c.

Yours faithfully,
(signed) Hatherley.

Mr. Osborne Morgan, M.P., to the Right Honourable Lord Hatherley.

2, Stone Buildings, Lincoln's Inn,
9 November 1871.

My Lord,

I BEG to thank your Lordship very sincerely on behalf of the memorialists who have lately addressed you through me, as well as on my own account, for the full consideration which you have given to their petition.

I hope your Lordship will not think that I am wanting in any respect to you if I venture, in justice both to them and to myself, to address a few words to you on the same subject.

I regret that I should have made what seems to your Lordship an unfair use of the speech Mr. Gladstone lately made at Aberdeen on the subject of Welsh and Irish nationalities, though, perhaps, I ought to add that my observations had reference as much to a conversation which I had with Mr. Gladstone respecting the claims of the proposed Welsh University to receive a distinct recognition from Government as to the speech to which your Lordship has alluded. I am also willing to admit that the case of an English-speaking bishop is not strictly analogous, and that the question is one which must be discussed on its own merits.

But, looking at it from this point of view, I cannot, with every desire to defer to your Lordship's opinion, admit that a knowledge of Welsh is "only one circumstance (like any other intellectual accomplishment) in favour of the appointment of the judge" of a circuit such as that of Mid-Wales.

The cases of the Erse and Gaelic languages seem to me scarcely parallel. Those languages are spoken only in a few remote corners of Ireland and Scotland, land, nor are they used to any appreciable extent as a medium for carrying on the business of the country. On the other hand, at least four-fifths of the Welsh suitors in the Mid-Wales County Courts conduct their ordinary intercourse and the daily business of their lives in the Welsh language; while probably one-half of the same persons speak and understand nothing else. Where, therefore, as is frequently the case, the litigant parties are not represented by professional advocates, not only the evidence, but the statements and arguments have to be given in that language, and the judge, who understands nothing but English, is left entirely at the mercy of any chance interpreter, who may be, and, as I know from experience, often is, quite unfit for the duty, and whose task is rendered much more difficult by the highly idiomatic character of the language which he has to translate. Under these circumstances, I cannot but think that the power of checking and correcting any mistakes into which such an interpreter may fall is in itself not only an inestimable advantage to a judge, but very frequently a condition precedent to the right adjudication of the case.

I do not, of course, dispute the validity of the Statute of Henry VIII. to which your Lordship has been good enough to refer me, though I may add that practical convenience and the stress of necessity have often caused it to be treated as a dead letter in Welsh county courts. But, so far from admitting that justice has been satisfactorily administered in the supreme courts in Wales for the last 300 years, I could myself produce several cases in which the most lamentable failure of justice has occurred on Welsh circuits solely from the fact that judges and counsel expressed themselves in one language and witnesses and jurymen in another. It must be borne in mind, too, that cases brought before the supreme courts are usually well sifted, before they are brought into court, by competent professional men who speak both languages, and who receive their instructions from their clients in Welsh, and communicate them to counsel in English, and who are always ready at hand to watch any mistakes into which the interpreter may be betrayed; whereas the latter is the only medium of communication between a Welsh-speaking suitor, who has to get up and state his own case, and an English-speaking judge, who must take that statement from the suitor's own lips. Your Lordship has referred to the case of a French witness; but I feel sure that if a French suitor were compelled to address the Court of Chancery on his own behalf and in his own language, the administration of justice would very materially suffer.

Your Lordship regards, no doubt with perfect justice, a knowledge of the Welsh language as an important qualification in the registrar of a Welsh county court, upon the grounds that such knowledge would enable him "to settle matters amicably between the parties." But I am informed that this important duty constantly devolves upon the judge himself; and I therefore venture to think that in this respect the same reasoning applies both to the appointment of the judge and the registrar, particularly where, as was the case with a gentleman lately appointed to the registrarship of the Newtown County Court, the registrar is as ignorant of Welsh as the judge.

As to the apprehension that a judge selected for his Welsh attainments might inspire distrust on the part of English litigants, I cannot but think that a Welsh litigant would have at least an equal ground for distrusting the decision of a judge who cannot understand a word of his own language.

The question whether the extinction of the Welsh language is a probable or desirable event is one which I fear it would be useless to discuss at present, for we must take things as they are, and many years must elapse before any appreciable change can take place in this respect on the Mid-Wales Circuit.

In conclusion, I hope your Lordship will forgive me for reminding you, as a proof that my sentiments on this subject have been shared by your Lordship's predecessors, that the two gentlemen who previous to Serjeant Atkinson's appointment discharged the duties now intrusted to Mr. Homersham Cox, Mr. Richards and Mr. Johnes, not only understood Welsh, but spoke it with ease and accuracy. Indeed, I have been informed, on the best authority, that when the county courts were first established, a knowledge of Welsh was required as a sine qua non on the part of all the Welsh county court judges, though the rule has since been relaxed in the case of what I may call the English-speaking districts of Wales. I mention this, because I observe that your Lordship regards the memorialists as asking you to establish a new precedent.

Sincerely trusting that your Lordship will pardon me for writing with so much freedom and at such length on this subject (which I should not have done but for the very deep interest felt in it by my constituents and countrymen),

I have, &c.

COURT of QUEEN’S BENCH.—CROWN SIDE.

I, MARTIN CASEY, of Carrickspringan, near Moynalty, Kells, in the county of Meath, make oath and say—

No. 1.—My son, Patrick Casey, was arrested at Carrickspringan aforesaid by the constabulary on the 13th day of December 1871, and was forthwith lodged in Naas Gaol, where he remained in custody until the latter end of the month of October last, when he was removed to Kilmainham Gaol, where he still remains in custody.

No. 2.—I say that, until my said son was so arrested, he was a young man of unblemished character, and never was charged with any crime or offence.

No. 3.—When my son was so arrested, he was a strong, hale young man; but he is now suffering from severe illness, caused, as I believe, by the length of time he has been in imprisonment, and I fear that if he is not soon liberated, his health will be so impaired, that he will never recover.

No. 4.—I am now upwards of 70 years of age, and am suffering from paralysis. My said son afforded me my chief means of support, by cultivating the small holding I have in the county of Meath, and I am now obliged to employ a man in his stead, which has left me almost in a state of destitution.

No. 5.—I am wholly ignorant of the reason why my said son was arrested, or why he is detained in custody; and I verily believe that if brought to trial, he would be able to refute any charge which could be preferred against him.

I, HENRY MATHEWS, of No. 60, Lower Gardiner-street, in the County of the City of Dublin, assistant to John Fox Goodman, solicitor and attorney, make oath, and say—

No. 1.—On the 20th day of April instant, I applied at the public office of the Pleas of the Crown, in the City of Dublin, whether a copy of any warrant for the arrest of Patrick Casey, of Moynalty, in the County of Meath, was filed in said office, and I was informed by James Nagle, Esq., the Clerk of the Crown, that no such document had ever reached there, and that none such was filed there.

No. 2.—I also inquired at said office whether a copy of any warrant for the removal of Patrick Casey from Naas to Kilmainham Gaol was filed in said office, and I was also informed there was none such.

RULE V. All contracts to be entered into on behalf of the asylum relating to the maintenance, clothing, and lodging, or for any other purpose relating to the general management of the patients, shall be made and entered into by the governors, in the name of the resident medical superintendent, and the governors shall require sealed tenders to be made for such contracts in the manner usual in such cases.

VI. Notice of the nature and conditions of the contract to be entered into, of the last day and hour on which tenders will be received, and the day on which the tenders will be opened, shall be given in some newspaper circulating in the district, not less than 10 days previous to the last day on which such tenders shall be received; and no tender shall be opened by the clerk or any governor or other person before the day specified in such notice, or otherwise than at a meeting of said governors.

VII. When any tender shall be accepted, the party making the tender shall, in pursuance of these regulations, enter into a contract with the governors, in the name of the resident medical superintendent, containing the terms, conditions, and stipulations mutually agreed upon; and whenever the governors shall deem it advisable, the party contracting shall in like manner find one or more surety or sureties, who shall enter into a bond in such penalty as the governors shall think fit, conditioned for the due performance of the contract, or shall otherwise secure the same.

VIII. All tenders shall be made and contracts entered into respectively according to the respective forms B and C hereunto annexed, and all tenders for contracts, whether accepted or rejected, signed as such by the chairman of the board at which they have been opened, together with a schedule of the accepted tenders in the form hereunto annexed, marked D, shall be duly forwarded to the office of the inspectors for examination. All receipts for disbursements in regard to current expenditure, duly authenticated by the board, shall be regularly filed and kept in the office of the asylum.

My Lord, Tervoe, Limerick, 31 December 1872.
I HAVE the honour to send to your Excellency a memorial unanimously adopted at a meeting of the governors of the Limerick Lunatic Asylum.

His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

I am, &c.
(signed) W. Monsell.

MINUTE of PROCEEDINGS of the Board of Governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, at their Meeting held Tuesday, the 31st December 1872.

PRESENT :

Colonel the Right Hon. W. MONSELL, M. P., in the Chair.

The Right Worshipful the Mayor.
William Spillane, Esq.
Edward W. O'Brien, Esq.
Henry Lyons, Esq., D.L.
Captain M. Gavin.

Eugene O'Callaghan, Esq.
Michael R. Ryan, Esq.
Thomas Boyce, Esq.
John M'Donnell, Esq.
S. E. De Vere, Esq.

A resolution was proposed by Stephen E. De Vere, Esq., and seconded by the City High Sheriff, and adopted unanimously, requesting the appointment of a committee of inquiry in certain subjects connected with the asylum, and of which resolution the following extract has reference to the Privy Council rules referred to in the Order.

"His Excellency, the governors respectfully submit, will the more readily admit the necessity of granting this searching inquiry, as his Excellency must be aware that under the Privy Council rules and regulations with reference to lunatic asylums, the board of governors is to a great degree stripped of its powers, which are now practically vested in the inspectors and the local medical superintendent.

"The governors conclude by suggesting to Her Majesty's Government that the Privy Council rules applicable to the management and discipline of lunatic asylums should be revised, with a view to confirming the authority of the board of governors over their own officers, and establishing and maintaining their legitimate independence and responsibility."

Sir,

Dublin Castle, 4 January 1873.

I AM directed by the Lord Lieutenant to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 31st ultimo, forwarding a memorial adopted at a meeting of the governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum held on that date, and to acquaint you that it will be duly considered by his Excellency, and that a further communication will be made to you on the subject.

Colonel the Right Hon. Wm. Monsell, M.P.,
Tervoe, Limerick.

I have, &c.

EXTRACT from LETTER of the Under Secretary, dated 10th April 1873, to the Chairman of the Board of Governors of Limerick District Lunatic Asylum.

ADVERTING to the concluding paragraph of the resolution of the 31st December, which states that the existing Privy Council rules have, to a great degree, stripped the board of governors of their power, and practically vested them in the inspectors of lunatic asylums and the local medical superintendent, and in which a revision of the rules is asked for, with a view to confirming the authority of the board of governors over their own officers, and especially to maintaining their legitimate independence and responsibility, his Excellency would be glad if the governors would be kind enough to point out the precise rules which have the effect of transferring the powers of the board to the inspectors and resident medical superintendent; and he would also be glad, if they would suggest in what way they propose that the rules should be revised with a view of remedying the evils of which they complain.

A REPLY to the LETTER of His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of 10th April 1873, was adopted unanimously by the Board of Governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum on the 20th May 1873.

The following extracts from that reply have reference to the Rules referred to in the Order:—

"The Rules of 1862 provided that on the acceptance of a contract by the board of governors the rejected tenders should be forthwith transmitted to the inspectors for their examination and approval. The governors indignantly protested against this provision, but protested in vain. In the Code of 1871, the framers have omitted the words 'for their approval,' probably perceiving, after nine years' consideration, that it is an absurdity to talk of submitting a rejected tender for approval; but the provision that the rejected tenders shall be submitted to the inspectors for examination is still retained. The governors again emphatically protest against this order. There is no analogous rule or practice in the case of gaol boards, boards of guardians, grand juries, or presentment sessions. The fact that the funds for lunatic asylums are in the first instance lent by the State forms no excuse for this derogatory exception. Those funds are advanced on ample security, that of a compulsory presentment. They are repaid, and ultimately fall, like gaol and grand jury charges, upon the local ratepayers.

"The governors point to this regulation as one which fatally affects their independence. It subjects their proceedings to the revision of the inspectors in a matter which concerns not alone their discretion but their honour.

"If in this case (Rule 26, as to the admission of paying patients, is referred to) as in the case of rejected tenders already adverted to, the honesty and good sense of the governors cannot be trusted, the principal of centralised administration had better be fully carried out, and the management of the institution intrusted in name, as well as in reality, to the State.

"The governors now conclude their reply. They firmly believe that the efficient working of the lunatic asylum relief system depends upon the efficiency of the board of local governors, aided by a duly subordinate official staff; that the board cannot be efficient unless its independence be secured, and that they have laid before his Excellency a case which proves that the independence of local boards is not duly respected or provided for."

Sir,

Limerick District Lunatic Asylum,
Limerick, 30 August 1873.

I BEG to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 28th instant, conveying his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant's answer to the Board of the District Lunatic Asylum of Limerick, which shall be laid before them at their next meeting.

EXTRACT from LETTER of the Under Secretary, dated 28th August 1873, to the Resident Medical Superintendent of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum.

"IN concluding this part of the letter, his Excellency would point out that the experience gained by these painful proceedings has not only already led to important changes at the asylum, but will suggest alterations in rules and methods of inspection and management.

"He trusts that the governors will recognise in these facts the earnest desire of the Government, that the management of the asylums should be efficiently and impartially conducted, and in this way to meet the wishes of the governors at Limerick, whose zeal he cannot doubt.

"He must, however, repeat his opinion, that he cannot see matter requiring inquiry into the conduct of the inspectors, and must on this point refuse the request of the governors.

"The only part of the letter of the governors which remains for consideration, is that in which they discuss the rules of the Privy Council.

"His Excellency has carefully considered their views, but he does not consider it desirable without fuller inquiry, to alter the rules made by the Privy Council in 1870.

"He will, however, bring under the notice of the Privy Council the various objections made by the governors to these rules, and will suggest that they should be referred to a committee who will inquire into the matter, and will no doubt be able to give a personal hearing to any of the governors who may wish to urge their objections.

"His Excellency will further cause copies of their objections to be sent to the boards of governors of the other lunatic asylums in Ireland, with the view of eliciting their opinion on the subject, and he confidently trusts that the result of the inquiry will be to remove any well-founded grounds of objection which may be urged against the rules."

Sir,

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th ultimo, enclosing a copy of a circular which his Excellency has caused to be addressed to the boards of governors of district lunatic asylums in Ireland, which shall be laid before the board of governors of this institution at their next meeting.

MINUTE of PROCEEDINGS of the Board of Governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, at their Meeting held Tuesday the 7th of October 1873.

PRESENT.

The Right Worshipful the Mayor.
The Very Rev. Dean O'Brien,
D.D., P.P.
Colonel the Right Hon. William
Monsell, M.P.
Edward William O'Brien, Esq.,
D.L.

Michael R. Ryan, Esq., City High Sheriff.
Stephen E. De Vere, Esq.
John M'Donnell, Esq.
Eugene O'Callaghan, Esq.
William Spillane, Esq.
Lawrence Quinlivan, Esq.
Thomas Boyse, Esq.

Resolved, That following reply to the Lord Lieutenant's letter of the 28th August be adopted, and that the Lord Lieutenant of the County, the Right Hon. William Monsell, be requested to communicate it to his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant. * * * *

The governors have read with extreme pleasure that portion of his Excellency's letter which says that "the experience gained by those painful proceedings had not only already led to important changes in the asylum, but will suggest alterations in rules and methods of inspection and management;" and the governors confidently hope that those alterations will be such as will conduce to harmony between the governing and inspecting authorities.

The governors thank his Excellency for bringing under the notice of the Privy Council the various objections made by them to the existing Privy Council rules. They can entertain no doubt but that his Excellency, with the advice of the Privy Council, will perceive that some of those rules are unfavourable to the discipline of the institution, and that the rule with respect to rejected contracts is an imputation upon the honour of the Board.

The governors are most anxious to be placed in a position in which, without sacrifice of self-respect, they may be able to continue their exertions for the due care of the helpless lunatic poor. They believe such also to be the sincere desire of his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant; and they feel a confident hope that the alterations in the inspection and "management" of the institution, and the changes which his Excellency and the Privy Council may effect in the rules and regulations, will be such as may restore harmony, and enable the governors to direct their attention to measures for securing greater efficiency and better discipline.

Council Office, Dublin Castle,
13 December 1873.

Sir,

I AM directed to acquaint you, for the information of the board of governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, that the objections made by them to the general rules and regulations made by the Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council for the management of district lunatic asylums in Ireland, together with the answers received from the boards of governors of the other district lunatic asylums, to whom the objections were communicated, have been laid by his Excellency's directions before the Privy Council, and have been referred to a committee which will meet for the purpose of considering the same on Wednesday, the 7th of January next, at 11 o'clock, a.m., in the Council Chamber, Dublin Castle; and the committee will be prepared on that occasion to give a personal hearing to any governors of the Limerick, or other asylum, who may wish to be heard on the subject.

I am, &c.

The Resident Medical Superintendent of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum.

Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, Limerick,
17 December 1873.

Sir,

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 13th instant, stating, for the information of the board of governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, that the objections made by them to the "General Rules and Regulations" made by the Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council in the year 1870, together with the answers received from boards of governors of other district lunatic asylums, to whom such were communicated, have been laid by his Excellency's direction before the Privy Council, and referred by them to a committee, and beg to inform you I shall submit it at a meeting of the board of governors to be held the 30th instant, to which date the consideration of all correspondence was postponed.

MINUTE of Proceedings of the Board of Governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, at their Meeting held on the above date.

Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, Limerick,
30 December 1873.

Sir,

THE letter from the clerk of the Privy Council, dated 13th December 1873, having been submitted and read,—

It was proposed by Stephen E. De Vere, Esq., seconded by Edward Wm. O'Brien, Esq., and resolved:

That the board of governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum beg to acknowledge the receipt of his Excellency's communication of the 13th December 1873, and begs to refer his Excellency to the communication of the board on the subject, bearing date 20th May 1873.

The board made the suggestions therein contained, after mature deliberation, and with no other view, save that of obtaining such a modification in the Privy Council rules as might render them consistent with the honour of the board, and the successful administration of a great public charity.

The board thinks it unnecessary to add any arguments to those already advanced.

COPY of LETTER of the Under Secretary to the Resident Medical Superintendent, District Lunatic Asylum, Limerick.

Sir,

Dublin Castle, 11 April 1874.

I AM directed by the Lords Justices to transmit to you, for the information of the board of governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, copy of a letter addressed by direction of their Excellencies to Stephen E. de Vere, Esq., in answer to one received from him requesting on behalf of himself and his brother, Sir Vere de Vere, that their names might be removed from the list of governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, and of which he states that he has transmitted a copy to your board.

I am, &c.
(signed) T. H. Burke.

Reply to Mr. de Vere referred to in above letter will be found in "correspondence between the Government and individual members of the board of governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum" (see p. 10).

EXTRACT from LETTER of the Under Secretary, dated 11th April 1874, to the Resident Medical Superintendent, District Lunatic Asylum, Limerick.

"I AM directed by the Lord Justices to transmit to you, for the information of the governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, and for the use of the institution, 30 copies of an order of the late Lord Lieutenant in Council, dated 23rd February last, containing rules and regulations for the management of District Lunatic Asylums, in place of those of the 18th of August 1870 and the 10th of May 1872, which are thereby revoked.

"In my letter of the 10th September last, a copy of a circular addressed to the board of governors of the other district lunatic asylums, with reference to the objections of the governors of the Limerick Asylum to the regulations of 1870, was transmitted to you for the information of your board.

"Of the 21 boards of governors to whom that circular was sent, three considered it unnecessary to take any action thereon; fourteen expressed approval of the rules of 1870, either absolutely or subject to some suggested alteration, and four of these expressed specially their approval of the rule requiring the transmission of rejected tenders to the inspectors. In the cases of three other boards who expressed opinions unfavourable to that rule, it appeared that in one case the objection was made under a misapprehension, inasmuch as reference was made to a supposed explanation of the rule in 1869, and that in another a minority of the board approved of the rule. In only one instance was a general concurrence in the views of the Limerick Board expressed.

"The objections of the Limerick Board, and the answers to the circular, having been referred to a committee of the Privy Council, all the boards of governors were informed of the time appointed for considering them. The governors of the Limerick Asylum declined to attend, and only one governor of any other asylum appeared.

"The committee carefully considered all the objections, as well as some suggestions of additions to the rules, and upon their report, the order was made, of which copies are now transmitted to you."

Sir,

Limerick District Asylum, 14 April 1874.

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 11th instant, with the copy of a letter addressed by direction of the Lords Justices to Stephen E. de Vere, Esq.; also a parcel containing copies of the Privy Council rules, and a letter from their Excellencies, which shall be duly laid before the governors of this asylum.

MINUTE of PROCEEDINGS of the Board of Governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, at a special Meeting held on Friday the 17th day of April 1874.

HAVING read a letter from the Under Secretary, dated Dublin Castle, 11th April 1874, transmitting, by direction of their Excellencies the Lords Justices, 30 copies of an Order of his Excellency, the late Lord Lieutenant in Council, containing rules and regulations for the management of district lunatic asylums, in place of those of 1870 and 1872, thereby revoked; It was proposed by Edward William O'Brien, Esq., D.L., seconded by the very Rev. Dean O'Brien, D.D.:—

The Board of Governors recognise with pleasure the wisdom and justice of the course adopted by his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant in submitting their representations, with regard to certain changes in the rules proposed by them for the opinion of the other boards of Governors in Ireland, and in convening the Privy Council for the express purpose of taking these representations into consideration. They are also sensible of the spirit of courtesy and consideration evinced in the explanatory letter of the Under Secretary, dated 11th April 1874, accompanying the new rules, and in the official reply to Mr. De Vere's letter of resignation.

2. While they cannot but remark that the alterations introduced into the new rules aim to give them that full control over their officers which they deem desirable in the interests of the asylum, they see, with satisfaction, that some of the changes suggested by them have been carried into effect, and they are ready to admit that in this respect, with one exception, as much deference has been paid to their opinion, as, under the circumstances, they could reasonably expect.

3. They are constrained to express their deep regret and disappointment that the rule relating to rejected tenders has not been rescinded or modified, and to state that the justification of that rule put forward in the explanatory letter is, in their opinion, wholly unsatisfactory.

4. The board, on 3rd May 1862, unanimously remonstrated against it in the following terms (inter alia): "The functions of boards of gaol superintendence and boards of guardians are in many respects analogous to those of boards of governors of lunatic asylums, and the Legislature has wisely confided to gaol and poor law boards the selection and appointment of officers, the absolute power of concluding contracts, and, in a word, that free exercise of their powers which prove that the State looks upon men entrusted with local administration as worthy to be trusted, whilst the 'new code' breathes, throughout, a spirit of unwise and derogatory distrust." This has been so keenly felt by a most valued member of our board as to induce his retirement; and Rule 5 (inter alia): "Your Committee object in the strongest manner to this rule, which is not to be found in the former code. The Governors are competent to examine tenders for contracts, and to accept or reject them upon their own responsibility."

"This is a duty which they, and they alone, can properly perform, and it is highly derogatory to their character that they should be required to transmit to the inspectors for their examination and approval, the tenders, whether accepted or rejected, which have been opened and signed by the chairman." "Your committee protest strongly against this petty distrust, which has no precedent in the proceedings of boards of guardians, or presentment sessions."

"The acceptance of a tender, and the completion of the contract thereon, ought of course be entered on the minutes, as part of the proceedings of the day."

On the 20th May 1873, they passed a unanimous resolution to this effect (inter alia): "The governors point to this regulation as one which fatally affects their independence, and subjects their proceedings to the revision of the inspectors, in a matter which concerns not alone their discretion but their honour." And on the 7th October 1873, they again unanimously declared (inter alia): "The governors thank his Excellency for bringing under the notice of the Privy Council the various objections made by them to the existing rules; they can entertain no doubt but that his Excellency, with the advice of the Privy Council, will perceive that some of those rules are unfavourable to the discipline of the institution, and that the rule with respect to rejected tenders is an imputation upon the honour of the Board."

"The governors are most anxious to be placed in a position which, without sacrifice of self-respect, they may be able to continue their exertions for the due care of the helpless lunatic poor." "They believe this also to be the sincere desire of his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant."

In 1862, this rule was, as they believe, the chief cause of the resignation of one of the most valued and experienced members of the board, the Honourable Stephen Spring Rice; they have reason to think that it has lately prevented several gentlemen of consideration in the county from accepting seats on the board; its re-enactment has led to the resignation of Sir Vere, and Mr. de Vere, and they fear that if it be persisted in, other governors will follow the example of these gentlemen; as security against corruption, they consider it unnecessary if not illusory.

5. While they repudiated this rule, because it seems to question their integrity in dealing with contracts, they are of opinion that it is highly desirable that the rejected tenders, as well as other documents relating to the affairs of the asylum, should be preserved as matters of record in the office of the asylum, to be subject to the examination of the inspectors at their pleasure, and to be available as evidence, in the event of a prima facie case being established for inquiry into the conduct of the board, or of the officers of the asylum; such is the practice voluntarily adopted in other public institutions, and it is one which seems to afford every guarantee that can practically be required, that the financial business of the institution shall be transacted with honesty.

6. They trust, therefore, that his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant and the Privy Council will see the propriety of either rescinding the rule in toto, or modifying it so that the rejected tenders shall henceforward be dealt with in the manner prescribed in the same rule with reference to receipts.

17 April 1874.

(signed) Thomas Boyse,
Chairman.

Sir,

Dublin Castle, 24 April 1874.

I HAVE duly submitted to his Grace the Duke of Abercorn, the Minute of Proceedings of the Board of Governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, held on the 17th instant.

His Grace regrets that the 8th rule, which directs that all tenders for contracts, whether accepted or rejected, shall be duly forwarded to the office of the Inspectors of Lunatics for examination, still seems to them to question their integrity in dealing with contracts; but he fails to perceive how their alternative scheme of preserving the rejected tenders as matters of record in the office of the asylum, to be subject to the examination of the inspectors at their pleasure, would meet their present objections; for if the governors resent the examination of the tenders by the inspectors as a reflection upon their honour, it appears to his Grace immaterial whether such examination shall take place at the asylum or at the office of the inspectors.

His Grace desires me, in conclusion, to state, that he entirely shares the opinion of the Lords Justices (as conveyed in my letter to Mr. De Vere of the 11th, copy of which was forwarded forwarded to the Board) that they were unable to understand why a regulation which is felt by the governors of the majority of the district lunatic asylums in Ireland to be unobjectionable, and of which several of the boards of governors have specially expressed their approval, should be looked upon by the Limerick Board as questioning their integrity.

I am directed to forward herewith, for the information of the board, a copy of a further letter received from Mr. De Vere, and my reply thereto.

District Lunatic Asylum, Limerick.

COPY OF CORRESPONDENCE on the said Subject between the Government and individual Members of the Board of Governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum.

Sir,

Monare, Foynes, April 1874.

I REQUEST you will convey to his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant my desire that my name shall be removed from the list of Governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum.

On the promulgation of a new code of Privy Council Rules in the year 1862, the Limerick Board of Governors, by a unanimous vote, protested against certain regulations therein contained, and suggested amendments.

Their amendments were rejected by the Irish Government.

One of those rules, that, namely, which provided that rejected tenders for contracts accepted by the board should be transmitted to the inspectors for examination and approval, I considered so arbitrary, so unconstitutional, and so derogatory to the governors, that on the rejection of the proposed amendment, I thought it advisable to refrain from active participation in the proceedings of the board.

Towards the close of the year 1872 lamentable disorders, resulting in the loss of human life, having been found to exist in the institution, I thought it my imperative duty to take a part again in the administration of the asylum.

Since that time I have earnestly co-operated with my colleagues in the endeavour to procure from the Government such reforms as are considered essential for the well-being of a great public charity. Our efforts have not been wholly unsuccessful.

On the 21st of May 1873, our board met to consider the final representation to be laid before Government. This board comprised the Mayor, the Most Rev. Bishop Butler, Very Rev. Dean O'Brien, M. H. Ryan, high sheriff, city of Limerick, Edward William O'Brien, Robert Hunt, Henry Munsell, William Spillane, Alderman O'Callaghan, J. C. Delmege, Thomas Boyce, and Stephen de Vere.

The governors unanimously adopted resolutions in which, after cordially recognising the value of certain changes in the administration of the asylum made by the Lord Lieutenant in deference to their representations, they proceeded to state in detail the grievances of which they had to complain.

They expressed their regret that his Excellency had not thought fit to concede their application for a full and independent inquiry.

They stated respectfully to his Excellency the pain they had experienced on receiving his Excellency's communication of 10th April 1873, in which, misled by partial and garbled extracts from official reports, his Excellency had thrown undeserved blame upon the governors for abuses and defects existing in the asylum; they transmitted to his Excellency the entire official reports for 15 years bearing upon the matters in question, with extracts from their minutes, so that his Excellency might judge for himself whether his animadversion was just and deserved. The vindication was complete; but on this point they have received no reply.

Finally, in compliance with the request of the Lord Lieutenant, they reviewed in detail the portions of the Privy Council's rules which they considered most objectionable, and they suggested what they considered to be important amendments.

I shall not refer to those amendments in detail. I shall confine myself to one which the governors looked upon as indispensable.

The Resolution of 21st May 1873 proceeds as follows: The Rules of 1862 provided, "that on the acceptance of a contract by the board of governors, the rejected tenders should be forthwith transmitted to the inspectors for their examination and approval. The governors indignantly protested against this provision, but protested in vain. In the code of 1871 the framers have omitted the words 'for their approval,' probably perceiving, after nine years' consideration, that it is an absurdity to talk of submitting rejected tenders for approval; but the provision that the rejected tenders should be submitted to the inspectors for examination is still retained. The governors again emphatically protest against this order. There is no analogous rule or practice in the case of gaol boards, boards of guardians, grand juries, or presentment sessions. The fact that the funds for lunatic asylums are in the first instance lent by the state, forms no excuse for this derogatory exception; those funds are advanced on ample security, that of a compulsory presentment; they are repaid, and ultimately fall, like gaol and grand jury charges, upon the local ratepayers.

The governors point to this regulation as one which fatally affects their independence ; it subjects their proceedings to the revision of the inspectors in a matter which concerns not alone their discretion, but their honour."

Such was the resolution of a body of men conscious of their responsibility, jealous of their honour, and anxious to perform honestly their arduous duty.

After the lapse of 10 months the governors have at last received a decisive answer on this point. This insulting, exceptional, dishonouring provision has been deliberately, and after 10 months' consideration, re-enacted verbatim in the revised code, bearing date 23rd February 1874.

Local Boards, to be efficient, must be respected and independent ; a centralised despotism, wielded by paid officials, permitted to review the administrative action of a board nominated by the executive which is supposed to represent the character, intelligence, and property of those upon whom it imposes an enormous tax for purposes of charity and humanity, is an anachronism.

If the governors be worthy of trust, let them be trusted ; if not, let them be dismissed, and some authority more worthy of trust substituted for them. Let them not be at the same time retained in the semblance of power and discredit.

Who are those who are to decide whether the board of governors have honestly and discreetly exercised the important function of entering into contracts? two medical gentlemen living in Dublin (of whom, personally, I wish to speak without disrespect), who, in judging as to contracts, have no local knowledge to guide them, no interest in the economical administration of local funds.

Such a system cannot last ; it is false in principle ; it is disastrous in practice ; when rightly understood it will not long be tolerated by the country.

I feel so strongly the claims which the lunatic poor have upon my services, that I would bear with much if I could render those services with independence, and without forfeiture of self-respect, but I believe that an administration, apparently but not really free, outwardly responsible and really powerless, must be necessarily weak, inefficient, and useless ; and, agreeing cordially with the unanimous vote of the board of governors on the 21st May 1873 which declared that the rule in question "subjects their proceedings to the revision of the inspectors in a matter which concerns not alone their discretion, but their honour," and that it "fatally affects their independence," I will not consent to remain a member of a board whose independence I conceive to be abrogated, and whose honour I conceive to be impugned.

My brother, Sir Vere de Vere, concurs with me in the request that his Excellency will be pleased to remove our names from the list of the governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum.

I have the honour to transmit herewith a copy of a pamphlet containing the correspondence between the governors and Her Majesty's Government.

I shall send a copy of this letter to the governors of the Limerick Lunatic Asylum.

Sir,

Dublin Castle, 11 April 1874.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt, on the 4th instant, of your letter dated April 1874, requesting that your name and that of your brother, Sir Vere de Vere, be removed from the list of governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, and having submitted the same to the Lords Justices, I am directed by their Excellencies to convey to you, and to request that you will communicate to Sir Vere de Vere, that they will be prepared to accept your and his resignation, if, on further consideration, you still wish to press them.

With reference to the reason which you have assigned for your resignation, I am to state that no official communication having been made previously to this day to the Board of Governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, their Excellencies regret that your resignation was not deferred until the board had received the copies of the new code of regulations, with the explanatory letter which has this day been addressed to them, and of which a copy is herewith transmitted for your information.

Their Excellencies are unable to understand why a regulation which is felt by the governors of the majority of the District Lunatic Asylums in Ireland to be unobjectionable, and of which several of the boards of governors have specially expressed their approval, should be deemed by you to be insulting and dishonouring. The following is an extract of the part relating to this subject, from a report of a committee of the board of governors of the Richmond District Lunatic Asylum, adopted by the board as their answer to the Government Circular transmitting the objections of the Limerick board for the opinions of the other boards.

"We fail in discovering the force of the objection to the rule which requires that on the occasion of the acceptance of contracts by the governors, the rejected tenders should be forthwith transmitted to the inspectors for examination."

"We are of opinion that this course is right and proper, in order to show the reasons which have influenced the governors in selecting contracts not necessarily the lowest in amount amount, said reasons being generally marked either upon the rejected or accepted tender."

Stephen E. De Vere, Esq.,
Monare, Foynes.

Sir,

Monare, Foynes, 14 April 1874.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your courteous communication of the 11th instant, which has just reached my hands.

I thank the Lords Justices for their unwillingness to accept my resignation of the office of Governor of the Limerick Lunatic Asylum, and I regret very much that on careful consideration I felt obliged to press that resignation, and also that of my brother, Sir Vere de Vere.

The reasons urged in your letter do not appear to me sufficient, the rule remaining as it is, to justify my brother and myself in withdrawing or postponing the resignation which we have tendered with much reluctance.

Their Excellencies are good enough to say they "regret that my resignation was not deferred until the Board had received the copies of the new code of regulations, with the explanatory letter which has this day been addressed to them."

Their Excellencies will probably hold me excused for having concluded on the 3rd of April that an official communication of the new rules had been already made to the officer in charge of the institution when I saw that by the order of 23rd February the old code had ceased to exist, and that the Asylum had been on and from that day placed exclusively under the authority of the new code.

I am glad to find that the opinion of other boards regarding the rule as to rejected tenders was anything but unanimous; of 21 boards to whom our resolutions were referred, three took no action, 14 expressed approval of the rules of 1870; "either absolutely or subject to some suggested alteration"; four of those expressed approbation of the rule as to rejected tenders, and three other boards expressed opinions unfavourable to that rule.

You have been so good as to furnish me with an extract from the reply of the Richmond District Lunatic Asylum; it contains this passage: "We are of opinion that this course is right and proper in order to show the reasons which have influenced the governors in their selecting contracts, not necessarily the lowest in amount, said reasons being generally marked either upon the accepted or rejected tenders."

You will permit me to observe that this extract conclusively establishes the propriety of the resolution passed by the Limerick Board; there can be no cause for requiring boards to state their reasons for the selection they have made unless this, that their motives are open to suspicion, and that the decision made on their own responsibility is liable to review on the part of the inspectors.

There is no rule of law, nor, as far as I am aware, any practice, which enjoins that the reasons of the board shall be marked upon either the accepted or rejected tenders; it would have given me much pleasure to have seen the terms in which those boards expressed themselves who objected to the rule.

The alterations made in the code of rules in deference to the reiterated representations of the Limerick Board, commencing in 1862, and urged to the present day (though till now ineffectually), are of considerable importance, and may perhaps induce the Government to perceive that it is possible that the carefully considered opinions of an intelligent and independent board may be right even when they are opposed to official influence and routine.

If, in like manner, Her Majesty's Government should ever come to the conclusion that the contract rule is either an empty form or an undue subjection of boards of governors to the inspectors in a matter which concerns their honour, and in which they alone (subject to the law of the land) are responsible; and shall think it expedient either to repeal it, or to modify it, so as to meet the just objection of the governors; in such a case, I shall be happy to resume my place, and to work, as I have attempted, though feebly, to do, for the benefit of the lunatic poor.

Until this be done I shall feel that the services of a man degraded in his own esteem would be worthless, and worse than worthless.

I have the honour to request that you will be so good as to lay this, my reply, before their Excellencies the Lords Justices.

The Under Secretary, Dublin Castle.

I have, &c.
(signed) Step. E. de Vere.

Sir,

Dublin Castle, 22 April 1874.

I AM directed by the Lord Lieutenant to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 14th instant, and to state that as you still feel it necessary to resign your office as a Governor of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, his Grace regrets that he has no alternative but to accept your resignation and that of Sir Vere de Vere.

With reference to that part of your letter in which you state that it would have given you much pleasure to have seen the terms in which those boards expressed themselves who objected to the rule, I am to state that in one case the opinion of the board was simply expressed, "that the transmission of rejected tenders should be abandoned," and in another that the board "do not see that there is any necessity" for rejected tenders being submitted to the inspectors." In a third case the board considered "the Rule No. 8, as explained by a letter especially addressed to this board, dated 5th June 1869, and printed circular, dated 20th September 1869, from the inspectors, as highly objectionable, inasmuch as it places Boards of Governors of Lunatic Asylums in an unworthy and unsuitable position different from any other body of representative cess or rate payers in this country."

The letter and circular thus referred to as explanatory of the rule in question, having been written in 1869, had reference to the rule then in force, requiring tenders to be transmitted for approval, and not to the altered rule of 1870.

In the single case in which a general concurrence in the views of the Limerick Board was expressed, there was no special reference to the rule regarding the transmission of tenders.

With reference to your remark as to the lapse of time between the date of the new rules and the communication to the governors of the Limerick Asylum, I am to observe that it was necessary that the rules should be printed, the proofs revised, and the copies made up before they could be promulgated.

Stephen E. de Vere, Esq., J.P.,
Monare, Foynes.

I have, &c.
(signed) T. H. Burke.

Sir,

Monare, Foynes, 24 April 1874.

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 22nd instant, informing me that his Grace the Lord Lieutenant had accepted my resignation, and that of my brother, Sir Vere de Vere, as Governors of Limerick Lunatic Asylum.

I feel much obliged by your courtesy in furnishing me with information as to the terms used by other boards in conveying to the Government their disapprobation of the rule as to tenders. I am glad to find that four boards concurred with the Limerick Board in deprecating the derogatory position in which they are placed by that rule, while unfortunately four other boards have taken a different view of the consideration due to their position.

You seem to be of opinion that the very strong and just remarks made against the rule by one board do not apply to the rule as altered in 1870, and now republished; but you will observe that the argument of that board applies as much to the rules of 1870 and 1874 as to those of 1862. The words "for approval," have been no doubt struck out from the rule, but the rejected tenders being still directed to be sent up for examination, it is reasonable to conclude that the inspectors when examining are invested with the duty of forming a favourable or unfavourable opinion as to the conduct of the board; and if unfavourable, exercising some authority or function in the matter.

With regard to the reasons stated in the last paragraph of your letter for the delay which occurred between the revocation of the old rules and the communication of the new, I beg to observe that it was no part of my intention to bring against the Government any charge for unnecessary delay. You, by order of their Excellencies the Lords Justices, in your letter of 11th April, threw very distinct blame upon me for not having deferred my resignation until after the new rules had been officially communicated. In my reply, I justified myself by observing that the existing code for the government of lunatic asylums having been repealed on the 23rd February, and a new code then enacted, I had every reason to conclude on the 3rd of April that the new code had been officially communicated to the officer in charge, and that a long inter-regnum had not been permitted to exist during which the old code had ceased to bind, and governors and superintendents were left in ignorance of the new code under whose authority they had to act. I only have to remark that my intention was to defend myself, not to attack others.

The Under Secretary, Dublin Castle.

I have, &c.

Sir,

Croome House, Croom, County Limerick,
11 May 1874.

I beg you will convey to his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant my desire to retire from the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum Board.

I feel that the decision of his Excellency to retain that part of the Privy Council rules, No. 8, to which our Board has so often and strongly objected, leaves me no other alternative.

The Board suggested a compromise, which, while protecting their independence, would have fulfilled any object there might have been in the rule, and it has been refused.

The determination of the Government to insist upon this offensive rule, and one which, at the same time, is wholly inoperative for any useful practical purpose in face of our repeated peated protests, I can but consider as a direct imputation upon the honour and integrity of the board to which I, as one of the representatives of this county upon it, decline to submit to.

To the Under Secretary,
Dublin Castle.

I have, &c.

Sir,

Dublin Castle, 21 May 1874.

I AM directed by the Lord Lieutenant to acknowledge the receipt of your Letter of the 11th instant, and to inform you that his Grace accepts your resignation of your appointment as a governor of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum.

Henry Lyons, Esq.,
Deputy Lieutenant and Justice of the Peace,
Croom House, Croom.

I am &c.
(signed) T. H. Burke.

Sir,

Cahirmoyle, Newcastle West, County Limerick,
12 May 1874.

THE governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum, in their Resolutions of the 17th April 1874, while remonstrating against Rule VIII. (which requires rejected tenders to be sent to the inspectors for their examination), suggested an arrangement which seemed to them to afford every guarantee that could reasonably be required for the prevention of objectionable practice in the taking of contracts. They proposed that the rejected tenders should be preserved in the office of the asylum where they would be subject to the examination of the inspectors at their pleasure. It appears obvious that if this course were adopted, and if the amounts of the tenders and names of the parties tendering were entered on the minutes, jobbery, or mistakes on the part of the governors, could scarcely escape detection.

This proposal was made by the governors not by way of compromise (for I believe they would any time have cheerfully accepted such an amendment of the rule), but for the purpose of proving their desire to meet the view of the Government.

The letter of the Chief Secretary, dated 24th April, conveys to the board the decision of his Grace the Lord Lieutenant not to rescind or modify the rule: a decision learned with regret, and, I may add, with surprise by the governors generally, and by no one more than myself.

Had I known of the existence and import of the rule when I was offered a seat at the board I should unhesitatingly have declined that honour. As it was, as soon as I was made aware of it I publicly protested against it; and since that time I have always publicly declined to take part in the proceedings of the board when contracts were being considered. I should at once have tendered my resignation, but that events that had recently occurred made it evident that the Privy Council Rules must undergo an early revision, and I could not believe that rules so useless, so invidious, and so deeply resented, would be deliberately re-enacted. I took part in the remonstrances made from time to time by the board on the subject, and I was the proposer of the resolutions of the 17th April.

Under these circumstances I feel that no course is open to me but to resign my office, and I have to request accordingly that you will communicate to his Grace the Lord Lieutenant my desire that my name may be removed from the list of governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum.

I cannot close my connection with the asylum without making some reference to the correspondence which has taken place between our board and the Government on the subject of this rule, and in particular to the letter of the Chief Secretary in which the final resolve of the Government is announced.

No attempt is made in that letter to show that Rule VIII. has any advantage in point of practical utility over the modification of it proposed by the board. Not only so, but neither in that nor in any other communication from the Government is the retention of that rule defended on any ground whatever, save that it exists, and has not been objected to by a majority of the boards of governors in Ireland.

Could it be proved to give any security for the proper administration of public money that is not equally given by the amendment proposed by the board, I for one should readily submit to it. No public body is entirely exempt from the temptation to jobbery, and the public have a right to claim a power of investigating the action of the boards of governors through their minutes and records, which in every case should afford ample means for judging of their conduct. But, as I have said, it is not on such grounds that the rule is defended, and a suspicion forces itself on the mind that this rule, drawn by Dr. Nugent, as part of an elaborate scheme for transferring to the inspectors a large portion of the authority formerly lodged in the board of governors, and passed (perhaps without due consideration) mainly through his influence, has been twice re-enacted in the teeth of the earnest remonstrances of our board, because the Government for the time being wanted the candour to retreat from a false position.

His Grace the Lord Lieutenant intimates that he is unable to enter into the feelings of the governors with respect to Rule VIII. It is not necessary that he should do so, it is enough that he should recognise the existence of those feelings. The governors must be the judges of their own honour; and, however great their respect for his Grace's high office they cannot in deference to his opinion acquiesce in a rule which they have declared to contain an imputation upon that honour. To his Grace indeed it may "appear to be immaterial whether the examination (of the tenders) shall take place at the asylum or in the office of the inspectors," but the governors have distinctly stated that they do not so regard it; and their conduct must be determined by their own sense of self-respect, not by his Grace's estimate of the amount of indignity which they may be expected to endure.

It would seem that his Grace himself looks upon this point as immaterial; if so, why reject the amendments of the board? But if there be a reasonable justification of the rule, why not put it forward? why appeal not to the good sense of the board, but to the authority of Government? Surely, even the prejudices of the governors, if prejudices they be, are entitled to respectful treatment. The governors are gentlemen selected by the Lord Lieutenant, presumably for their fitness for the post. They give their services gratuitously to the Institution, often at serious personal inconvenience. They are the representatives of the ratepayers, and are eminently amenable to the check of public opinion. The funds which they administer are drawn entirely from local taxation, and form one of the largest items of local expenditure; in this country, probably, about one-fifth of the whole grand jury cess.

But the feelings of the governors on this point are not mere prejudices. There is a material distinction between Rule VIII., as it stands, and the proposed amendment.

In the first place Rule VIII. is, as the governors believe, without precedent in the case of other public bodies in Ireland, and it places governors of lunatic asylums in a humiliating position as compared with members of other boards; while the rule as amended is one which has been voluntarily adopted by several local public bodies, and is felt to involve no slur upon their character.

Again, Rule VIII. implies that the attitude of the Government towards boards of governors is, and ought to be, one of permanent suspicion; on each occasion on which contracts are taken the inspectors are to examine the rejected tenders, in other words they are to satisfy themselves that the governors have not corruptly rejected any tender. What is this but to assume that the governors are not unlikely to have been guilty of corrupt practices. The prevention of mistakes cannot be the end of the rule, for in such a matter as the taking of tenders it is scarcely possible that mistakes should occur; such an attitude may, for aught I know, be adopted with propriety towards paid subordinates; but the governors are not paid subordinates; they are independent gentlemen, supposed (perhaps erroneously) to be invested with the control of a great public charity, as magistrates, grand jurors, members of the corporation, &c.; they are accustomed to exercise a certain amount of independent authority, and to receive from the Government that consideration which is due to those to whom important public functions are committed. It is natural and right that they should deeply resent an imputation as unworthy as it is unjust. The amendment proposed by the board conveys no such imputation. It recognises indeed the liability of boards of governors to err, and provides adequate means for the exposure of fraud or favouritism, but it does not presume their action in respect of contracts to be such as to require habitual supervision. Unlike Rule VIII., it contains no implied direction to the inspectors to examine rejected tenders; and, therefore, it would leave it to those gentlemen to decide, at their own discretion, under what circumstances they would take upon themselves the invidious office of calling boards of governors to an account of their proceedings, in taking contracts.

Besides, the governors cannot but be sensible that it makes a difference in the estimation in which their office will be held, whether the tenders are kept at the asylum in the custody of their own clerk, or are sent for examination to the office of an extraneous body, the inspectors, who possess an authority not superior to if even co-ordinate with that of the boards of governors. The financial affairs of the asylum are peculiarly the province of the governors; if they are not to be trusted in them, so long as no prima facie cause to doubt their honesty arises, it is difficult to see for what purpose they are appointed. They raise no objection to the periodical audit of their accounts by the Government auditors, because the audit plainly subserves an useful end. It corrects the mistakes into which public bodies, from ignorance of the law or other causes are liable to fall; it furnishes a general review of the financial situation; sometimes it supplies the text for valuable suggestions emanating from a highly experienced official. But the examination of the rejected tenders by the inspectors is simply a questioning of the integrity of the governors, it is the symbol of suspicion, and for the governors publicly to acquiesce in it by sending the tenders to the office of the inspectors would be to compromise not alone their personal position, but the honour and independence of those whom they represent, and whose confidence they venture to think that they enjoy.

Finally, Rule VIII. embodies in the plainest form the spirit of centralisation that pervaded the code of 1862, and is to be found even in the code enacted last February; and I believe I may say that the objections to it entertained by the Governors are in great measure objections to the system of which it is the type. That system they hold to be unsound in theory and mischievous in practice. I need not dwell on this subject, for the governors have on various occasions urged their views on it in documents which are in the hands of Government, and which have been made public through the press; and the public have it in their power to judge whether or not the board has been justified in the prolonged and consistent opposition which it has offered to the innovations introduced in 1862. I will add his only to the arguments of the board, that my experience as a working governor has brought brought home vividly to my mind the enormous practical inconvenience of the system of centralisation under which lunatic asylums are conducted. So minute and vexatious is the interference with the freedom of action of the governors, so constant are the necessary references to Dublin, and so distant the period at which replies are received, that it is a matter of very great difficulty and delay to carry out the most trifling change, even in cases when the views of the board and the inspectors entirely agree. Such a result would be ludicrous if it were not most prejudicial to the interests of the institution, as well as to the temper of all concerned in its management. It furnishes a practical refutation of the plausible assertion often made in favour of a centralised government, namely, that it works with an ease, a speed, and a regularity unattainable under forms of government which allow more scope to the action of local authorities.

His Grace and the Lords Justices attach so much importance to the fact that the Limerick board has not been supported by most of the other Irish boards, that they have not thought it necessary to justify the re-enactment of Rule VIII. by any other argument. I must confess that I cannot perceive the overwhelming cogency of this solitary reason; I should extend this letter beyond all proper limits were I to attempt to explain why the silence of some other boards ought not to be taken to imply consent; any one who is familiar with the working of boards will understand the difficulty of obtaining from such bodies an expression of opinion on questions which do not form part of their regular business, which are probably new to most of the members, which would require careful and prolonged consideration, and which convey an implied censure on them for not having taken earlier action. But I must observe that circumstances have in a peculiar manner forced on the attention of the Limerick governors the unsound and invidious character of the existing system. In 1872 they became aware (through the able and persistent investigations of some of their number) that abuses of the gravest nature, culminating in a terrible tragedy, had been going on for years under the eyes of the inspectors; whether those abuses were or were not known to the inspectors is immaterial; in either case their existence demonstrate the unsoundness of the system under which they were possible. When the governors had detected and exposed those abuses, when they had used every means in their power to provide a remedy for them, and to prevent their recurrence, they were taxed with neglect of duty, and an attempt was made to exonerate the inspectors at their expense, and to hold them responsible for the inefficient manner in which the duty of inspection had been performed. Could anything be more invidious? I am satisfied that Lord Spencer, then Lord Lieutenant, is incapable of committing an act of wilful injustice, and I am aware of the interest he took in the case, and the anxious attention he devoted to it, but so perplexed is the constitution under which lunatic asylums in Ireland are managed, that it is not surprising that he was led to pronounce a censure upon the board instead of upon those with whom the responsibility really rested. That censure was grounded upon official reports made to his Excellency by the inspectors. The governors in their reply proved that these official reports were partial, garbled, and incorrect. Such being their painful experience, it is not unnatural that the Limerick board should be more keenly sensible than other more fortunate boards of the evils of a régime of divided authority and doubtful responsibility.

But, granting that the majority of other boards do not concur in the views of the Limerick board, does not the past history of that board warrant the governors in standing firmly by their opinion, even when in a position of comparative isolation, without exposing themselves to the charge of presumption.

On the introduction of the code of 1862 they offered to the Government various suggestions regarding it. They did not, unfortunately, on that occasion enjoy the support of other Irish boards; and their suggestions were curtly rejected, yet on the revision of the Privy Council Rules in 1871, some of those suggestions were adopted, and again a certain number of others were introduced into the revised code recently promulgated. It is not to be supposed that this was done out of deference to the board, but because the necessity or the value of the suggested change had been proved by experience. This being so, I am not without hopes that in respect of Rule VIII., also the justice of their demand will ultimately be recognised, and that that obnoxious rule will be rescinded or modified. When the resignation of some gentlemen and the refusal of others to accept seats at the board shall have convinced the Government that the objections entertained to it by the gentlemen, indeed, I might say by the public of the county and city of Limerick, though possibly fanciful, are deeply rooted, and deserve to be met, if not by concession, at least by arguments more specious than any that have hitherto been adduced in its favour.

I regret the length of this letter, but I have felt it due to myself to state clearly my objections to the rule, the re-enactment of which has compelled me to resign, and to the system of which it is the expression, and I have the less hesitation in doing so, because as frequent occasions from 1862 down to the present time, the board has strongly, and without a single dissentient voice, expressed opinions that are in substantial accordance with mine.

I shall send a copy of this letter to the chairman of the board of governors.

Sir,

Shannon Lawn, Limerick, 18 May 1874.

I HAVE to request that you will convey to his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant my desire to have my name removed from the list of governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum.

I would willingly make any sacrifice in the interest of our lunatic poor, were it unattended by loss of honour and independence, but as it now appears to be the fixed determination of the Irish Government to keep governors of lunatic asylums merely to act as clerks to the inspectors, I must decline the honour of again sitting at the board in any such capacity.

If the Executive in this country think fit to transfer the absolute control of those important institutions into the hands of the inspectors, and of the resident medical superintendent, let it at once boldly say so, but then let it not be astonished when honourable men object to have their decisions in monetary affairs subjected to the examination of medical inspectors, or of their subordinates, since the Privy Council Rules do not define which official is to discharge this duty.

It is a matter solely for the Executive to consider whether the inspectors might not be much more usefully employed in inquiring how all the patients in those establishments are treated while living, and into the causes of the death of each one amongst them, rather than in examining what every paltry article has cost or who supplied it.

The recent revelations in the Limerick Asylum have clearly proved how the present system has been working for years, and how the duty of inspection has been discharged. It must ever prove a source of consolation to the governors of the Limerick Asylum to feel that, despite powerful and persistent opposition, they succeeded in bringing to light a cruel homicide, which official visits of inspection, five times repeated in 10 months, had failed to discover; but they now deeply regret to find that a system which, bordering on despotism, has yielded such fruit in the past, has been approved of by his Excellency for the future.

I beg to state that I am sending a copy of this letter to the Limerick Board of Governors.

COPY of CORRESPONDENCE on the same Subject between the Governors of other District Lunatic Asylums in Ireland, and the Irish Government.

CIRCULAR to the Boards of Governors of District Lunatic Asylums in Ireland.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

Dublin Castle, 10 September 1873.

I AM directed by the Lord Lieutenant to acquaint you that the governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum have represented to his Excellency that the code of rules and regulations for the management of district lunatic asylums in Ireland, made by the Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council of Ireland, in 1870, "still contain provisions which they consider extremely objectionable, and which are not in harmony with the independence of a body administering local not Imperial funds."

His Excellency has directed that the governors be informed in reply that he had carefully considered their views, and did not think it desirable, without fuller inquiries, to alter the rules of 1870, but that he would bring under the notice of the Privy Council the various objections made by the governors to these rules, and would suggest that they should be referred to a committee who could inquire into the matter, and would, no doubt, be ready to give a personal hearing to any of the governors who wished to urge their objections.

I transmit

I transmit herewith an Extract from the letter of the governors, containing the several objections urged by them to the rules, and I am to state that His Excellency will be glad to be favoured with your views on the subject.

To the Board of Governors, District Lunatic Asylum.

I have, &c.
(signed) T. H. Burke.

EXTRACT from the LETTER of the Board of Governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum.

"THE code of 1843, in defining the duties of the resident medical superintendent declared that he shall exercise his functions "under the direction of the Board." These important words were omitted from the code of 1862, and the governors asked in vain that they should be reinstated. They are not in the rules of 1871. A similar omission may be remarked in the rules of 1862 and 1871, defining the functions of the clerk, but the omission has been rectified in that case by the Act of Parliament, which gives the governors the power of dismissing him. The governors have no power of dismissing or punishing the resident superintendent.

The codes of 1862 and 1871 have omitted the useful provision in the code of 1843, which enjoined two half-yearly general meetings for a general examination into the affairs of the establishment, and the revision of the accounts.

The rules of 1862 provided that on the acceptance of a contract by the Board of Governors the rejected tenders should be forthwith transmitted to the inspectors for their examination and approval. The governors indignantly protested against this provision, but protested in vain. In the code of 1871, the framers have omitted the words "for their approval," probably perceiving, after nine years' consideration, that it is an absurdity to talk of submitting a rejected tender for approval; but the provision that the rejected tenders shall be submitted to the inspectors for examination is still retained. The governors again emphatically protest against this order. There is no analogous rule or practice in the case of gaol boards, boards of guardians, grand juries, or presentment sessions. The fact that the funds for lunatic asylums are in the first instance lent by the State forms no excuse for this derogatory exception. Those funds are advanced on ample security, that of a compulsory presentment. They are repaid, and ultimately fall like gaol and grand jury charges upon the local ratepayers.

The governors point to this regulation as one which fatally effects their independence. It subjects their proceedings to the revision of the inspectors in a matter which concerns not alone their discretion but their honour.

The code of 1843, when defining the duties of a manager (now resident medical superintendent), required that in addition to his daily general and personal inspection, he should be present at the meals of the inmates. This provision insured his presence in the asylum at three several terms during the day. It was omitted in the rules of 1862, and that omission was persisted in despite the protest of the governors. It is again omitted in the code of 1871. This rule must be read in connection with the 34th rule, which regulates the superintendent's leave of absence, declaring that "he shall never be absent from the asylum at the same time with the matron, nor ever for the night without special leave from a board of governors or the inspectors, and upon every such absence he shall enter in a book the date and period, and inform the consulting physician, who, for the time, shall exercise a general supervision over the establishment." The prescribed daily inspection may be made at any time in the forenoon; and the governors submit that, by the careful consideration of Rules 30 and 34, it will appear that the resident superintendent has it in his power, as stated in the board's remonstrance of 1862, "to absent himself, without leave, from an early hour in the morning to a late hour at night, without the positive neglect of any prescribed duty." Further, as the superintendent is permitted by the 34th rule to absent himself at night on the permission of the inspectors, he possesses, in point of fact, the power of being absent for the whole of every day, and for nights on permission of the inspectors, without breach of the regulations, or accountability to the board. The governors have proved that by the regulations now in force, and the alterations in the code of 1843, the medical superintendent is placed in a position virtually independent of the board of governors. But let us now inquire what is the provision made for the performance of his duty during his absence. When he is away the "matron must be present." Is she an adequate substitute for the superintendent in an institution containing 217 male and 203 female lunatics? He must, it is true, inform the visiting physician of his absence, who "for the time shall exercise a general supervision;" but the visiting physician is not by this rule compelled to transfer his residence to the lunatic asylum during the superintendent's absence. No physician in large practice would or could engage to do so. The result is this, that constantly during the day, and frequently during the night, the asylum may be left without efficient control, and the governors are powerless to interfere or to punish, because the rules are definite and precise, and have not been infringed.

The 16th rule (new code) gives to the superintendent most properly a power to admit patients provisionally in cases of urgency. The governors in 1862 proposed to supplement this provision by one enabling any three governors, in a case of urgency, to order the admission of a patient duly certified, and for whom papers of application had been duly filled.

This power, which the governors consider to be of importance, was refused. By the first part of the rule the inspectors are invested with full power to order the admission of a patient, even though the case should not be of urgency.

The 110th rule (new code) provides that misunderstandings between the "officers, attendants, or servants" attached to an asylum shall be referred to the inspectors. The governors submit that this regulation is subversive of their due authority over their servants and officers, and is inconsistent with the spirit of the 30th and 31st Vict. c. 118.

The governors have already referred to Rule 1, and to the interpretation placed upon it. If that interpretation be correct—if it imposes a statutory obligation upon the governors—if, because they do not on all occasions comply with it, they are justly chargeable with "disobedience," the governors submit that it is a regulation derogatory to their position—impossible of strict observance—illusory if observed.

The harmonious working of all public or private institutions depends upon the due subordination of departmental functions. In lunatic asylums the duty of inspection is assigned to certain officers paid by the State; the inspectors of lunatic asylums. Upon them, and not upon the Board of Governors, must rest the responsibility if that duty be not efficiently performed. The governors are ready and willing to exercise, all times reasonably within their power, a faithful supervision of the asylum; and they admit that in so doing they fulfil a moral duty, though not one to which they are bound under the penalties of disobedience to legislative enactment; but it must be remembered that the board is a shifting body; in ten years' time not one single member now on the board may continue on it; it is unreasonable to suppose that a new board will be thoroughly cognizant of the orders given by their predecessors, or how those orders have been carried out. It is essentially the office of the inspectors to examine into the state of the institution, to detect abuses, to suggest remedies, and to see that they are duly applied. The governors therefore submit that if the interpretation which seems to have been affixed to Rule No. 1 be correct, that rule is wrong, and ought to be repealed.

The governors see strong reason for objecting to clauses in Rule 26 (new code) now, they believe, for the first time introduced, which provide that paying patients "shall not be admitted into any asylum without the previous sanction of the inspectors, or one of them;" and that "in special cases the inspectors of lunatics may authorise such an alteration in the charge as they think proper, not less in any case than one-fourth the average cost." The determination of such matters appears to the governors to come solely within the scope of their discretion.

If, in this case, as in the case of rejected tenders already adverted to, the honesty and good sense of the governors cannot be trusted, the principle of centralized administration had better be fully carried out, and the management of the institution intrusted in name as well as in reality to the State.

Sir,

I AM instructed by the Board of Governors of this institution to acknowledge the receipt of your circular of the 10th instant, having reference to changes suggested to be made in the Privy Council Rules now in force for the management of lunatic asylums in Ireland, by the Board of Governors of the Limerick Lunatic Asylum.

The Board took no action on the communication of the Limerick Board of Governors to his Excellency but directed it to be entered on the minutes as "read."

At the meeting of the Board of Governors held on Tuesday, the 16th instant, the following minute was made:—

Read. Resolved, and passed unanimously—

"That every thing having been carried out most satisfactorily in this asylum under the existing Privy Council Rules of 1870, the Board of Governors do not consider any alteration necessary or desirable with the exception that their recommendations, passed unanimously on two occasions with regard to an increase of salary to the resident medical superintendent, have not been sanctioned owing to the 28th Privy Council Rule."

If this rule be altered the Board would deem it very satisfactory.

Sir,

REFERRING to your communication of the 10th September ult., and to the "Extract from the letter of the Board of Governors of the Limerick District Lunatic Asylum," the Board of Governors of the Omagh District Asylum, on consideration of the changes and modifications recommended by the Limerick Board, consider their recommendation with reference to Rule 26 (new code) sound, and would wish to have it adopted. Also with reference to Rule VIII., they approve of both accepted and rejected tenders being sent to the inspectors, but recommend that the accepted tenders should be returned sooner, as great inconvenience has been experienced from the delay that frequently occurs.

The tenders accepted last month have not yet been returned, which might have caused considerable loss to this Asylum.

The Board do not at present see any reason to make further alteration in the existing rules.

The Board also desired me to state, in replying to your Circular, that they meant that the above concise resolution should be interpreted to convey their unanimous opinion that they were not conscious of being placed by the present regulation in any false or derogatory position; that there was no allegation against their own honesty or good sense implied in the system at present in force regarding the tenders, with which system they were perfectly satisfied; and that they were at a loss to comprehend the meaning of the complaints and objections of the Limerick Board of Governors.

They further expressed their opinion that they had always been treated with every courtesy and deference by the Commissioners of Asylums and Government Asylum Department.

We fail in discovering the force of the objection to the rule which requires that, on the occasion of the acceptance of contracts by the Governors "the rejected tenders should be forthwith transmitted to the inspectors for examination." We are of opinion that this course is right and proper in order to show the reasons which have influenced the Governors in their selection of contracts not necessarily the lowest in amount; said reasons being generally marked either upon the rejected or accepted tender.

The Board have had under consideration the letter of His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, and the accompanying extract from letter of the Limerick Board; with reference to the rules objected to, they do not see that there is any necessity for rejected tenders being submitted to the inspectors, and they are of opinion that the Governors are the best judges of the amount to be charged in each case for paid patients. With reference to the other parts of the extract letter this Board does not feel called upon to suggest any further change.

"Your Committee having fully considered the objections taken by the Governors of the Limerick Asylum, and after carefully examining the several rules and regulations of 1870, and compared the several allegations made by the objectors to some of those rules, are of opinion, in general terms, that the objections taken are not of that importance which would warrant any change, inasmuch as the Board have found these rules have worked satisfactorily, and with beneficial results."

Proposed by R. G. Cosby, Esq., seconded by E. G. Dease, Esq., M.P.

THE Board of Governors of Maryborough District Lunatic Asylum have under their consideration the "extract from the letter of the Board of Governors of the Limerick District Asylum," forwarded by order of his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant for their opinion on the subject therein referred to, desire to make the following observations.

It is not their intention to enter into the several matters of detail alluded to in "the extract," or to express an opinion on each several subject, but they desire to express their general concurrence with the opinions of the Limerick Board, more particularly with that portion of the extract which relates to the resident medical superintendent and the inspectors of lunatic asylums.

They consider that the Board of Governors should have more control over the resident medical superintendent than is at present the case, that they ought to have the power of punishing that officer and all others connected with the institution. It is their opinion that the office of inspector of lunatic asylums is a most valuable one, when confined to its proper province; of seeing that the rules and regulations for the management of lunatic asylums are properly carried out, but they regret that the tendency of the present rules is to give the entire authority to the inspectors, and they have to complain of the manner in which their applications and recommendations in connection with the office and remuneration of the visiting physician have been disregarded on the report of the inspectors.
